MEDIA RELATIONS FOR FOOTBALL

Coordinated by Kevin Best, Assistant Media Relations Director, and David Tinson, Assistant Media Relations Director. Please direct interview, information and photo requests to either Best or Tinson.

The University of North Carolina Athletic Media Relations Office is located on the main level of the Dean E. Smith Center, less than one mile from Kenan Stadium. Parking is available in the lot behind Koury Natatorium; enter off Skipper Bowles Drive. The office is on Level 2 directly across from the men's basketball office.

CREDENTIALS

Requests for working press credentials at Carolina home football games should be made in writing on station/newspaper/magazine letterhead to Director of Media Relations Steve Kirschner. The mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515.

Requests may be sent via fax or e-mail, but all requests should be sent so they reach the Media Relations Office at least one week prior to the game.

Because of the demand for credentials, media agencies that cover Carolina and the visiting school on a regular basis will receive top priority. Other credentials will be issued on the basis of circulation and the availability of space. Please note the stipulations in the next section regarding credentials issued to Internet agencies.

The University of North Carolina reserves the right to deny credential requests to any agency for reasons deemed not to be in the school's best interests. The University does not discriminate based on age, gender, race or religion.

Credentials will be mailed if at all possible. Otherwise, they may be picked up before 5 p.m. on Friday at the Media Relations Office. Those credentials not picked up by 5 p.m. on Friday will be left for Saturday pickup at Kenan Stadium Will Call at Gate Six (6), directly beneath the press box. Will Call opens two hours prior to kickoff.

MEDIA INFORMATION & POLICIES

at "TarHeelBlue.com." Pregame releases, statistics, coach and player profiles, general news releases, depth charts, rosters, interviews, etc., will be posted to this site.

This media guide will be posted to the web site, as well, in PDF format, which you can download and print for your convenience.

With the recent growth of the Internet, the following policies have been adopted for both credentialing and allowing access to practice and interviews.

1. Only the official web-site of the opponent (and/or its official conference site) will be issued passes for those events that require access (or media) credentials. Other than the official web-site of an opponent, the below guidelines must be met for minimum consideration for credentials and access for any Internet site.

2. No online service will be allowed "real time" transmission of any live University of North Carolina athletic event (also known as "cybercasts"). Those rights are co-owned by UNC, the Atlantic Coast Conference and our radio and television partners. "Real Time" is defined as any on-line media providing live continual play-by-play coverage, digital photographs, audio or video of an event. This includes the use of in-game, comprehensive statistics. The University reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play game related statistics via the Internet, as these rights are no different than television or radio rights and are essential in building our online brand. These rights are reserved for the agencies representing the participating institutions in an official capacity and contractual rights fee-paying media. In conjunction with this, television stations, networks or cable systems are prohibited from making available video highlights to any other organization without permission from the University of North Carolina.

3. The agency requesting access and/or credentials is the official online service of a national over-the-air or cable network or established publication and is staffed by full-time employees (i.e., ESPN, CNN/SI, CBS SportsLine, etc.). Requests and subsequent coverage, if granted, must be done in the true name of those seeking credentials and access, and not by a moniker.

4. Web-sites that focus primarily on University of North Carolina athletics that sponsor "message boards," "message centers," or "chat rooms" where people are allowed to post anonymous information and rumors are automatically ineligible for any consideration for credentials or access. NOTE: If a medium has an online site, and they sponsor these anonymous forums, they may continue to request credentials under its traditional medium (newspaper, magazine, radio, television), but will not be granted additional passes for online staff.

Web-sites that request credentials and sponsor these forums that wish to qualify for credentials must display them in a way where posters of information are both accurately identified (no monikers) and have accurate contact information.

5. Any online service that places emphasis on the recruitment of potential student-athletes will not qualify for credentials. This is defined as any organization that is recognized as an outlet intended primarily for the purpose of recruiting news and or the recruitment of student athletes. Those organizations will thus be considered recruiting ones and will not be eligible for credentials.

6. Membership in a writer's association (i.e., FWAA, USBWA) does not automatically qualify an online agency, or any other organization, for credentials or access.

7. Credentials will not be granted to any online agency operating sites that are in any way affiliated with gambling, or to "freelance" to "fan-based" sites that are not affiliated with a legitimate news gathering organization.

8. Due to space and facility restrictions, seat assignments on press row as well as sideline or courtside photography will be made on a space available basis.

RELEASES

Carolina Football media information may be obtained by legitimate news agencies in a variety of ways. Whatever is easiest for you, please let us know and we will do everything we can to accommodate your request. Information is available at www.TarHeelBlue.com (UNC's official web site), at www.mediateamlink.com (the ACC's official media service provider), may be e-mailed to you or may be sent by regular postal service.

If you wish to be added to our e-mail lists, please contact Steve Kirschner.

PRESS BOX SERVICES

Programs, flip cards, statistics and notes will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game. A light meal will be served before each game. Soft drinks, coffee and snacks will be available throughout the game.

SIDELINE POLICY

Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without a UNC-issued photographer's vest. Vests will be distributed at field level (near original fieldhouse) beginning 90 minutes prior to kickoff. Each photographer must sign in for his/her own vest. Under NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference guidelines, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field. Credential holders not working will be asked to leave the sidelines. Assistant Director of Media Relations David Tinson will be on the field to handle any questions and serve as field liaison to press box officials. We ask, for the safety of others, that equipment is not left unattended on the sidelines. If you are shooting with a tripod, please keep a safe distance from the playing field.

GAMEDAY PARKING

Press parking at Kenan Stadium is available on an extremely limited basis. Requests for parking passes should be made well in advance to Steve Kirschner.

Parking is located in the lot on the corner of Gravely Drive and Manning Drive or the parking deck diagonally across the street from that lot. Either location is a five-minute walk from the press box and there are occasional shuttles.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

Following a brief cooling-off period, requested UNC players will head directly to the interview area in the Frank H. Kenan Football Center Hall of Honor (first floor, adjacent to weight room) for a 20-25 minute interview period. The Tar Heels' locker room is closed. Representatives from the Media Relations Office will walk through the press box midway through the fourth quarter to take player requests from the media. On-field media should direct interview requests to David Tinson.

Head coach Carl Torbush will conduct a short interview with Woody Durham for the Tar Heel Sports Network's live broadcast while the players are in the interview area. Approximately 15 minutes after the players have begun their interview period, Torbush will begin his postgame press conference in the auditorium on the second floor of the Football Center.

After night games, Torbush and the players will be available simultaneously due to deadline demands. Quotes will be gathered from both Torbush and several players for distribution in the press box. Away game procedures will vary, depending on available facilities.

Please note: Torbush is contractually obligated to do a short postgame interview with the Tar Heel Sports Radio Network. After night games, great care will be taken to get Torbush to the general media as quickly as possible. We understand everyone has deadline pressures after late games and will do our best to provide access to Torbush as quickly as possible.

PHONES

The Department of Athletics furnishes approximately 10 telephones along press row for writers to file stories. All long distance calls must be by credit card, collect or billed to a third number. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell at least two weeks prior to the game. If you are calling from within the 919 area code, dial 780-2800. However, if you are calling from outside the 919 area code, then you must dial 1-800-919-2800.

Note: the on-campus building number for the press box at Kenan Stadium, for which you will be asked, is #519. List Steve Kirschner as the stadium contact for placing the phone.

We have one fax machine available for media use. Media should make a representative of the Athletic Media Relations Office aware of their fax needs prior to the end of the game.

INTERVIEWS WITH COACH TORBUSH

Carl Torbush will meet with the media at noon each Tuesday prior to a game. Torbush will meet with television stations for 20 minutes and with print media for 40 minutes. The order of the interviews depends on the availability of players. Out-of-town media may access the print portion of the press conference by phone. You can listen and ask questions, time permitting, by using this service. Contact Kevin Best for the phone number and exact time Torbush will meet with the print media each week.

Torbush will conduct TV interviews inside the Stadium Club on the second floor of the Football Center. The print media portion of the press conference will be in the John Swofford Auditorium on the second floor of the Football Center.

Interviews with Torbush at other times during the week can be set up by contacting Kevin Best or Maria Smith, Torbush's secretary in the football office. If he is unavailable at the time of your call, he will make every effort to return the call as soon as possible. Staff meetings are conducted during the morning. Smith's number is (919) 962-9144.

Torbush is also available on the weekly ACC Teleconference on Wednesdays at 11:30 a.m. Contact Brian Morrison at the ACC or Best for the phone number.

Torbush will also be available via teleconference for 15 minutes on Sundays (day after games only) at 5 p.m. Contact Best for the number.

Torbush will also be available after practice Wednesday and Thursday for 10 minutes. Tuesday practices are open to the media. On Wednesdays and Thursdays, please wait outside the practice field until the gate is opened.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

All player interviews should be arranged through Kevin Best or David Tinson in the Media Relations Office. Players have been instructed not to grant an interview request unless they have been set up in this manner. The interviews will generally be at the conclusion of practice at the practice field or Football Center. All interviews are to be conducted on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday.

Each week at least one player will be made available at the Tuesday press conference.

Telephone interviews are conducted at the player's convenience. Usually they are handled by players returning calls immediately after practice (between approximately 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.). No home numbers for players will be given out and players have been told not to accept calls from anyone asking football-related questions.

Please do not show up and wait for players unannounced on campus, at players' housing or the Football Center. The players have been instructed to politely decline the request and refer the person to the Media Relations Office.

Players may do taped radio interviews but will not be available for live call-in radio shows.

Note: Due to the overwhelming number of all-sports radio talk stations, players will generally not be available to appear on these shows. Hometown stations, stations in that week's opponent's market or national shows may be accommodated. Internet sites requesting interviews must be legitimate media sites and interviews will be granted at the discretion of the Director of Media Relations.

PRACTICE COVERAGE

Subject to change, Carolina will practice each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday beginning at 4 p.m. on the practice fields located directly across the street from the baseball stadium and adjacent to the UNC School of Law.

Practice is open to the media on Tuesday (4 to approximately 6:15 p.m.). Players and coaches are available to meet with the media after practice on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Once the team goes into pads in the fall, photographers (still and video) will be allowed to shoot warm-ups, stretching and the first six periods of work (30 minutes). Team meetings after practice are private and are not to be taped.

Once the school year starts, practice generally begins with stretching exercises at 3:45 p.m. and the first period of drills at approximately 4 p.m. The team, in general, does only light running and stretching on Sunday and does not practice on Monday, except after an open date.

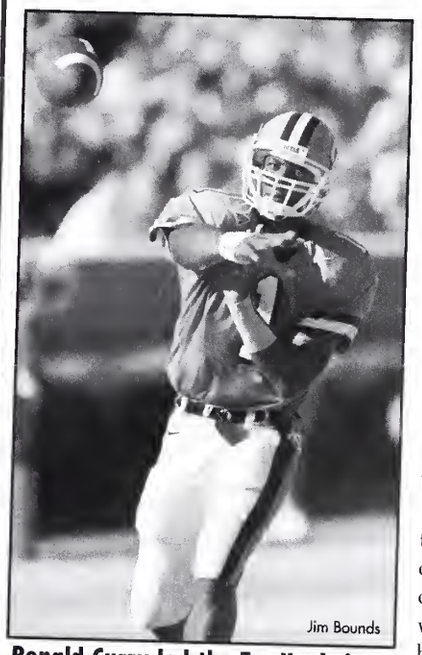
PREVIEWING THE 2000 TAR HEELS



Ronald Curry led the Tar Heels in total offense yards last year with 908 in just four complete games.

Carolina enters 2000 ready to build on the improvement last year's 3-8 team showed in the final month of a disappointing 1999 season. The Tar Heels were decimated a year ago by injury and failed to receive a postseason bowl bid for the first time in seven seasons. Carolina took its first strides toward erasing the memory of a frustrating season, however, by putting together a productive five-week spring season that leaves plenty of optimism heading into 2000.

This is a Carolina program that won its final two games over archrivals NC State and Duke, and it returns 10 starters from a defense that held its opponents without a touchdown in the final 10 quarters. Third-year head coach Carl Torbush has added a trio of new offensive coaches to bolster a unit which returns just four starters and was hit hardest with the injury bug last year when quarterback Ronald Curry missed the second half of the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon. The offense is loaded with talented young players who began to show their potential in the spring.

Torbush, who had served as Carolina's defensive coordinator since 1988, also handed over the defense to veteran Tar Heel assistant coach Ken Browning.

"We had a really good spring, and that was important for this team," Torbush says. "We finished last year on a positive note with wins in the last two games, and it was important to carry over those good feelings into spring ball.

"Now, we have to capitalize on all the hard work our guys put in during the offseason. They have worked hard, probably as hard as any year I've been here, so I think we will be ready to go out of the gate."

SPOON'S RETURN GIVES DEFENSE BOOST

Carolina will get a huge boost in 2000 with the return of Butkus Award candidate Brandon Spoon. The Burlington, N.C., senior ruptured his right biceps tendon early in the second game last year, and he was lost for the season. Rated one of the top 20 linebackers in the nation by The Sporting News, Spoon received a medical red-shirt; his return for a fifth-year in Chapel Hill will bolster a defense that looks to return to the dominance it enjoyed in the mid 1990s, when Torbush oversaw a unit that led the Atlantic Coast Conference in defense in 1995, 1996 and 1997.

"Linebacker should be our most solid position," Torbush says. "We have three seniors who have a tremendous amount of starting experience and in my opinion should be one of the top, if not the top, starting linebacker trios in the country, plus an experienced fourth in Quincy Monk. Spoon, Sedrick Hodge and Merceda Perry didn't get the same type recognition this summer our linebackers have received in the past, probably due to our record last year, but they are as good as we have had here. They should all be playing in the NFL next year."

Hodge is a 6-4, 235-pound senior from Atlanta, Ga., who started every game at outside linebacker for two straight seasons. H was third on the team in 1999 with 79 tackles and he notched 27 tackles over his final three games of the season, including three tackles for losses in the win over NC State.

"Sedrick Hodge is a guy who's got very good physical tools in terms of size and speed combination," says Browning. "I want him to be a more physical player, and I think he make big strides in that direction toward the end of spring practice."

Perry is a 6-4, 245-pound senior from Asheboro, N.C., who was second on the team a year ago with 83 hits. He was averaging 11.5 tackles per game over the first four games of the season, including a team-high 14 hits against Clemson, before a dislocated shoulder suffered at Georgia Tech slowed him for several weeks. He returned to form by the end of the season and led the team with 13 tackles in the win over Duke.

"Until Merceda got hurt last year I felt he was playing as well as anyone we had on defense, but his injury allowed Quincy Monk to make several starts," Torbush says. "That gives us a great deal of depth when you also consider some of the talented young guys we have behind them."

Monk is a 6-4, 240-pound junior who played in all 11 games and made seven starts in 1999 after injruies to Spoon and Perry. He logged 42 tackles, including two sacks. In his first career home start, the junior registered a career-high eight tackles against Houston.

SOLID DEFENSIVE LINE BIG KEY TO SUCCESS

Starting ends Julius Peppers and Ross McAllister and tackle Ryan Sims return to the defensive line.

"One good thing about playing so many players last year defensively is we have a lot of experience this year," Torbush says. "There's no question some of the youth and inexperience cost us in some early games, but I thought our guys showed a great deal of improvement over the last three games. By the last two weeks I thought we were playing the type of defense Carolina is accustomed to playing."

Julius Peppers, Brandon Spoon and Merceda Perry are three reasons Carl Torbush is excited about this season's defense.

showed tremendous potential. By the end of the season he had emerged as a dominant force from his defensive end position and earned freshman All-America honors from The Sporting News. Peppers also was a reserve forward on the Tar Heel basketball team. He led the team with 10 tackles for losses (47 yards) and six quarterback sacks. He started all 11 games and finished the season with 50 total tackles and caused one fumble, recovered a fumble, broke up two passes and intercepted a pass.

"If Julius Peppers continues to improve at the rate he's going, he should become one of the best players we've ever had at that position," Torbush says. "That's saying a lot, because we've had a lot of great players over the years at defensive end.

"Julius gained so much confidence helping the basketball team get to the Final Four, and playing basketball helped his quickness and agility."

McAllister, a 6-5, 255-pound senior from Dunwoody, Ga., and Sims, a 6-4, 285-pound junior from Spartanburg, S.C. are veterans who will be counted on for leadership and productivity. Last year, McAllister had a career-high 39 tackles (five for loss, including two sacks) opposite Peppers at end, while Sims registered 33 hits (six for loss, including one sack) at defensive tackle.

Other ends to watch are Joey Evans, a 6-5, 265-pound junior from Fayetteville, N.C., and Malcolm Stewart, a 6-3, 225-pound sophomore from Goldsboro, N.C.

Evans has played in 23 games for the Tar Heels and made two starts last year at end. He finished the year with 24 tackles, including five tackles for losses of 24 yards. He will provide very solid depth and experience to the line.

"Ross McAllister and Joey Evans both had solid springs," Browning says. "There was not a lot of difference between those two in the spring. Joey played the best he's played since he's been here.

"Ross played quite a few quality snaps last year. I think those guys should be better than they were last year, and I'll say that about everyone up front. I think we've improved, and I think we'll continue to improve through August and into the season."

Cornerback Errol Hood led the team last year with five interceptions, including one he returned for a touchdown against Duke.

Stewart played in 10 games as a true freshman last year and made 21 tackles.

The biggest concern defensively is filling the hole left by Sherrod Peace at defensive tackle. Anthony Perkins has impressed the coaches with his work ethic and continued improvement. Donti Coats, Eric Davis, Darryl Grant and Willie Quick will all be in the hunt for playing time behind Sims and Perkins.

Perkins, a 6-5, 260 junior from Holly Springs, N.C., is athletic and works hard. He played in all 11 games last year and was awarded a scholarship prior to 1999.

"Even though he's a little undersized, I think he's going to be a very good player because he's such a hard-worker," Browning says.

Davis is a 6-3, 265-pound sophomore from Rockingham, N.C. "Eric's very quick for that position, and he's strong," Browning says. "Even though he's not a big guy, I'm hoping he can hold up and give us some quality snaps."

Quick is a 6-3, 280-pound junior from Rockingham, N.C., who has been plagued by injuries. He showed signs of promise with increased playing time late last year and could see playing time if he has a good offseason.

Coats, 6-3, 290 pounds, and Grant, 6-2, 270 pounds, are both redshirt freshmen from Chesapeake, Va., who should make an impact in the fall.

EXPERIENCED DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD

David Bomar, Billy-Dee Greenwood and Errol Hood return to a unit that began 1999 with little experience but grew to become very dependable. Part-time starter Anthony Anderson has struggled with injuries, but he too hopes to contribute in 2000. However, safety Quinton Savage was unable to return this year after suffering a fractured kidney against Wake Forest.

"The secondary improved over last season," Torbush says. "They got banged up, beat on and attacked early, but they made a lot strides as the year went on. Errol Hood has made as much improvement as anyone else at this stage in his career."

"Errol Hood picked up right where he left off last season during the spring," Browning says. "He's an accomplished technician with his hands. He's probably the best hands player we have right now."

Hood, a 5-11, 195-pound junior from Lenoir, N.C., emerged last season as one of the top cornerbacks in the ACC. He started all 11 games and finished the season with 58 tackles, 11 pass breakups and five interceptions, good for third best in the league. He played his finest game of the season against then-No. 7 Georgia Tech and Heisman Trophy candidate Joe Hamilton. He made seven tackles, including a two-yard sack, broke up three passes, recovered two fumbles, returned a fumble 20 yards and intercepted a pass late in the fourth quarter. Torbush said it was one of the finest games he has ever seen a cornerback play.

pound junior from Norwalk, Conn., who started every game at free safety and led the Tar Heels with 118 tackles last year. The Carolina coaches believe he can be one of the top safeties in the ACC if he becomes more physical and continues to improve and become a more consistent tackler.

"Billy-Dee adds a lot in terms of leadership and experience," Browning says. "He's the quarterback of the secondary. Brandon Spoon is our quarterback up front. He's smart and a good leader."

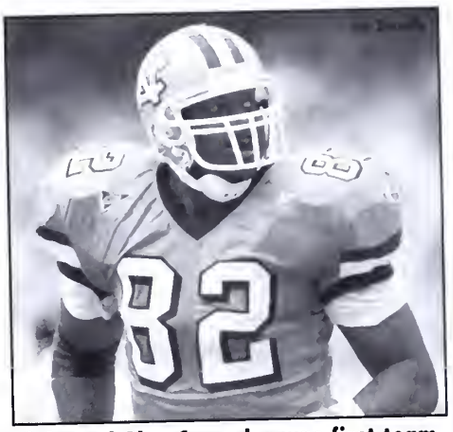
Bomar, a 5-11, 190-pound senior from Durham, N.C., emerged as a true playmaker and an incredible story for Carolina. A former walk-on who was awarded a scholarship prior to the 1999 season, Bomar made the most of increased playing time late in the year when he notched 57 tackles over the final four games. Against NC State, he recorded a career-high 19 stops, including a hit he and Hood teamed on late against the Wolfpack to preserve the 10-6 UNC victory.

"David is a good tackler and a big hitter," Browning says. "He excels in run situations, plays tight ends well man-to-man, and he's a smart zone player."

A talented group of younger players also figure to see action, led by speedster Michael Waddell, a 5-11, 170-pound sophomore from Ellerbe, N.C.

"Waddell has great speed and athleticism, he can make plays, and he'll continue to get better with his hands," Browning says. "He's a better tackler and tougher than you'd expect for a guy his size."

DeFonte Coleman (6-1, 215-pound sophomore from Kinston, N.C.), Kevin Knight (5-8, 175-pound sophomore from Suffolk, Va.), Dexter Reid (5-11, 180-pound red-shirt freshman from Norfolk, Va.) and David Scott (5-10, 165-pound red-shirt freshman) are young players who will be asked to contribute.



Tight end Alge Crumpler was first-team All-ACC in 1999 and was named a 2000 preseason first-team All-America by The Sporting News.

Knight appeared in all 11 games on special teams as a freshman and made one start at cornerback.

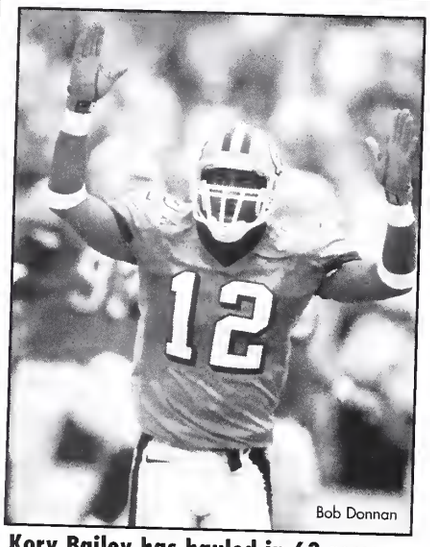
"After the post-spring running program, Kevin Knight had the fastest 40-yard time of anybody on the whole football team," Browning says. "If we played tomorrow, he'd probably start as our nickel back. He had a very solid spring.

"Dexter Reid made a lot of progress at strong safety. He's got the speed to be a good coverage guy. I think he'll be a good tackler and a tough guy, but he's still only a red-shirt freshman.

Coleman began his Carolina career as a wide receiver, but a move to the defensive side of the ball yielded eye-catching results in the spring.

"I was very impressed with him," Browning says. "I think he'll end up pushing for playing time once he learns more about the system. He's a very physical player and a great tackler, and he's obviously got great hands."

"Overall, I'd say this defense reminds me of the group that led the ACC from 1995-97, but you don't win games and don't make plays on paper," Torbush says. "They have to produce the way guys like Greg Ellis, Brian Simmons and Dre' Bly did. They have to create turnovers and stop teams in big situations and then they will form their own identity."



Kory Bailey has hauled in 63 receptions, including six for touchdowns, in his first two seasons.

O'CAIN REVAMPS INEXPERIENCED OFFENSE

Offensively, the Tar Heels have undergone quite a few changes. Gone from last year's squad are seven offensive starters, including the entire offensive line, as well as wide receiver Jason Peace and bruising fullback Deon Dyer. The offense will also be under new leadership, with former NC State head coach Mike O'Cain taking over as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

"I'm excited about our progress, but it's something that takes time. You can talk about it, you can practice it, you can look at it on film, but none of that is like stepping out in front of 60,000 people."

QUESTION MARKS ON THE OFFENSIVE LINE

Replacing five senior starters may be the biggest challenge facing the coaching staff. The losses of Kareem Ellis, Mike Gimbol, Ryan Carfley, Bryan Jones and Allen Mogridge created the biggest hole on the depth chart.

Tackle Louis Marchetti, a 6-6, 280-pound senior from Nashville, Tenn.; guard Cam Holland, a 6-2, 305-pound senior from Franklin, N.C.; center Adam Metts, a 6-0, 270-pound junior from Burlington, N.C.; guard Isaac Morford, a 6-3, 300-pound sophomore from Melrose, Fla.; and tackle James Wagstaff, a 6-3, 360-pound senior from Charlotte, N.C. look to fill the void left by the graduation of last year's five seniors.

"We feel this group made as much progress during the spring as any group on the team," O'Cain says. "I was very pleased with their competitiveness and their fight. We've still got a tremendous amount of work to do because of the lack of experience, but overall I feel good about the talent level there.

"We've got a few seniors with limited experience, but behind them is a very talented group of red-shirt freshmen and sophomores who will be very good in the future."

Carolina's group of younger linemen that will push for playing time includes 6-2, 300-pound Jupiter Wilson of Chesapeake, Va.; 6-2, 270-pound Marcus Wilson of Jackson, Miss.; and 6-6, 250-pound Greg Woofter of Oliver Springs, Tenn. Bryant Malloy, a 6-3, 310-pound sophomore from Cherryville, N.C. and Don Peters, a 6-2, 305-pound sophomore from Mattawan, Mich. also earned spots on the post-spring depth chart.

PARKER IMPRESSES IN SPRING DRILLS

Red-shirt freshman Willie Parker, a 5-10, 200-pounder from Clinton, N.C., tops the depth chart at tailback after an outstanding effort in spring practices. Parker has displayed a strong work ethic and looks ready to step into the starting role.

"Willie Parker has tremendous ability," O'Cain says. He had an outstanding spring, and we feel like he'll do a great job for us. But, he's got to step up and do it in front of 60,000 people and do it. I believe he's the type of young man who will rise to the occasion. He's a very hard worker and a very gifted athlete."

Rufus Brown, a 6-1, 220-pound junior, and Domonique Williams, a 6-0, 210-pound junior also figure to push for playing time at tailback.

Brown is the leading returning ground-gainer, with 809 yards and four touchdowns in his career, but he missed all of spring drills due to shoulder surgery. Last year, he made three starts and rushed for 275 yards after being slowed by a sprained toe suffered late in the first game against Virginia. He's a big back who will battle for playing time at tailback, but he could also compete at fullback.

Williams began last season at tailback but shifted to quarterback because of a rash of injuries at the position and led the Tar Heels to wins over NC State and Duke to end the season. He had a season-high 15 carries for 76 yards in the near-upset of then-No. 7 Georgia Tech in Atlanta.

Anthony Saunders, a 6-1, 225-pound junior from Greensboro, N.C., and Ronnie Robinson, a 6-1, 245-pound senior from Atlanta, Ga., will take over a big gap at fullback left by 1999 fourth-round NFL Draft pick Deon Dyer.

Saunders was second on the team last year with 297 yards on a team-high 75 carries. Saunders made four starts and rushed for a career-high 110 yards on 17 carries at Georgia Tech. His size allowed him to shift to fullback in the spring.

Robinson has backed up Dyer the past three seasons and 2000 could be his chance to make a big impact on offense. He must become more consistent though if he is going to grab the starting spot at fullback.

"Ronnie and Anthony must become more physical players and work on their blocking," O'Cain says.

CRUMPLER, FINGER HEADLINE IMPOSING TIGHT ENDS

First-team All-ACC tight end Alge Crumpler, a 6-3, 260-pound senior from Wilmington, N.C., and Dauntae' Finger, a 6-3, 265-pound senior from Newton, N.C., make up a potent tandem — perhaps the best in the nation.

"We feel very, very fortunate to have the two seniors at tight end," O'Cain says. "We feel we have to get both Alge and Dauntae' involved in our offensive scheme as pass catchers, because they have the ability to make plays for us. They bring so much to the table."

Crumpler came back from a serious knee injury that forced him to miss the 1998 season and began to show his old form as last year progressed. He finished with 20 receptions for 191 yards. This summer, he was named preseason first-team All-America by The Sporting News.

Finger, an excellent blocker, caught 10 passes for 81 yards and had his first career touchdown reception in the win at Indiana.

Zach Hilton, a 6-6, 255-pound sophomore from Silver Spring, Md., and Doug Brown, a 6-4, 245-pound junior from Winston-Salem, N.C., continue to improve behind Finger and Crumpler and will see additional action on special teams.

LOOK FOR MORE SPEED AT WIDE RECEIVER

Kory Bailey, a 6-1, 190-pound junior from Durham, N.C., leads a young, but capable unit of wide receivers. Bailey followed a record-setting freshman season with a team-leading 695 all-purpose yards, including 418 yards receiving. He scored two touchdowns, including a spectacular 40-yard grab against Duke.

"I think you'll see more speed this year on the field at wide receiver," Torbush says. "It's exciting to see Bosley Allen come back from his serious injury two years ago and show the speed that made him one of the top prep receivers in the country."

Allen is a 6-1, 190-pound sophomore from Bradenton, Fla., who missed 1999 due to a knee injury suffered the year before against NC State. He showed flashes of brilliance as a freshman, and his return in the spring was a welcome sight. He looked to be 100 percent healthy as he displayed the speed and quickness he had two years ago.

Sam Aiken, a 6-2, 190-pound sophomore from Kenansville, N.C., played wide receiver and returned kicks as a true freshman. He appeared in all 11 games, catching three passes for 16 yards and returning 13 kickoffs and 12 punts.

Chesley Borders, a 6-0, 180-pound sophomore from Shelby, N.C. and Danny Davis, a 6-0, 190-pound junior from Manteo, N.C. have an opportunity to earn playing time. Borders has lots of potential, good hands and runs decent routes. Davis is not gifted with tremendous speed, but has a knack for getting open and his experience should provide quality depth at the position.

Red-shirt freshmen Jamal Jones, a speedy 5-11, 200-pounder from Washington, D.C., and Isaiah Robinson, a 6-0, 190-pounder from Reidsville, N.C., also have a chance to see playing time in the fall.

"We have high expectations for Jamal Jones, but we also know he's still in a learning process" O'Cain says. "He needs to improve, but in time he will be an excellent receiver for us."

CURRY RETURN KEY AT QUARTERBACK

Ronald Curry's return to the lineup after rupturing his Achilles tendon midway through last season will be a big boost to an offense that struggled to move the ball last season. Curry, a 6-2, 200-pound junior from Hampton, Va., missed the majority of spring drills, so it will be an important August as he tries to get back to full strength and learn a new offense.

"It's important for us to find out Ronald Curry's status, because things just were not the same last year without him," Torbush says. "We have a lot of work to do in August."

"I feel like physically he's 100 percent just walking around, but that's not 100 percent on the field, where you're dodging people and getting hit, putting stresses on that injury that you just can't put on it until you get in that situation." says O'Cain. "I've been very impressed with the way he's picked up the offense though. Ronald's a very quick learner."

Curry started Carolina's first five games at quarterback and was accounting for 54.7 percent of the team's total offense before being lost for the season in week five at Georgia Tech. In the first five games of the year, UNC averaged 331.8 yards per game, but without the versatile QB at the helm, Carolina's offensive production suffered. Curry finished the year with 226 yards rushing and a team-high 682 yards passing with three touchdowns.

Luke Huard, a 6-4, 220-pound sophomore from Puyallup, Wash., and Antwon Black, will be competing for the backup spot. Huard played in seven games and made four starts after Curry's injury sidelined him for the season. He did not play in the final two games due to an bruised right rotator cuff. He completed 29 of 75 passes for 256 yards and one touchdown on the season.

Black, a 5-11, 190-pound senior from Central, S.C., has performed on offense, defense and special teams during his time in Chapel Hill. Last year, Black played in the first five games at safety before moving to quarterback for two games. He missed the last four games of the season after he came down with mononucleosis. Black completed 11 of 23 passes for 139 yards.

HUGE QUESTION MARKS IN THE KICKING GAME

There should be a wide-open battle in the kicking game. Josh McGee became Carolina's all-time field goals leader and Brian Schmitz set the ACC record for career punting average and earned All-America honors last fall. McGee, Schmitz and Derrick DePriest have all graduated, leaving substantial holes to fill.

"One of my biggest concerns is the kicking game," Tosbush says. "Jeff Reed did a good job for us in the spring, but he has not kicked in a game in four years. Punter is wide open at the start of practice, and we really need some guys to step forward and help us win games in the kicking game."

Jeff Reed is a 6-0, 200-pound senior from Charlotte, N.C. who emerged in the spring as the leader for place-kicking and kickoff duties.

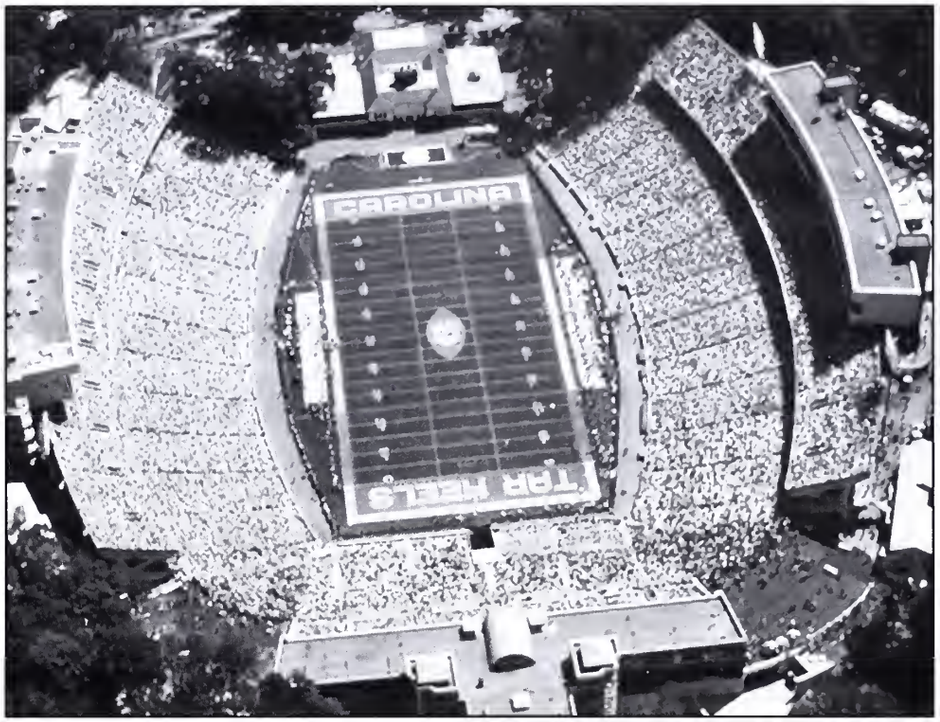
KENAN MEMORIAL STADIUM

Carolina football plays its home games at Kenan Memorial Stadium, one of the most picturesque athletic venues in America. Kenan Stadium has been the home of the Tar Heels since 1927 and the thrill of playing in or attending a game there is as exhilirating now as it was when it was first constructed.

The stadium's beauty, charm and simple elegance have not been diminished with the expansion project that added nearly 8,000 seats, a state-of-the-art football facility, chancellor's box and preferred seating box. The renovation and expansion project was financed through a combination of private contributions through the Educational Foundation and bonded indebtedness from the athletic department through the sale of revenue-generating bonds. The Educational Foundation and its members have committed more than $50 million to the project.



Flying Fotas

Kenan Stadium is one of the most beautiful football facilities in the nation. Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many observers say it is the most beautiful. One national sports magazine rated Kenan one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it cannot be surpassed.

The stadium has been expanded several times since its completion in 1927. In each instance, though, great care was taken to keep its fundamental beauty intact. The addition of the Frank H. Kenan Football Center and the North Side Stadium Preferred Seating Box have further enhanced the stadium's status as a campus landmark.

"Kenan Stadium has always been one of the prettiest places to spend a Saturday in the fall," says head coach Carl Torbush. "Now, with the Frank H. Kenan Center, it is also one of the most impressive places to work each day. This building is unmatched in college football and shows the type commitment the people of North Carolina have to sustaining an outstanding football program. Our coaches love it, our players love it and the former players who have been through it are proud of what they helped build. It has created a sense of pride that I believe each future football team will be committed to passing on from year to year."

Dan Sears

The Kenan Football Center houses the Carolina football program, including the coaches' offices, locker rooms, weight room, training room, equipment room, players' lounge, computer labs and study areas, academic coordinator's office, 100-plus seat auditorium, theater and Hall of Honor.

The Hall of Honor, located on the ground floor, is a multimedia history of Carolina football. Photographs, awards, trophies and artifacts detailing the rich and storied history of the sport in Chapel Hill are on display. The 18 Carolina players who have been honored by placing their names and numbers on display in the stadium are also featured in the Hall of Honor. Special plaques, flags and an audio- visual presentation on each player are highlighted.

The James A. Heavner Theater was made possible by a special gift by the former executive producer of the Tar Heels Sports Network and president of Vilcom. The theater is a 30-person mini-theater equipped with surround sound and seven dramatic videos presenting the history of UNC football.

A number of rooms in the Kenan Football Center have been dedicated in the honor or memory of Carolina's benefactors, fans and athletic personalities. They include the Brinkley Lounge, the fourth floor reception area named for Harvey M. Brinkley Jr.; the Don McCauley/Paul Miller Head Coach's Suite; the Norman M. (Buddy) Black Jr. Lounge, the fourth floor hospitality area; the Oscar Davenport/Chris Keldorf Quarterback Meeting Room as given by Bob Biggerstaff; the Jo Allison Clary Smith Weight Room; the Carolina Football Players' Locker Room, named in behalf of the more than 400 former Tar Heels who donated more than $2 million to the project; Koury Box North, box seating on the north side of the stadium named for Maurice J. Koury; the John W. Pope Academic Support Facility; the John W. Pope Stadium Box, a stadium box on the north side; the John W. Swofford Auditorium and the Jimmy W. Garrell coaches meeting room.

The expansion project, in which great care was taken to ensure that the surrounding environment would be altered as little as possible, ties the north and south concourses to either end of the lower deck via the third level of the Kenan Center, making fan movement around the stadium much easier.

The football center is named in honor of the late Frank H. Kenan, one of the school's most generous benefactors. Kenan was a Durham resident and chief executive officer of Kenan Transport Company in Chapel Hill. He passed away at age 83 in 1996.

Kenan, a 1935 Carolina graduate, was the great-great-grandson of General James Kenan, a member of the University's founding board of trustees. An Atlanta native, Kenan had a tremendous impact on the growth of the University. He served on many campus boards, including the Board of Visitors and the Educational Foundation Board of Directors.

In recent years the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, of which he was a trustee, has donated more than $100 million to schools in the state's consolidated university system, including Carolina, N.C. State and the N.C. School of the Arts. Among other things, the trust funds 92 William R. Kenan Jr. Professorships at 56 colleges and universities nationwide.

He served on the steering committee of Carolina's Bicentennial Campaign, the University's largest fund-raising effort. Gifts by him, his family and the trust during the campaign exceeded $31 million. The largest portion of that was targeted for the business school. In 1991 the school was renamed the Kenan-Flagler Business School after a $10 million gift.

The preferred seating box that rises above the second deck of the grandstand on the north side of the stadium has outdoor seating for almost 1,200 spectators. That includes the Chancellor's Box on the second level of the box 45 feet above the ground. The fourth level, 68 feet high, has outdoor seating for more than 1,000, plus concessions and a 7500 square foot lounge. There is a smaller lounge and food prep areas on the third floor.

The Kenan Football Center and preferred seating box are the predominant changes in a multi-year renovation plan that began in 1995. A new playing field was installed that spring. The new turf includes an improved drainage system beneath the field that drains through the field itself rather than off the sides of the field as in the past. Prior to the 1996 season the restrooms and concession stands were expanded and renovated and the bleachers in the end zone nearest the Bell Tower were removed in order to prepare for construction of the new Football Center.

Another significant stadium expansion took place prior to 1988 and involved adding 2,000 choice seats between the 40-yard lines where the press box and chancellor's box formerly stood. A new press box was constructed on top of the upper deck on the stadium's south side. It is a one-level elongated structure, running from 10-yard line to 10-yard line.

Also part of the 1987-88 project were a permanent lighting system, a chancellor's lounge on the north side of the field and a football lettermen's lounge on the south side. The lights are part of a General Electric low-mount system which minimizes the height of the lightpoles. Cost of the entire project was $7 million. It was funded by private gifts and bonds.

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for originally making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and graduated from Carolina in 1894. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry. During his business career he was president of The Florida East Coast Railroad, The Florida East Coast Hotel Company, The West Palm Beach Water Company and the Florida East Coast Car Ferry Company.

He was a director of Florida Power and Light Company and built the first power plant in Miami in the early 1900s.

The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November 1926 and was completed the following August. Complete cost of the stadium and accompanying fieldhouse was $303,000.

Originally, the stadium was to be built through funds raised by alumni donations and by June 1926, a group of nearly 40 alumni had contributed $27,926. At this time, however, a copy of the prospectus and plan of financing the stadium came into the hands of Mr. Kenan who expressed an interest in the proposal. Kenan was considering establishing a memorial to his parents and the pressing need for a stadium and the possibilities of the beauty, dignity and permanence it presented, suggested to him that the benefaction he contemplated may well take the form of a memorial stadium. The Stadium Committee immediately endorsed his proposal and on the very day in November 1926 on which Kenan visited the planned site, he announced his financial gift to build the stadium.

Mr. Kenan remained very interested in Kenan Stadium throughout his lifetime. In the 1950s he gave a $1,000,000 contribution to construct a second deck on the stadium. After Mr. Kenan's death in 1965 the William R. Kenan Jr. Charitable Trust, which was established by his will, donated $1,000,000 to enlarge and modernize Kenan Fieldhouse.

In 1988 the Kenan Trust made another $1,000,000 gift to complete the new chancellor's box on the North Side. Another lasting memory of William R. Kenan Jr. is the Kenan Athletic Scholarship Endowment valued at over $1,000,000. Each year a student athlete is awarded a full scholarship from this fund.

Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's alltime record at Kenan Stadium is 232-138-16. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there as Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

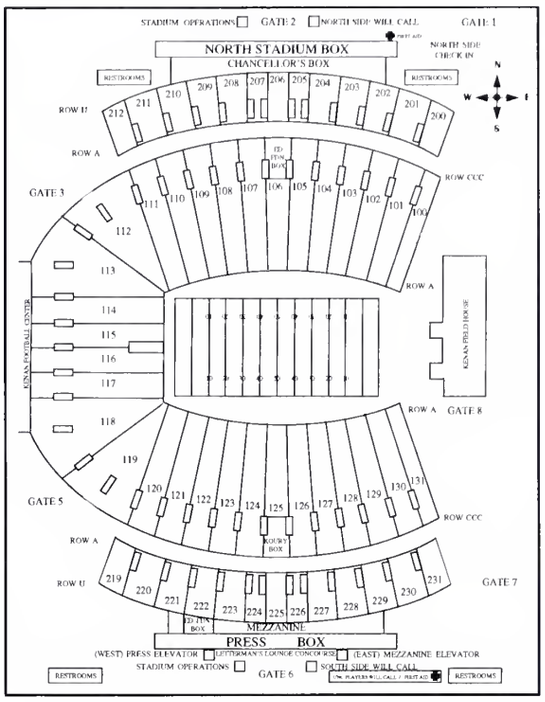
The Tar Heels have a 40-14 mark at Kenan Stadium in the last nine seasons.

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in 1963 the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, which increased capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 in 1979, 52,000 in 1988, 57,500 in 1997 and 60,000 in 1998.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, lounges, meeting rooms, weight-training quarters and other facilities. The players' lockerroom was renovated again in 1988.

The Student-Athlete Development Center was added to the fieldhouse in 1986. A 20,000 square foot building, it is a one-of-a-kind facility. For study purposes, it contains a language lab, video room, computer lab, theatre-style lecture hall, several reading rooms and numerous tutorial rooms. Carolina's academic counseling staff has the advantage of using the most modern techniques in helping student-athletes with their studies.

Scheduled improvements to renovate the original fieldhouse include providing substantially remodeled academic support space on the second floor which will connect with the Student-Athlete Development Center, improve the visiting team's dressing room on the first floor, and public rest rooms for use on football game days. Additional space on the second floor will be used to increase the size of the existing Ram's Room and to provide office space for use by the athletic department.



Capacity crowds have come to be expected at Kenan. In 1997, the Tar Heels played in front of a record-shattering crowd of 62,000 on Nov. 8, 1997, as fifth-ranked Carolina battled No. 2 Florida State. The largest crowd to watch a game prior to the most recent major expansion was 54,300 as Carolina defeated N.C. State, 31-17, in 1994.

The 1983 season saw another first in the stadium — a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised throughout the Atlantic Coast Conference area. Portable lights were brought in since the second half was played after sunset. Portable lights were also used in the 1987 Clemson game which was televised nationally by ESPN.

The 1991 season opener versus Cincinnati and the Clemson game, which was televised nationally by ESPN, were the first true night games ever played at Kenan Stadium. A total of 12 night games have been played since the lights were installed.

TAR HEEL SPORTS NETWORK

Learfield Communications begins its first full year as the official media rights holder for the University of North Carolina athletic teams, primarily football and basketball.

Based in Jefferson City, Missouri, Learfield purchased Tar Heel Sports Marketing in October 1999, adding the UNC property to 12 other schools under the Learfield umbrella. Among those for which Learfield also owns the rights are Alabama, Syracuse, Oklahoma, Indiana and Purdue.

"Our goal is to continue and add to the tremendous tradition and fan following at Carolina," says Gary Sobba, the General Manager for Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Sobba moved to Chapel Hill from Dallas, where he worked in the Learfield national sales office.

"I have worked on various college campuses for the last 15 years," adds Sobba, "and if there is a better athletic program in the country than this one, I don't know where it is."

Formerly owned by Chapel Hill-based VilCom, Tar Heel Sports Marketing is in its eighth year as UNC's multimedia rights holder. All Carolina fans have heard of the Tar Heel Sports Network, which broadcasts the play-by-play of football and basketball games, but that is only one facet of the operation.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing is a full-service agency overseeing production and sales of all the University of North Carolina's football and basketball entities including television and print products.

THSM brings you a variety of ways to follow the Heels during the athletic season. Simply, listen to your radio on Thursday nights for the head coaches on their radio call-in shows or watch game highlights Sundays on "Inside Carolina Football." When you are at Kenan Stadium pick-up the official game program.

The Tar Heel Sports Network continues to bring the great tradition of Carolina sports into your home.

Woody Durham is beginning his 30th year as the "Voice of the Tar Heels." A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C., and began his broadcasting career with WZKY Radio at age 16. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

Durham and Head Coach Carl Torbush give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk with the Coach every Thursday evening during the football season on the "Carl Torbush Live" call in show.

Woody Durham

Mick Mixon

Durham also will visit with Coach Torbush on "Inside Carolina Football", a daily five-minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' Head Coach. Both of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

"Inside Carolina Football with Carl Torbush," hosted by Durham, is a half-hour television program seen each week on a network of stations in North Carolina and on cable networks throughout much of the United States. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and former Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action.

In 1981, Durham was named vice president and executive sports director at Tar Heel Sports Marketing. Since taking over play-by-play duties in 1971, he has become a permanent fixture behind the microphone during Tar Heel football and basketball games. Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year 10 times.

Woody and his wife of 37 years, Jean, are parents of two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes, 34, is in his sixth year of play-by-play duties for Georgia Tech. Taylor, 27 , is a network recruitment manager with International Sports Properties of Winston-Salem.

Mick Mixon is in his 12th year as color analyst. Last year, Mixon was named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year. A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in broadcast journalism.

Mixon joined the network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C., where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He also has served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C.

He married Kristin Lyn Tucker (AB Journalism 1990) in 1999.

"I've always wondered what it would be like to play in Kenan Stadium on a sunny afternoon in front of a big crowd. That's one of the things I missed about college football Saturdays. They're something special in Chapel Hill. I can't imagine what it must be like for the guys who get to play in that beautiful stadium every week."

"We are in an era when football facilities represent how committed a program is to being one of the best. At North Carolina, I expected the Smith Center to be one of the best for basketball — and it is. What surprised me was how outstanding the new football facility is. They certainly have a top-notch facility. When I walked away from Chapel Hill, I was totally impressed. Now I judge every other facility against Carolina's because I think they have the best in the country."

UNC is the only ACC school to have at least one player selected in every NFL Draft since 1971.

Bernardo Harris

"You go to a place that's won this many games and you see what you expect to see, and that's a lot of fine athletes and good football players. The thing about these guys is that they are extremely well coached, very disciplined and from my exposure they're the type of players you want in your program. They go to school, they graduate and they don't have off-field problems. That's the type of person we'd like to have in our program."

"The thing I have always admired about the University of North Carolina is it's been a place that emphasized both academics and athletics and other extracurricular activites. And it's demonstrated to the country that it is not necessary to make a choice, and that there's something to be said for learning how to compete, to work on a team, to put aside your own personal ambition for what is best for a group, and that an institution like the University of North Carolina can really set a standard for the entire country."

The Fiske Guide to Colleges describes UNC as a "powerhouse in research and education" and refers to Carolina's "dazzling academic reputation, top-notch faculty, a gorgeously lush campus and Ivy-League ambiance with a public school price."

Kiplinger's Personal Finance* magazine rates Carolina No. 1 in the United States among state universities, calling UNC "a place where high achievers are in good company."

"What is it that binds us to this place as to no other? It is not the Well or the Bell or the stone walls or the crisp October nights or the memory of dogwoods blooming here from the crest of New Hope Chapel Hill. Our love for this place is based on the fact that it is, as it was meant to be, the University of the people."

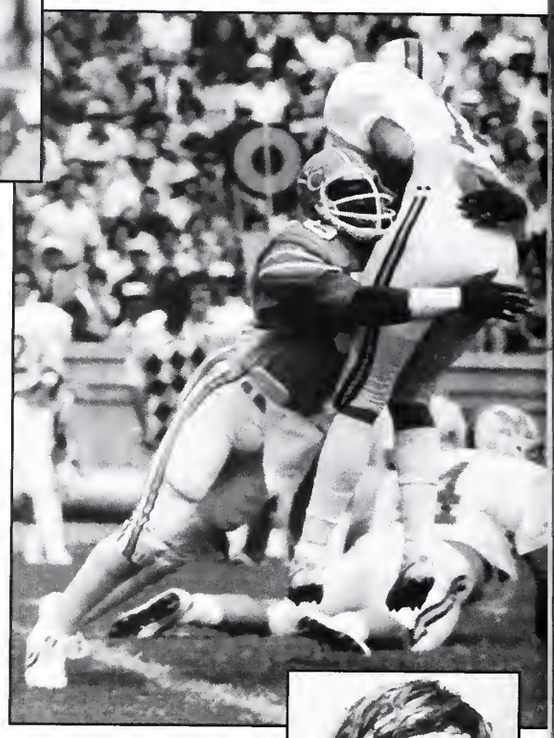
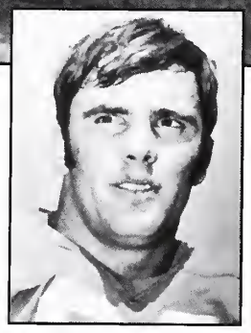
ACC FOOTBALL

The ACC is the only conference to have each of its teams play in a bowl game in the 1990s. The Tar Heels went to seven bowl games in the 1990s and won five times.

Leon Johnson (left) and Dre' Bly (above) are two of Carolina's four ACC Rookies of the Year. Johnson won the honor in 1993, while Bly was tabbed the conference's top rookie in 1996. Amos Lawrence (1977) and Darrell Nicholson (1978) were also named ACC Rookie of the Year.





Lawrence Taylor (above) and Don McCauley (right) are two of the four different Tar Heels to be named ACC Player of the Year. McCauley (1969-70) and Mike Voight (1975-76) were both two-time winners.

Carolina's vaunted 1997 defense allowed just 209.3 yards per game, the lowest per-game average in the ACC since 1963.

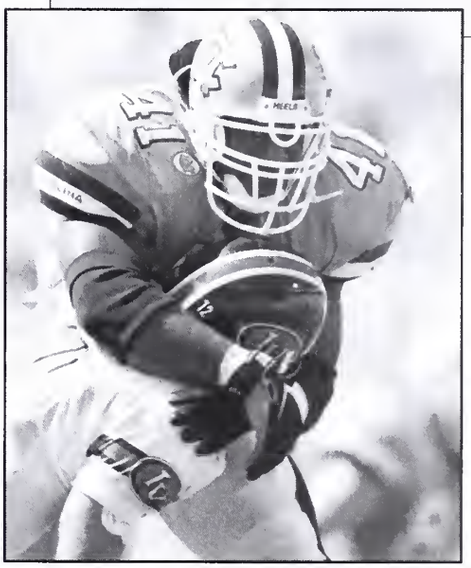
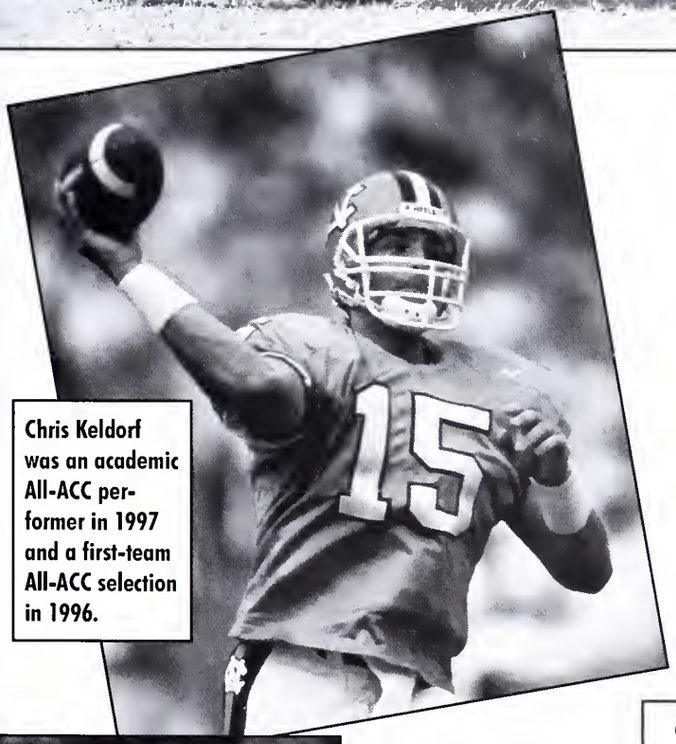
ACC FOOTBALL

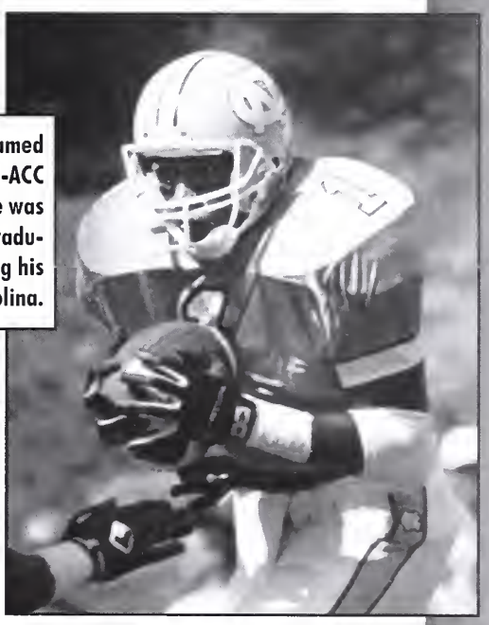
The ACC has had 17 consensus All-America selections over the past three years, more than any other conference in America. Brian Simmons (below), Greg Ellis and Dre'Bly each earned All-America honors in 1997.



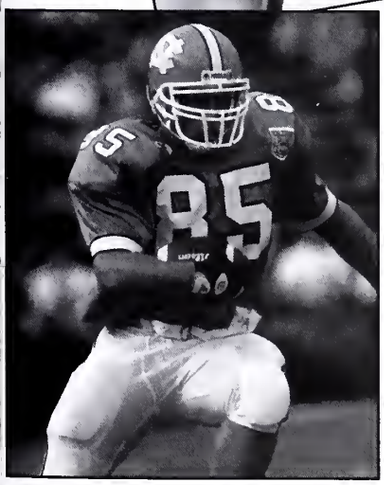


Chris Keldorf was an academic All-ACC performer in 1997 and a first-team All-ACC selection in 1996.

Bill Richards



Corey Holliday was named to the Academic All-ACC team in 1993, and he was awarded an ACC postgraduate scholarship following his standout career at Carolina.



Greg DeLong is one of three different Carolina tight ends to be named first-team All-ACC in the 1990s. DeLong earned the honor in 1994, while Freddie Jones was a first-team selection in 1995 and Alge Crumpler last year.

SAM AIKEN
Wide Receiver
6-2, 190, Sophomore
Kenansville, N.C.

88

Has a chance to develop into a big-time player. Saw limited action last year as a true freshman returning kicks and at wide receiver. Should be one of the top three receivers heading into camp this year. Has tremendous size for the position and has shown he can be a dominant blocker. Has excellent hands. Team is looking for him to emerge as a big-play maker.

Brad Smith

Red-shirt freshman linebacker. Should get a chance to contribute this year on special teams and see some limited action at linebacker. Has the opportunity to learn the position this year and be ready to step in and make large contributions next fall. Is the tallest linebacker on the squad. Played strong safety in high school, thus he is still learning the position. Has good speed. Needs to maintain enough weight to battle tight ends and offensive linemen.

Shady Side Academy

An exciting young player with game-breaking speed. Has fully recovered from a serious knee injury he suffered in November 1998. Is a home run threat. Can score any time he touches the football. Had a sensational spring. Showed the deep threat capability he displayed as a freshman. Could develop into one of the league's most exciting young players.

1999 • Medical Red-Shirt

Did not play due to injury. Injured his left knee while returning a kickoff against NC State on Nov. 28, 1998. Was able to return to practice in November 1999.

MERCEDA PERRY
Linebacker
6-4, 245, Senior
Asheboro, N.C.

An emerging standout at linebacker. Rated the #5 inside linebacker in America by National Football Scouting Inc. Teams with Brandon Spoon and Sedrick Hodge to form one of the top starting linebacker tandems in the nation. Really came into his own as a top player last year after Spoon went out with an injury. Suffered a dislocated left shoulder, however, in the fifth game at Georgia Tech, and was hampered by that injury for the next month. Finished the season strong. Switched back to outside linebacker for this season. That is a more natural position for him. Has good size and speed, essential for linebacker. Playing inside last year helped him read offenses better.

1999 • Junior Season

One of Carolina's most consistent performers. Was second on the team and tied for 15th in the ACC in tackles. Had 83 hits, including 53 primary stops. Averaged 8.3 tackles per game. Averaged 11.5 tackles in the first four games, then dislocated his left shoulder on the first series of the fifth game (at Georgia Tech). Moved back into the starting lineup the final two weeks in the wins over NC State and Duke. Had 76 tackles in the seven games in which he played at least 30 snaps. Made a season-high 16 tackles in the opener against Virginia. That was one of four games in which he had double-digit tackles. BRANDON SPOON
Linebacker
6-2, 245, Senior
Burlington, N.C.

Outstanding leader and college football player. Decided to return for a fifth year after missing most of last season due to injury. Should be considered among the finest players in the country on either side of the ball. Once again he should be a Butkus Award and preseason All-America candidate. Rated the #3 inside linebacker in America by National Football Scouting Inc. Mature beyond his years. Is very excited to return to competition. Says he didn't realize how much he loved playing the game until he was forced to the sidelines last September. The team obviously missed his presence, leadership and talent. Was the one player on a young defense that could not be replaced. Is a natural middle linebacker because he has great football instincts. Likes to hit. Enjoys the physical aspect of the position. Make all the calls for the defense. Runs very well for his size. Worked hard in the spring on pass coverage skills.

Has 241 career tackles, including 17.5 for losses and 8.5 quarterback sacks. Played just 73 snaps last fall due to injury. CHANCELLOR JAMES MOESER

When Dr. James Moeser was first approached about leading the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, its academic excellence and tradition as the nation's oldest public campus impressed him.

But that's not why Moeser (pronounced "MEE-zer") ultimately decided he wanted to become Carolina's ninth chancellor. It was the university's potential to be even better.

"What attracted me to Carolina was not, important though it is, the preservation of a great tradition," Moeser says. "It was the opportunity to help take this university to a position where it will be the best public university in the United States. With the right combination of future public and private support, I am confident that such an ambitious goal is within our reach."

Moeser says he will constantly work to articulate what sets the university apart from other schools.

"Students who come to Chapel Hill, from the moment they set foot on this beautiful campus, realize there is something very special about the academic experience," he says. "Carolina's graduates develop a powerful bond that lasts a lifetime, creating a remarkably loyal alumni base. Our job is to take that love and convince alumni and friends to reinvest in the institution that made such a difference in their lives and to help us take it to an even higher level."

The UNC Board of Governors unanimously elected Moeser as chancellor last April. He starts August 15, succeeding William O. McCoy, who became interim chancellor in July 1999 following Michael Hooker's death from non-Hodgkins lymphoma. Moeser will be installed as chancellor on University Day, October 12.

Moeser is the right person to lead Carolina at this important time, said Anne Cates, chair of the UNC Board of Trustees. "He has precisely the kind of outstanding track record that is so important to all of us now -- solid academic credentials, strong management experience on other major public campuses, and deft skills in private fund raising and work with key constituents," she says. "He also has exciting ideas about Carolina's future and deep respect for the students, faculty and staff who make this university the great place that it is."

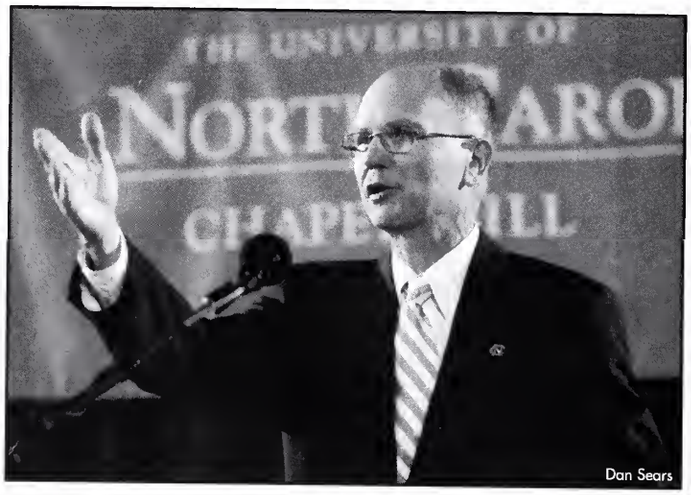
When he takes office, Moeser says his top priority will be to help vigorously lead UNC's efforts to earn the votes of North Carolinians in November for the $3.1 billion bond referendum to improve capital facilities on UNC and community college campuses.

"This issue is critical to the future of both the university and higher education across the state," Moeser says. "In Chapel Hill, our classrooms are in dire need of repair, science facilities must be replaced and research labs are housed in aging facilities that are central to our mission of expanding the frontiers of knowledge while also helping grow the state's economy."

Successful passage of the referendum will mean nearly $500 million for Carolina's capital needs. "That will dramatically improve how effectively we can teach students, conduct research that helps people live healthier lives and carry out public service that makes our state a better place to live," he says. "It's clear North Carolina faces important economic and social challenges in the decades ahead. Our universities and community colleges can be part of the solution, but we need the proper facilities to do that job well."

A concert organist, Moeser, 61, began his academic career in 1966 at the University of Kansas as an assistant professor and chairman of the department of organ. After rising through the academic ranks at Kansas, he was named dean of the School of Fine Arts in 1975. In 1984, he was named Althaus Distinguished Professor of Organ, becoming the first academic dean at Kansas ever to hold an endowed chair.

In 1986, Moeser joined Pennsylvania State University as dean of the College of Arts and Architecture and executive director of University Arts



Dan Sears

Services, which coordinates cultural programs. Six years later, he became vice president for academic affairs and provost of the University of South Carolina, a post he held until becoming chancellor of Nebraska in 1996.

Moeser is a leader in national educational organizations. He serves on the Board of Directors of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, a voluntary association of more than 200 public research universities, land-grant institutions and state university systems. He chairs that association's technology transfer committee. Moeser also is a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities and the Board of Governors of the Josephson Institute of Ethics, which sponsored a national summit resulting in a statement of principles for organized sports activities.He has written and spoken widely on the challenges facing higher education, academic leadership and the future of land-grant universities.

Nebraska at Lincoln is the Research I flagship of the four-campus state university system. Founded as a land-grant institution in 1869, it is a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities and ranks among the top 50 universities in the number of doctoral degrees awarded annually.

During Moeser's tenure, Nebraska's average freshman ACT scores climbed, student retention improved markedly and enrollment in the honors program rose fourfold. In the last three years, Nebraska received $350 million in private gifts to support academic excellence. Moeser led successful efforts to reallocate state funds to areas of campuswide priority, including information technology, libraries, distance education and areas of academic strength.

A native of Colorado City, Texas, who grew up in Lubbock, Moeser received a bachelor's of music degree with honors in 1961 and a master's of music in musicology in 1964 from the University of Texas at Austin. He completed advanced study in Berlin and Paris as a Fulbright scholar and received a doctorate in musical arts from the University of Michigan in 1967.

A past president of the American Guild of Organists, Moeser earned an international reputation as a concert organist and performed regularly until 1993. He has chaired several national organ pedagogy conferences and consulted with numerous universities and churches.

Moeser is married to Dr. Susan Dickerson Moeser, a fellow concert organist and faculty member at Nebraska. He has two children from a prior marriage: a son, Chris, a reporter at The Arizona Republic, and a daughter, Carter, a doctoral candidate in physical therapy at the Arizona School of Health Sciences.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK BADDOUR

Dick Baddour, a 1966 graduate of the University of North Carolina, was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In his three years as director, the Tar Heels have undergone a number of changes, yet remain one of the premier athletic programs in the Atlantic Coast Conference and across the nation. Baddour combines an easy-going, friendly and visionary style of management with a love and passion for the University he has served for more than three decades.

Baddour sets a high standard of integrity for the program he leads. High graduation rates, NCAA compliance, sound fiscal management, competitive success and national respect are cornerstones of his blueprint for the department's mission to the University.

The Goldsboro, N.C., native heads a program that with 28 varsity sports is the largest in the ACC. Last year, the Tar Heels finished fifth in the nation in the Sears Cup, a competition that ranks Division I universities for their NCAA championship performances. It was the fifth time in the seven-year history of the competition that Carolina finished in the top five. What makes those top five finishes even more impressive is the fact that Carolina's undergraduate enrollment of just over 15,000 is the 19th-largest among the schools that placed in the Top 25 in the Sears Cup standings last year.

Carolina won six ACC championships in 1999-2000, equalling the top figure in the league, and 21 sports competed in NCAA postseason play. The women's soccer team won the national championship again and the men's basketball team won an NCAA Regional and advanced to the Final Four for the second time in his three years as athletic director. Last year, 250 UNC student-athletes completed their studies with a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or better. There were also 243 Tar Heels on the ACC Honor Roll.

During the past school year, Baddour was a member of the NCAA Championship Cabinet and NCAA Football Issues Committee, oversaw groundbreaking on the indoor football and track facility, worked on plans to include the athletic department in the University's upcoming capital campaign, and completed searches for new head coaches in men's basketball and men's lacrosse.

Fiscal responsibility has been a key directive in Baddour's tenure as athletic director. He instituted a number of measures designed to keep UNC among the nation's most competitive athletic programs, while at the same time ensuring a sound financial future. Baddour leads a department that has a budget in excess of $30 million, which is 16th-largest among the schools that placed in the Top 25 in the Sears Cup standings last year.

Baddour has served as athletic director in one of the most dynamic periods in the history of Carolina athletics. He has hired new head coaches in six sports, including football, men's basketball, men's golf, women's tennis, baseball and men's lacrosse. Just months after taking the job, Baddour had to replace Dean Smith, the winningest coach in basketball history, and Mack Brown, the second-winningest football coach in UNC history. Baddour tabbed Bill Guthridge to follow the legendary Smith, and defensive coordinator Carl Torbush to replace Brown.

Guthridge became the winningest first-year head coach in college basketball history by leading the Tar Heels to 34 wins, an ACC championship and a trip to the NCAA Final Four. He won 80 games in three seasons as head coach and led the Tar Heels back to the Final Four for the second time in 1999-2000 before retiring in late June 2000. On July 11, 2000, Baddour hired former Tar Heel forward and Notre Dame head coach Matt Doherty to lead the UNC basketball program.

Torbush has directed UNC to a pair of postseason bowl victories. In 1998, he became the first rookie football head coach at UNC to earn a trip to the postseason.

Baddour has hired four spring sport head coaches, moves that have revitalized those programs. He hired Mike Fox, a former Tar Heel who played in the 1978 College World Series, as baseball coach; John Inman, 1984 NCAA men's golf champion and former PGA Tour golfer, as the men's golf coach; Roland Thornqvist, former National Indoor Singles Champion, as the women's tennis coach; and this past spring, he hired John Haus to rebuild the men's lacrosse program. Haus won NCAA championships in 1981 and 1982 as a Tar Heel defensive star and coached Johns Hopkins University to the national semifinals the past two seasons.

Early in his tenure, Baddour established a number of task forces to examine specific functions within the department and guide those administrative units as they prepare for the 21st century. Baddour formed committees to examine recruiting, admissions and academic progress of student-athletes; finances; student-athlete development; and communications.

Baddour continues to direct a vast facilities expansion project that stretches from Kenan Stadium to Finley Golf Course. The McCaskill Soccer Center and the Francis E. Henry Stadium (field hockey and lacrosse) were dedicated two years ago and Finley Golf Course was totally re-designed by noted golf course architect Tom Fazio and re-opened to sparkling reviews in November 1999.

Baddour, who has served on 12 ACC committees, is past chair of the ACC Athletic Directors, will serve as a member of ACC Committees on Football, Basketball and Television and has chaired the ACC Tennis Committee.

He is in his 34th year of continuous service to the University. Prior to his current position, he spent 11 years under athletic director John Swofford as the executive associate director of athletics. He handled personnel matters, served as NCAA and ACC compliance coordinator, supervised the grant-in-aid program, administered the student-athlete development program and was liaison with the academic support programs.

After graduating from UNC, Baddour spent one year as a cost accountant for Burlington Industries. He then returned to his alma mater in 1967 as assistant dean of men.

In 1971 he became assistant dean of undergraduate admissions. Coordinating freshman admissions took him into every high school in the state.

In 1975, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree in education with a major in student personnel administration and a minor in business administration.

Baddour was then named Assistant Dean at the UNC School of Law from 1983 to 1986. He served as the school's director of admissions and scholarship programs, head of personnel and supervisor of career planning and placement. He was also in charge of minority recruitment programs.

He became associate athletic director in 1986, was promoted to senior associate director in 1990 and to executive associate in 1995.

A 1962 graduate of Goldsboro High School, Baddour is active in community affairs in Chapel Hill.

Lynda and Dick Baddour

He is past president of the Public School Foundation, has been co-president of the Ephesus Elementary School PTA and has served on the Chapel Hill-Carrboro School System Effective Schools Committee.

He received the Chapel Hill/Carrboro Public School System award as "Volunteer of the Year" for his service and leadership as president of the Public School Foundation.

In 1998, he was inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece, one of the most prestigious honor societies on campus.

He has been a member of the Chapel Hill Library Foundation, the Chapel Hill Library Building Committee and the board of directors of The Village Bank, Triangle Bank and Nations Bank. He and his wife, Lynda, were honorary chairpersons for the local YMCA's major fundraising campaign.

He is a past president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the East Chapel Hill Rotary Club and served as vice-president of the Chapel Hill Parks and Recreation Commission. Baddour completed 31 years as a member of the N.C. National Guard and holds the rank of colonel.

Lynda taught kindergarten and first grade for 17 years. They have two sons and a daughter. Allen graduated from UNC and Carolina law school and practices law in Chapel Hill. He and his wife, Holly, have a 9-month-old son, Henry. David is a UNC graduate and Certified Public Accountant. He is in his second year of law school at UNC and lives with his wife, Carey, in Carrboro. Jennifer is a graduate of UNC Greensboro and earned her master's from the UNC School of Social Work. She is employed as a social worker in Charlotte.

HEAD COACH CARL TORBUSH

Carl Torbush embarks on his third full season as head coach of the Tar Heels and does so with 46 returning letterwinners from a squad that went 3-8 a year ago, but won its last two games over arch-rivals NC State and Duke. Those two victories and the improvement Carolina showed in the final stretches of last season have given the Tar Heels a new sense of optimism and confidence.

Torbush will direct the program this year without the defensive coordinator duties he has held the past 12 seasons. He began coordinating defense at UNC in 1988 when he was hired by Mack Brown and continued in that role after he became the head coach in December 1997.

"After the first season I knew there would come a time when I would hand the job over, it was just a matter of when," says Torbush. "I will still be involved in the defense, but I have great confidence that (new coordinator) Kenny Browning and the staff will do a great job."

Torbush has led the Tar Heels to two postseason wins in 24 games as head coach. The Tar Heels capped a 7-5 season in 1998 with a 20-13 victory over San Diego State in the Las Vegas Bowl. In the process, Torbush became the only coach in school history to rebound from a 0-3 start to finish the regular season with a winning record.

The 2000 season is Torbush's 13th in Chapel Hill. He was the architect of UNC's defense that led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total defense in 1995, 1996 and 1997 and was among the top five in the nation in every category in 1996 and 1997.

The 1997 team that led the ACC in total defense for the third straight year and was No. 2 in the country for the second straight season featured 11 players who were drafted by NFL teams in 1998 and 1999, while four other defenders on that unit signed free agent contracts with NFL squads.

The 48-year-old East Spencer, N.C., native took over the UNC program in December 1997 and guided the Tar Heels to a 42-3 victory over Virginia Tech in the Gator Bowl the following New Year's Day.

The Gator Bowl victory capped arguably the greatest season in Carolina history as the Tar Heels finished 11-1 and earned a No. 4 national ranking. It was UNC's highest final ranking since Carolina finished third in 1948.

Torbush was named Carolina's 31st head coach on December 8, 1997. He is the first native Tar Heel to lead the state university's football team since Tom Young directed Carolina in 1943. In 1996, Torbush was named the National Defensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Quarterly. He was one of five finalists for the 1997 Frank Broyles Award, honoring the nation's top assistant coach.

"When I have time to think about being Carolina's head coach, I still pinch myself," Torbush says. "I try not to get caught up in it because it could be overwhelming. Call it humble pride — I am proud of being the head coach and still humbled by that. I was content being defensive coordinator here and would have been content with that rest of my life because this is where I want to coach. I did not want any other jobs. In my opinion, if there was ever a place where I would be a perfect fit for a job this is it."

During Torbush's tenure, Carolina's defense has developed into one of the nation's best. Carolina was No. 2 in the nation in 1997 in total yards allowed per game at 209.3. It was the second consecutive year in which the Tar Heels were No. 2 in the country in total defense. The Tar Heels were also third in the country in pass efficiency defense (81.52 points), fourth in run defense (77.9 yards per game) and fifth in scoring defense (13.0 points per game).

Cornerback Dre' Bly, defensive end Greg Ellis and outside linebacker Brian Simmons earned consensus first-team All-America honors in 1997 and middle linebacker Kivuusama Mays was a third-team A.P. All-America. It marked the first time in ACC history that a school had three consensus All-America defenders in the same year. The Tar Heels were the only team in the nation that year to have finalists for the Lombardi, Butkus and Thorpe Awards as the lineman, linebacker and defensive back of the year.

Torbush is best known in football circles as a defensive mastermind, but his reputation as a devoted family man with strong personal and spiritual convictions is far greater. True, he is an outstanding teacher of football techniques and strategy and is a tenacious recruiter, but if you ask his players and peers, it is his ability to teach life skills and build relationships that draws even higher praise.

"I've always thought Carl was an excellent tactician, but more than that he is a players' coach," says Mike Gottfried, ESPN's lead analyst. "Players love to play for him. They get excited about playing for him, they have a good relationship with him and they get in it for the long haul with him. I like him as a football coach, but I give him higher marks as a man for his high morals. It's nice to see good things happen to good people."

"I loved to play for Coach Torbush because he liked to take chances defensively," says Bly, who set the ACC's alltime record with 20 interceptions before moving on to the NFL in 1999. "He's a players' coach and the guys really respect him and look up to him personally. If you have a problem, even if it is not related to football, you can go talk to him. He's a great listener."

It is no surprise the players rallied around Torbush so dramatically when athletic director Dick Baddour was selecting Brown's successor. Half a dozen veteran players representing their teammates asked to meet with Baddour and gave Torbush a rousing recommendation. When Baddour announced Torbush's selection he said, "Carl is an outstanding coach and a person of the highest standards. He is one of the finest defensive minds in college football. He has wonderful rapport with the players and he is a terrific recruiter and student of the game."

"Coach Torbush is very passionate about excelling as a head coach," says standout tight end Alge Crumpler. "He is willing to go the distance in what it takes to have a top program. He was my choice to be the head coach from day one because I knew his philosophy was to get players to perform at a level higher than they thought they were capable of playing."

"He is the most intense person I have ever been around on the football field," says preseason All-America linebacker Brandon Spoon. "Anything to do with football, Coach Torbush does with 100 percent focus. He is determined to do a good job as head coach. Off the field, he is a great man, a great family man. He is the reason I am at North Carolina."

Since coming to Chapel Hill in 1988, Torbush has been one of the most popular people in UNC's athletic department and is one of the program's biggest fans. He is a huge men's and women's basketball fan, thinks field hockey coach Karen Shelton could whip any number of college football teams into shape and attends and supports as many Olympic Sport events as his schedule allows.

"I can't tell you how much I appreciate the support I have had from our other coaches," Torbush adds. "These are relationships I've developed over many years and they are very special to me."

What is special to those who know Torbush is his every-day approach to simply being a good person. Almost embarrassed by his spacious office in the Kenan Football Center, Torbush is careful to remain in touch with his roots.

Jim Bounds

"I do not want to change as a person just because I am the head ball coach," he says. "I want my staff to enjoy working here every day and I want my players to love the game of football and get their degrees. This is the University's football team, not mine. I want people to think they can approach me and say hello whether they are the Chancellor, a coach, campus police officer or custodian. That will never change.

"At heart, I am just a big sports fan. I enjoy saying we have one of the best athletic programs in the country – in all sports, not just football. I think it's important to be in the Top 10 in football and basketball, both men's and women's. I think it's important that the entire coaching staff pulls together. There's no jealousy here. That's important, too, and something I believe in."

Torbush also believes in an aggressive, man-to-man defensive philosophy and a pro-style offensive system that emphasizes both passing and running the football.

In his 12 years in Chapel Hill as defensive coordinator Torbush constructed one of the nation's toughest defenses. Thirty-six of his former players have made NFL rosters, including six first-round draft choices in the 1990s.

In 1999, the Dallas Cowboys selected defensive end Ebenezer Ekuban in the first round, one year after taking another UNC defensive end, Greg Ellis, with the eighth overall pick. Simmons (17th pick by the Bengals) and tackle Vonnie Holliday (19th pick by the Packers) were also first-round picks in 1998. Holliday finished second in the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year voting.

"The expectations placed on student-athletes at Carolina are so great, and the coaching staff sets such a high standard for everyone who's a part of the program that when you leave here you not only know how to play the game of football, but you also know how to act as a person," says Holliday. "That was a tremendous help for me as a rookie in the NFL."

Four other defenders joined Ekuban as 1999 draftees, including second-round pick Bly, the only three-time, first-team All-America in ACC history.

Two other recent Tar Heel defenders – cornerback Thomas Smith and lineman Marcus Jones were first-round picks. Smith came to UNC as a walk-on, but was a first round pick by Buffalo in 1993. Jones earned consensus All-America honors in 1995 and was picked in the opening round the next spring by Tampa Bay.

Last year, 25 former Tar Heels coached on defense by Torbush played in the NFL, including Bly, Nate Hobgood-Chittick and Mike Morton of the Super Bowl champion St. Louis Rams.

"The University of North Carolina is very fortunate to have Carl Torbush as its head coach," says Gil Brandt, NFL consultant, and former Director of Player Personnel for the Dallas Cowboys. "While he is a stern taskmaster and works his players hard, after the players leave the field there is no more accessible coach than Carl Torbush. He has a special passion for his players. He understands that there is more to college life than football games and practice for his athletes. He believes the athlete should a well-rounded member of the student body."

Torbush has coached some of the top linebackers in Carolina history. Hollier, Tommy Thigpen, Eric Gash, Harris, Kerry Mock, Eddie Mason, Morton, James Hamilton, Simmons, Mays and Newman have all earned NFL opportunities after playing under Torbush. Current seniors Spoon, Sedrick Hodge and Merceda Perry should all get the same opportunity in the NFL a year from now.

"Coach Torbush was definitely instrumental in teaching me the skills about being a linebacker," says Hollier. "I owe him a lot and I am very appreciative of the lessons on football and life that he has taught me. Coach Torbush taught us a work ethic that is required in the NFL. Even when you don't have to, you need to be working out or doing something to prepare yourself. We spent a lot of time at Carolina learning the game of football."

In the last 12 years, Carolina has received 41 All-ACC selections on defense, including 18 first-team choices. Carolina placed five defensive players on the 1997 All-ACC first team and three more on the All-ACC second team. That totaled eight of the 11 starters on defense among the top 22 players on defense in the ACC.

Six defenders have received All-America accolades, including first team selections Bracey Walker (safety, 1993), Jones (1995), Bly (1996, 1997 and 1998), Ellis (1997), a finalist for the Lombardi Award, and Simmons (1997).

"Regardless of your athletic ability, Coach Torbush makes sure that every player learns the proper technique," says Simmons. "Then as you get older, he allows you to 'freelance' more within the system and let your athletic ability and aggressiveness make plays. On and off the field, Coach is a straightforward guy. He makes you feel welcome and you trust him and can come talk to him about anything, not just football."

Mays was a finalist for the Butkus Award, which is presented to the nation's top linebacker. That year, Carolina was the only school in the country with four players on the Butkus Award Watch List (Mays, Simmons, Spoon and Newman). A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, Mays made over 100 tackles for three consecutive seasons.

The 1997 defense was one of the finest in Atlantic Coast Conference history. The 209.3 yards allowed per game was the lowest figure by an ACC team since 1963. Other defensive highlights from recent years include:

• Carolina allowed fewer yards per game in five straight seasons. (326.5 in 1992, 322.3 in 1993, 319.3 in 1994, 267.3 in 1995, 225.6 in 1996 and 209.3 in 1997).

• No team scored more than 20 points in a game against UNC in 1996 or 1997.

In 1996, the UNC defense ranked first in the nation in points allowed per game, second in total yards allowed per game and third in pass efficiency defense and run defense. The Tar Heels forced 34 turnovers in the regular season, the fourth-most in the country, and forced West Virginia, which had committed the fewest turnovers in the country, to turn the ball over four times in the Gator Bowl. Carolina allowed just 10.0 points and 225.6 yards per game. Bly (consensus first-team), Simmons (second-team) and Ellis (second-team) earned All-America honors.

In 1995, Torbush had just three returning starters on defense, but fashioned a new, aggressive scheme around a pair of sophomore linebackers – Mays and Simmons – and a dominant frontline led by Jones, Terry and Ellis. Carolina led the ACC and was sixth in the nation in total defense in 1995 as it allowed 267.3 yards per game. It was the first UNC team to lead the circuit in defense in 12 years. Jones earned ACC Defensive Player-of-the-Year honors and consensus All-America honors and broke Lawrence Taylor's career school record for quarterback sacks.

In 1994, Carolina was third in the ACC and 27th in the country in total defense. The Tar Heels were 16th in the nation against the run at just 115.2 yards per contest. All three starting linebackers that year were in NFL camps, including Morton who plays for St. Louis and Eddie Mason, who plays for Jacksonville.

Head Coaching Record: 14-21 (11-13 at North Corolino)

In 1993, the Tar Heels placed seven defensive players on the first-, second- or third-team All-ACC squads after finishing second in the league in total yards. Carolina was seventh in the nation against the run and 21st in total defense. The defensive highlight that year came in UNC's 24-0 shutout win over Clemson as the Tar Heels limited the Tigers to three yards rushing. It was the second time in 14 years that Clemson had been blanked.

The Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State that capped a thrilling 1992 season was led by a defensive stand in which Carolina gave up just three points in the second half. The 1992 Tar Heels were second in the ACC in total defense behind Florida State and 31st in the nation. In 1991, Carolina was 19th in the country against the run and 23rd overall.

In 1990. the Tar Heels set a school record that still stands with 45 quarterback sacks. Hollier and Thigpen both earned All-ACC recognition that year, a season that was highlighted by a fourth quarter goalline stand that forced a tie with eventual co-national champion Georgia Tech.

"That third year here (1990) was when I saw it start to happen," says Torbush. "I saw it in the spring after the second year. As coaches we could see guys like Thigpen, Rondell Jones and Tommy Smith were special. We were recruiting better athletes. The win over Wake Forest in 1990 when we came back from 24-10 down was a key game. After that game we started to feel like we had a chance to win."

Torbush joined Mack Brown's original staff on December 28, 1987, after resigning as head coach at Louisiana Tech. Torbush was 3-8 in his first season as a head coach. He left as a result of a change in administration at the Ruston, La., school, and for the opportunity to coach at Carolina.

He had taken over the Louisiana Tech program after 12 years as an assistant to Billy Brewer at three different schools. He coached linebackers and defensive ends at Southeastern Louisiana from 1976-79, was the assistant head coach and coached linebackers at Louisiana Tech from 1980-82 and was defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at the University of Mississippi from 1983-86.

Torbush spent those 12 years under Brewer alongside Robert Youngblood, currently the head coach and assistant principal at Oxford (Miss.) High School. Youngblood coordinated the defensive staff at SE Louisiana and Louisiana Tech and then switched places with Torbush at Ole Miss.

"If I had a son, Coach Torbush would be the one that I would want to coach him," says Youngblood. "He's a tremendous person. His character and integrity are the best; he is the whole ball of wax.

"I don't think you could pick a better man to run a football program. He's a great motivator, a great tactician and a great teacher. He's just so very thorough and such a hard worker, and that's what it's all about. He does things the right way."

Scott Sharpe

SE Louisiana finished 9-1-1 and was ranked in the Top 10 in Division II in 1976 in his first year as a fulltime assistant coach. Linebacker Calvin Favron went on to play for the St. Louis Cardinals in the NFL.

Torbush also was the head baseball coach at SE Louisiana and was named Gulf South Conference Baseball Coach of the Year in 1978 as he led the Lions to the conference title. The baseball team was 15th in the country in 1978 and 12th in the nation in 1979.

He spent three years in his first stint at Louisiana Tech and helped guide the Bulldogs to the 1982 I-AA semifinals. The Bulldogs were ranked No. 2 in the final I-AA poll in 1982. Torbush coached four linebackers who played in the NFL, including Tank Landry (New Orleans), Andre Young (San Diego), Kenny Williams (Pittsburgh) and Tony Boles.

In his four years as defensive coordinator at Ole Miss, Torbush overhauled the Rebel defense. Ole Miss was last in the Southeastern Conference in total defense his first year in Oxford, but was No. 1 in the SEC in 1986, his final year there. Ron Case, Carolina's defensive backs coach since 1996 and Torbush's position coach in college, rejoined Torbush at Ole Miss. The Rebels played in two bowl games in those four seasons, including the 1983 Independence Bowl, Ole Miss's first postseason appearance in 12 years.

Torbush helped coach a number of outstanding players at Ole Miss, including future NFL standouts Jeff Herrod (Indianapolis), Freddie Joe Nunn (Colts), Wesley Walls (now a tight end with the Carolina Panthers), Tony Bennett (Colts) and Stevon Moore (Baltimore Ravens).

"Carl is a very well organized, very intense guy, a guy who works at it all the time," says Brewer, his boss for a dozen years. "He's a tremendous communicator and a relentless recruiter. This man can coach."

Torbush began his coaching career as assistant football and baseball coach at Carter High School in Knoxville, Tenn., in 1974-75. He resigned after the baseball season to play professional baseball in the Kansas City Royals organization. Torbush was signed by the Royals in February 1975 and played in the midseason All-Star Game with the Royals' Class A franchise in Sarasota, Fla. John Schuerholz, the general manager who constructed the Atlanta Braves in the 1990s, is the executive who signed Torbush to a pro baseball contract. Torbush was teammates with future major leaguer Clint Hurdle. Swing guru Charlie Lau was his batting instructor.

Following the 1975 pro baseball season, Carl and his wife-to-be, Janet Gilbert – who he met at Carson-Newman – hopped into their non-air conditioned 1975 Toyota Corolla and drove from Sarasota to Waco, Texas. Torbush began his college coaching career as a graduate assistant under Grant Teaff at Baylor. He earned his master's degree in physical education and health at Baylor in 1976.

"I've known for a long, long time that Carl would be a Division I-A head coach," says Teaff, who is now the Executive Director of American Football Coaches Association. "I was fortunate to work with him early in his career and it was obvious that he had all the necessary characteristics for becoming a great head coach.

Torbush launched his coaching career after an outstanding playing career at the junior high, high school and collegiate levels.

His father, Carl William Torbush, moved the family from East Spencer, N.C., to Knoxville, Tenn., when Carl Jr. was 11 and one-half years old, midway through his seventh grade year. Carl played most sports as a kid, excelling in baseball and basketball and playing sandlot football. He played organized football for the first time in the eighth grade. He claims his football career began when he was sitting on the front porch with his dad and some ninth graders walked by on the way to practice and asked Carl to join them. He did and has been playing or coaching the sport ever since. The second day of practice he became a center and linebacker and never got a chance to play running back, his dream position.

His junior high coach, Bob Addonizio, made him one of two eighth graders to start on his junior high football team. Although Torbush excelled at a young age in football, baseball and basketball, boyhood friend Randy Wood says his track career actually tells a lot about Torbush's determination.

"When Carl moved to Tennessee everyone thought he was this funny-talking kid from North Carolina," says Wood. "We were in all the same classes together so we became friends and we are still friends to this day. We played a lot of ball together. Carl was a really hard worker. He may not have had as much talent as some kids, but no one worked harder than Carl. He hated to lose, even in practice. We would stay out there practicing until he won. You could tell even back in high school that he was a leader.

"Carl also ran track because we were a really small junior high school. He was a star in football and baseball but in track he ran the 880 and came in last in every meet all year and took a good deal of ribbing for it. But he kept trying and working hard at getting better and in the last meet, the city meet, he finally beat someone. He didn't finish last. I think that was one of his greatest thrills – not finishing last in that city track meet. That just shows you the way he was. Even if he was not very good at something, he would just work harder and harder."

Torbush attended Austin-East High School in Knoxville and played for Coach Bob Polston, who was almost a second father to him. Oddly, he played center on offense and cornerback on defense as a sophomore and junior and led the league in interceptions as a junior with eight. As a senior he moved to linebacker. Polston's teams lost just four games in Torbush's three years.

"If you had a son you would like him to turn out exactly like Carl Torbush," says Polston. "He's one of the finest kids I have ever been associated with. I didn't know he was going to be a football coach, but I was sure he was going to be successful at whatever profession he chose. He's dedicated, intelligent and works at it. Plus he loves the game. He came from a good family."

"His dad, Big Carl, was at every game," recalls Wood. "He would sit back real quiet, but you always knew he was there supporting us. Big Carl was a really good influence on Little Carl."

A multi-sport standout, Torbush had several Division I scholarship offers, but he was holding out for an athletic scholarship from the University of Tennessee. When one didn't come, he attended UT anyway and walked on the football team. He did not play as a freshman, but worked his way up to the second team and even started in the spring game.

The summer after his first year at UT, however, he signed a scholarship to play baseball and football at Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn. He had to sit out the first football season, but played immediately for the baseball team. Not playing in games, however, did nothing to contain his competitive fires.

"His first year he was ineligible to play because he had transferred from Tennessee so he played against the first team," recalls Coach Case, who was linebackers coach under head coach Dal Shealy at Carson-Newman. "Coach Shealy, he's the type who never wants to stop practice until the first team scored. With Carl on the other side, there were a lot of nights we had practice go for a long time."

Dan Sears

Torbush played three years of football and four years of baseball at Carson-Newman and performed so well that he earned first-team All-America honors in both sports and has been inducted into the Carson-Newman and Knoxville Sports Halls of Fames.

Dan Sears

In 1971-72, Torbush received second-team All-America honors as a catcher. In 1972-73, he was named honorable mention All-America as a linebacker and first-team All-America in baseball. In 1973-74, he was first-team NAIA All-America in both sports. He hit .420 as a junior, .454 as a senior and still holds the career batting average record at .401.

One of his teammates at Carson-Newman for two years was Ken Rucker, a linebacker, who is in his third year as Carolina's linebackers coach and special teams coordinator. "Carl was the kind of teammate you could depend on," says Rucker. "Playing alongside him, you never had to worry about the job getting done. He's a friend, but he is also the kind of person I respect because he respects others. I've known him for almost 30 years and I have grown to love him and I am thrilled to get the opportunity to coach here and work alongside him again."

The Eagles lost to East Texas in the NAIA championship game his junior season. East Texas was led by Harvey Martin, who went to star for the Dallas Cowboys. As a senior, Carson-Newman was ranked sixth in the country.

"As a player, Carl was really a playing coach," recounts Coach Shealy. "He was a strong leader on the field who studied the game — he knew all the players' assignments, on both sides of the ball. He was a super competitor. Carl has excellent self-control and he brings his high principles and standards to his coaching."

Torbush has coached defense his entire career, but his admirers do not rest solely on that side of the ball.

"Carl Torbush is an honest, straightforward guy," says former UNC wide receiver Corey Holliday. "He speaks the truth and lives the truth and only good things come from that. He is more than just focus and attitude. There's more to life than football. He wants to know more about you than just football, he wants to get to know you personally and that is what a good coach is all about."

"Coach Torbush has always been one of my favorite coaches," adds former UNC fullback William Henderson. "He's got a personality that works well with the players. I am sure the guys will learn a lot from him. He's one of those guys you just want to play for."

Torbush will turn 49 on October 11. His wife, Janet, has a Ph.D. in education and teaches at Elon College. Their son, Trey, is 10 years old.

GUNTER BREWER

At Marshall, Brewer coached 1997 Biletnikoff Award winner Randy Moss, who has gone on to become of the brightest young stars in the National Football League. His responsibilities at Marshall had been: running backs and recruiting coordinator, 1996; wide receivers and recruiting coordinator, 1997; associate offensive coordinator and wide receivers, 1998; special teams coordinator and wide receivers, 1999.

Brewer, 35, was a two-year letterwinner at wide receiver at Wake Forest, where he earned his degree in science and health sports in 1987. In 1989, he was awarded a master's in education with a specialization in exercise physiology from Mississippi.

A veteran assistant coach who has been with the Tar Heels since 1994, Ken Browning was elevated to defensive coordinator in February 2000. He previously served as Carolina's defensive tackles coach (a role he will still carry in his new position) as well as UNC's summer camp coordinator.

He was twice named the state's high school Coach of the Year at Durham's Northern High School before joining the UNC staff. Browning has brought that formula for success to the Tar Heel program. Browning has developed a number of outstanding tackles, including first-round NFL draft picks Vonnie Holliday and Marcus Jones and second-round picks Rick Terry and Russell Davis. Sports Illustrated selected North Carolina's defensive tackles in its positional "Dream Team" in its 1998 preseason college football issue.

Sherrod Peace, a senior last fall, signed a free agent contract with the Oakland Raiders. Peace's signing continued a streak in which every player Browning has coached at UNC has been drafted by or signed with an NFL franchise.

Holliday was the 19th overall player selected in the 1998 NFL Draft by the Green Bay Packers while Jones was a first-round selection of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1996. Both have gone on to make significant contributions in the NFL. Terry was the first player selected in the second round in 1997 by the New York Jets, Davis was a second-round pick of the Chicago Bears in 1999, and Andre Purvis was a fifth round pick in 1997 by the Bengals. Also, Riddick Parker has played fours years with Seattle and Nate Hobgood-Chittick was one of three former Tar Heels to win a Super Bowl ring last year with the St. Louis Rams. Hobgood-Chittick originally signed a free agent contract with the N.Y. Giants as a rookie in 1998.

Holliday had 13 tackles for losses, including five quarterback sacks, as a senior. With Green Bay, he was runnerup in voting for the 1998 NFC Defensive Rookie of the Year.

Jones earned first-team All-America honors, was the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year and set the school record for quarterback sacks in 1995.

The Tar Heels led the ACC in total defense from 1995-97 and finished No. 2 in the nation in yards allowed in 1996 and 1997. The Tar Heels were third in the country against the run in 1996 allowing 73.9 yards per game. In 1997, Carolina was fourth in the nation stopping the run as the opponents averaged 77.9 yards per contest. UNC held opponents to less than 50 yards rushing in six games and less than 100 yards in nine of 12 games.

Browning was the head coach and athletic director at Northern High School for 18 years. He posted a 178-35 record and won the 1993 4-A state title and Shrine Bowl. Over his last three years, Northern built a 43-2 record and was named the North Carolina Coach of the Year by the Associated Press in 1992 and 1993. In 1988 he was elected as first president of the North Carolina Football Coaches Association. He became only the third coach to win both the state title and Shrine Bowl in the same year.

Browning was the coach at Ledford High in Thomasville from 1970-75.

Recruiting Areas: Piedmont and Northeast North Carolina, Southeast and Central Virginia.

ROBBIE CALDWELL

Offensive Line • 1st Year at UNC • Furman '76

Robbie Caldwell joined the Tar Heel football staff in December 1999 as offensive line coach.

Caldwell, a native of Pageland, S.C., had coached the offensive line at NC State University since 1986, and from 1997-99 had the added responsibility of assistant head coach under former Wolfpack head coach Mike O'Cain.

Caldwell coached 14 first- or second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference lineman at NC State, and he helped direct six of the top 10 total offenses in Wolfpack history.

Caldwell has coached in nine bowl games in his career, including the 1986 Peach Bowl, the 1988 Peach Bowl, the 1989 Copper Bowl, the 1990 All American Bowl, the 1991 Peach Bowl, the 1992 Gator Bowl, the 1993 Hall of Fame Bowl, the 1994 Peach Bowl and the 1998 Micron PC Bowl. He also coached in the 1997 Blue-Gray Classic.

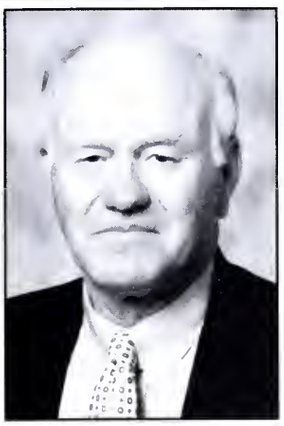
RON CASE

Defensive Secondary • 5th Year at UNC • Carson-Newman '73



Defensive backs coach Ron Case is in his fifth year at Carolina and is credited with bringing an aggressive , man-to-man coverage scheme to the Tar Heel secondary.

Carolina's consecutive Top 10 national finishes in 1996 and 1997 were led by its stifling defensive unit, one that finished second in the nation in total defense in each of those years. Case's secondary unit played a large role in that success and his teams led their respective conferences in pass efficiency defense for three consecutive seasons from 1995-97 (including one season at LSU).

Under Case's tutelage, cornerback Dre' Bly became the most decorated football player in UNC history and among the most honored players in ACC annals. Bly, a second-round pick in the 1999 NFL Draft by the St. Louis Rams and a key player during the Rams' drive to the Super Bowl last year, is the only football player in ACC history to earn first-team All-America honors in three different seasons. Bly set the alltime ACC record with 20 interceptions.

In 1996-97, cornerbacks Robert Williams and Bly and safeties Omar Brown and Greg Williams formed one of the nation's top secondaries. Robert Williams, a fifth-round selection by the Kansas City Chiefs in the 1998 NFL Draft, broke up 36 passes in his last two seasons and was a first-team All-ACC pick in 1997. Brown anchored UNC's defense that finished No. 1 in the ACC and No. 3 in the nation in pass efficiency defense in 1996 and 1997. Brown was selected in the fourth round by the Atlanta Falcons in the 1998 draft.

Over those two seasons, Carolina intercepted 38 passes and allowed 15 touchdowns in 24 games. Carolina allowed just 209.3 total yards per game in 1997, the lowest figure allowed by an ACC defense since 1963.

Case has also overseen the development of Billy-Dee Greenwood, who set a UNC record for most tackles in a season by a defensive back last year with 118, and Errol Hood, who emerged as an All-ACC candidate last year with a breakout sophomore season.

Case came to Carolina from LSU, where the Tigers were first in the Southeastern Conference in pass defense in 1995. He spent six years at both Vanderbilt and Ole Miss and coached UNC defensive coordinator Carl Torbush at Carson-Newman.

He spent 13 years in the U.S. Marines after high school and played 11 years of football in the Corps. In 1969, while an undergraduate, he was the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Carson-Newman.

In 1977, he coached defensive backs at West Texas State. The Buffaloes won the Missouri Valley title behind a defense that led the league in every statistical category. West Texas picked off 22 passes that year.

He was the head coach at his alma mater in 1978-79 and the assistant head coach and defensive coordinator at Richmond from 1980-82.

Case and his wife, Joan, have five grandchildren – R.J. (9), Luke (6), Jane Costner (6), Madison (4) and Sarah Catherine (4).

DARRELL MOODY

Running Backs/Recruiting Coordinator • 11th Year at UNC • NC State '70

ACC veteran Darrell Moody coaches the running backs and coordinates the Tar Heels' recruiting efforts. He coached UNC's wide receivers the past two seasons before moving back to the position he coached from 1990-95 for the Tar Heels.

Moody spent eight years at Carolina from 1988-95 in various capacities on the offensive staff, including offensive coordinator, quarterbacks coach and running backs coach. He was a part of four consecutive bowl game appearances at Carolina from 1992-95 and coached record-setting standouts such as Natrone Means, Leon Johnson and Curtis Johnson as well as UNC stars WR Corey Holliday and QB Jason Stanicek.

Moody returned to Carolina in 1998 after seasons at Clemson and NC State. He coached UNC record-setting senior wide receivers Na Brown and L.C. Stevens and developed Kory Bailey into one of the league's top rookies two years ago. Brown had 55 receptions to equal his own single-season school record, but added nearly 300 yards on those receptions. Bailey had a UNC freshman record 37 receptions.

The 2000 season will be Moody's 28th as a collegiate coach and his 19th at an ACC institution. The Asheboro, N.C., native played quarterback at NC State from 1968-70 and began his coaching career at Asheboro High in 1971. He has made coaching stops at NC State (graduate assistant in 1973-74, defensive backs coach in 1976, quarterbacks and running backs coach from 1977-79, wide receivers in 1997), Southern Mississippi (quarterbacks and running backs in 1975), LSU (running backs from 1980-83), Appalachian State (assistant head coach in 1984), Tulane (offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach from 1985-87), North Carolina (1988-95), Clemson (offensive coordinator in 1996) and NC State (wide receivers in 1997).

Moody has the unique distinction of coaching two of the top six career running backs at three different universities. He coached Ted Brown and Billy Ray Vickers at NC State, Dalton Hilliard and Garry James at LSU and Leon Johnson and Means at Carolina.

He coached four 1,000-yard backs (Kennard Martin in 1988, Means in 1991 and 1992, Curtis Johnson in 1993 and Leon Johnson in 1993) and 13 offensive players received first-team All-ACC honors. UNC set a single-season passing yardage record in 1995.

Thirteen former Tar Heels who played in offenses he coordinated in Chapel Hill played in the NFL, including running backs Torin Dorn, Eric Blount, Means, Leon Johnson and William Henderson, wide receivers Corey Holliday and Bucky Brooks, tight ends Deems May, Greg DeLong, Oscar Sturgis and Freddie Jones and offensive linemen Darrell Hamilton, Kevin Donnalley and Brian Bollinger.

Means rushed for 1,000 yards twice and went on to lead the San Diego Chargers to the Super Bowl. Leon Johnson became the career all-purpose yardage leader in ACC history. Henderson never earned all-conference honors at Carolina, but fundamentally was one of the top fullbacks in the ACC. Henderson has started the last three years for the Green Bay Packers.

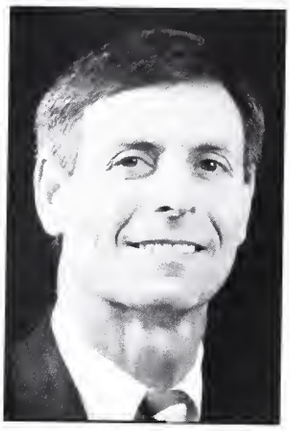
MIKE O'CAIN

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks • 1st Year at UNC • Clemson '76



Mike O'Cain joined Carolina on Dec. 21, 1999, after a seven-year run as head football coach at NC State University and 14 years overall with the Wolfpack. A highly regarded recruiter and offensive football mind, he serves as UNC's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

After serving from 1986-92 as NC State's quarterbacks coach, O'Cain guided NCSU to a 41-40 record and three bowl appearances as head coach from 1993-99.

In O'Cain's first season as NC State's head coach, he led the Wolfpack to a 7-4 regular-season record and a berth in the Hall of Fame Bowl to face Michigan. He was the only rookie head coach to take his team to a bowl game that season.

In 1994, O'Cain led the Pack to a school-record-tying nine wins, including a 28-24 win over Mississippi State in that season's Peach Bowl. Only Lou Holtz, who served as NC State's head coach from 1972-75, posted more wins in his first two season's than O'Cain's 16, while his 10 ACC wins during that time frame are the best ever for an NCSU coach in his first two seasons.

After back-to-back 3-8 campaigns in Raleigh, O'Cain's 1997 Wolfpack team was 6-5. In a 1998 season that saw NC State upset then-second-ranked Florida State, O'Cain's team posted a 7-5 record and led the ACC in passing yards and total offense, both of which were also school bests. Torry Holt, a consensus All-America pick and now a star with the NFL's St. Louis Rams, led the league and set a new conference career record for receiving yards as a part of that team which closed the season at the Micron PC Bowl.

Peyton Williams

O'Cain has also enjoyed coaching stints at Clemson (1977, graduate assistant/running backs), The Citadel (1978-80, offensive backfield), Murray State (1981-84, assistant head coach/offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach) and East Carolina (1985, assistant head coach).

As a player, O'Cain had an outstanding prep career at Orangeburg-Wilkinson High School. In his senior season, he led the team to a perfect 13-0 record, the state 4-A title and a No. 12 national ranking. While at Orangeburg-Wilkinson High, O'Cain was named the 4-A South Carolina Back of the Year, all-state and All-America. He was the starting quarterback for the 1971 Shrine Bowl, where he teamed with Robbie Caldwell, UNC's offensive line coach.

O'Cain continued his stellar play at Clemson, where he lettered from 1974-76. He was the team's MVP and co-captain as a senior. O'Cain earned a B.S. in recreation and parks administration from Clemson in 1977.

An Orangeburg, S.C., native, O'Cain is married to the former Nancy Farnum. They have two daughters, Jenny and Lizzi.

Recruiting Areas: Charlotte and Gastonia, N.C., Eastern South Carolina, Western Florida.

KEN RUCKER

Linebackers/Special Teams Coordinator • 3rd Year at UNC • Carson-Newman '76

Ken Rucker is in his third year at Carolina. He coaches linebackers and coordinates all special team play.

Rucker recently was named chairman for the assistant coaches of the American Football Coaches Association. He joins the AFCA on the Board of Trustees with Executive Director Grant Teaff.

Under Rucker's tutelage, Brian Schmitz became one of the nation's finest punters over the past two seasons. Schmitz was named a 1999 first-team All-America by The Sporting News and he finished his career with an ACC and UNC record 44.4 yards per kick. He was a second-team All-ACC selection in 1998 and a first-teamer last year. He signed as a free agent with the New York Giants.

Schmitz and Derrick Depriest combined to establish an NCAA single-season record for punting average at 47.7 yards.

Rucker also oversaw the development of Josh McGee into one of the nation's top place kickers. McGee led the ACC in field goal percentage in 1999 and he tied a league record with six field goals versus Duke.

Schmitz and Rucker's special teams unit played a big role in Carolina's 1998 Las Vegas Bowl win. The Tar Heels recovered a blocked punt for a touchdown in UNC's 20-13 win over San Diego State and Schmitz was a standout in the windy conditions, as he was later named to Sports Illustrated's All-Bowl Team.

Carolina's special teams also played a key role in UNC's 38-31 win at Wake Forest in 1998, where the Tar Heels recovered a blocked punts for a key touchdown in the win.

Carolina returned a pair of kickoffs for touchdowns in 1998, including a 100-yarder by Tyrell Godwin against Stanford and a 95-yarder return by Kory Bailey against Georgia Tech. That was the first time in school history UNC returned two for scores in one season. Godwin led the ACC in kickoff return average. The Tar Heels were third in the league in kickoff returns and fourth in punt returns.

Rucker is a 1976 graduate of Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn. He played linebacker at Carson-Newman alongside Torbush under defensive coordinator Ron Case, the Tar Heels' secondary coach. He spent four years as the running backs coach at Texas A&M.

Rucker, a native of Morristown, Tenn., has been an assistant coach at the collegiate level for the past 23 years. North Carolina was his seventh college appointment.

He earned all-conference honors in each of his four seasons at Carson-Newman and led the Eagles to the 1972 NAIA championship game. His first coaching stops were as defensive coordinator at Cawood High in Kentucky in 1976 and Crockett High in Tennessee in 1977-78.

He coached the defensive line at Appalachian State from 1979-81, outside linebackers at Richmond in 1982-83, and running backs at Air Force (1984-89), Arkansas (1990-92), Baylor (1993) and Texas A&M (1994-97). He has coordinated several areas of special teams for 11 years and was the assistant head coach at Baylor in 1993. Rucker has coached in eight bowl games, including the 1998 Cotton Bowl. Leeland McElroy, now with the Denver Broncos, was one of his top players at Texas A&M.

Rucker is married to the former Nancy Sue Davis of New Market, Tenn. The couple has one daughter, Kenny Lynette, 28. Rucker has worked with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes for many years and is a member of its Board of Trustees.

DONNIE THOMPSON

Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Ends • 12th Year at UNC • Connecticut '75

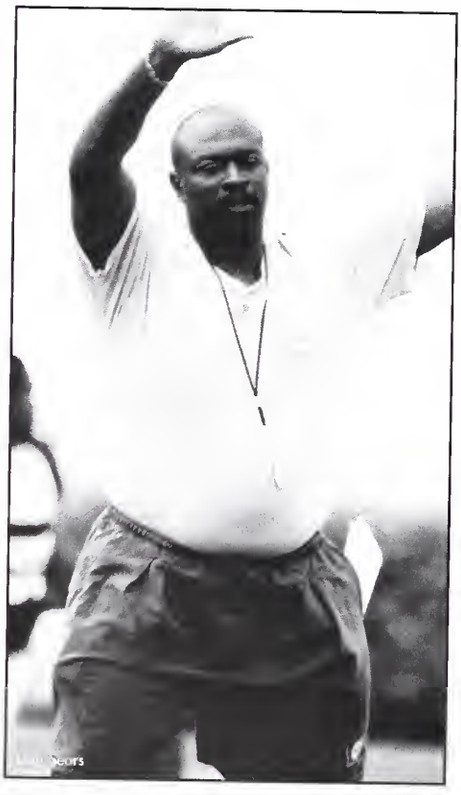
Donnie Thompson enters his 12th season with the Tar Heels. The second-most tenured coach at Carolina, Thompson coaches the defensive ends and is the assistant head coach.

Last year, Julius Peppers was named a freshman All-America by The Sporting News after a stellar first year at defensive end for the Tar Heels. Peppers led the team in tackles for losses.

In both 1998 and 1999, the Dallas Cowboys selected one of Thompson's defensive end proteges in the first round of the NFL Draft. First-team All-ACC end Ebenezer Ekuban joined first-team All-America Greg Ellis as Cowboys draftees. Ekuban set the UNC single-season record in 1998 with 23 tackles for losses in just his second season playing the position.

Ellis was a 1998 first-round draft pick and the eighth overall player selected by the Dallas Cowboys. Ellis earned consensus first-team All-America honors in 1997 by the Associated Press, the Walter Camp Foundation, the American Football Coaches and Football News. He also set the all-time UNC quarterback sack record with 32.5 and is one of just four Tar Heels to receive first-team All-ACC honors three times. Ellis was a finalist for the Lombardi Award which is given to the nation's top lineman.

The Tar Heels led the ACC in total defense in 1995-97 and finished No. 2 in the nation in yards allowed per game in 1996 and 1997. The Tar Heels were third in the country against the run in 1996 allowing 73.9 yards per game. In 1997, Carolina was fourth in the nation stopping the run as the opponents averaged 77.9 yards per contest.



Thompson coached Marcus Jones en route to the UNC career quarterback sack record in 1992-95, a mark Ellis topped in 1997. When Jones broke the sack record in 1995, the year he earned consensus first-team All-America honors, he topped the mark held by Lawrence Taylor. Taylor's standard had held for 16 years prior to Jones and Ellis. Jones was a first-round draft pick of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1996.

Thompson began his coaching career at Carolina by coaching the outside linebackers. He coached Bernardo Harris, a second-team All-ACC linebacker in 1993 and a member of the 1997 Super Bowl champion Green Bay Packers. Thompson coached NFL players Chris Doleman at the University of Pittsburgh and Robert Jones at ECU.

Thompson also coaches the punt block unit. Bracey Walker was named Sports Illustrated's Special Teams Player of Year in 1993 as a result of his four blocked punts. In 1997, the Tar Heels blocked five punts and scored three touchdowns on blocked punts, including game-breakers in wins over Stanford and Virginia Tech.

In 1998, Carolina recovered blocked punts for touchdowns in the 38-31 win at Wake Forest and the 20-13 win over San Diego State in the Las Vegas Bowl.

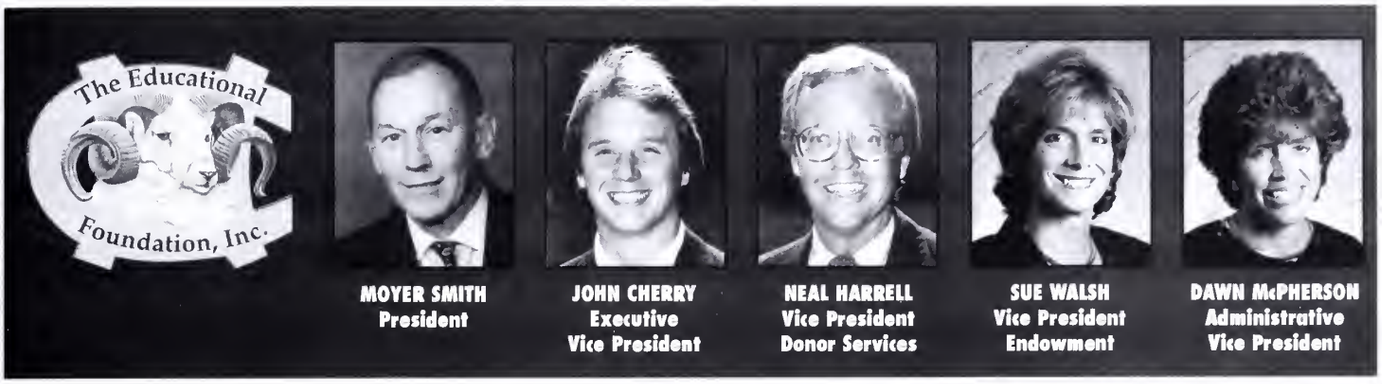
EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION



What is the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus and holds a status comparable to the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation and other fund-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 7,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 will be awarded scholarships during the 2000-01 school year at a cost of more than $5 million.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($100) — Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $100 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system; gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games; participate in football ticket exchanges; qualify for mini-season basketball ticket packages; purchase group travel packages; receive the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) — In addition to that above, a Ram donor has the opportunity to receive football and basketball media guides and participate in basketball ticket exchanges.

Rameses ($375) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of two season football tickets; additional tickets may be purchased, location subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($750) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of four season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,500) — In addition to the benefits received at the Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase and maintain the assigned location of up to eight season football tickets and receive an assigned parking space.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $50,000 and $100,000 endowed scholarships which may be set up through various giving vehicles. (Note: These levels will increase to $75,000 and $150,000, respectively, on 1/1/2001.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 45 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet at least once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The Foundation's outside officers include a Chairman, three Vice-Chairmen, a Secretary, Treasurer, Counsel and Past Chairman. These officers, together with the at-large members, comprise the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is the decision-making body of the Educational Foundation and reports its actions to the Board of Directors.

The leadership within the Foundation office is provided by Moyer G. Smith. He is in his 14th year as President. He was appointed to the position in December 1986. There are also four vice-presidents within the office: John D. Cherry, Executive Vice-President; Neal B. Harrell, V.P. for Donor Services; Sue Walsh, V.P. for Endowment; and Dawn D. How Can As Little As $100 Pay Big Returns?

When It's Invested In Carolina Student-Athletes Through Donations To The Educational Foundation

When you make a contribution to The Educational Foundation, you are not only supporting world-class athletics, but you are also ensuring the future contributions of our student-athletes to society. The far-reaching benefits of your annual donation - even as little as $100 - are impossible to measure in tangible criteria, but you can rest assured every donation pays big returns.

Because UNC ranks nationally in graduating its student-athletes, who go on to pursue professions in a wide variety of fields, your donations are not just going toward the athletic contributions a student might make while at UNC. Rather, your donations enhance the overall academic achievements of many gifted students while they represent our university at the top level of intercollegiate athletic competition.

The Educational Foundation, founded over 60 years ago, now supports 400 student-athletes in 25 varsity sports at UNC. Today's scholarship costs total over $5 million annually, and The Foundation is the only source of funds for these scholarships. If it weren't for the generous support of donors such as you, many gifted student-athletes would not receive the opportunity to obtain a superb education at one of the nation's great academic institutions. Consider your donation a wise investment!

You Also Receive Dividends As A Donor. Yearly donations to The Educational Foundation assist not only the men and women who receive athletic scholarships, but also the donors and their families. The following dividends are available at the Little Ram ($100-$149) level of giving:

- An opportunity to purchase season football tickets in Kenan Stadium.
- An opportunity to purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages.
- Access to the Ram's Room in Kenan Fieldhouse.
- Tickets to annual Super Saturday lunch featuring UNC's head basketball and football coaches.
- Invitations to other functions featuring Carolina coaches.
- Priority for tickets and group travel to away football games.
- Invitations to Foundation golf tournaments.
- Car decals, donor card, and the RamPage newsletter.

ANNUAL GIVING LEVELS:

Little Ram ($100-$149)

Ram ($150-$374)

Rameses ($375-$749)

Big Ram ($750-$1,499)

Super Ram ($1,500-or more)

Remember, each additional annual giving level offers even more tangible dividends. If you have any questions, please call The Educational Foundation at (919) 945-2000.

The New Your Help

SOFTBALL COMPLEX IS CRITICAL

What Is Needed

Funds raised for the new softball complex will allow us to put in place a new playing field, a practice field, dugouts, fencing, and batting cages. In order to complete one of the nations finest softball facilities, we need permanent stands for 1,000, a press box, concessions, public restrooms, and a team building with a locker room and coaches' offices. This is where we need your help.

This type of complex will provide the UNC Softball team with a facility that mirrors the high quality facilities already established and available to student-athletes in other intercollegiate sports programs at the University. Just as important, this facility will hold its own against the complexes at other schools in the conference and across the nation.

A superior complex such as this will help greatly in attracting the country's top collegiate softball players, as well as in giving the program the potential for national recognition. The design will also allow UNC the opportunity to host NCAA regional and championship softball tournaments.

Complete the Vision

Your gift will be used to complete the items on the deferred list in the order in which they are presented. Only those items for which we raise the funds can be completed.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT PROGRAM

The Academic Support Program assists student-athletes in successfully reaching their academic goals. The program supports students in the process of exploring their interests and abilities and in developing a broad academic experience.

The mission of the Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes is to provide programs and services integrated with the University community that will address the individual needs of a diverse group of students. These programs and services are designed to promote personal growth and responsibility, to inspire educational excellence and an appreciation for the academic experience, and to culminate in graduation and fulfillment of lifelong goals.

Located primarily in the Pope Academic Support Center, the program opened its doors in 1986. It is equipped with study facilities, a foreign language lab, tutorial rooms, a computer lab, a 128-seat auditorium, counselor's offices, and state-of-the-art video and computer equipment. Students meet with staff to discuss issues related to course selection, major and career exploration, academic progress and academic eligibility.

In the 1999-2000 academic year, 246 student-athletes made the ACC Academic Honor Roll which requires at least a 3.0 cumulative GPA for the year. In the fall,1999, 146 made the Dean's List and 112 student-athletes did so during the spring 2000 semester. Ninety four student-athletes graduated during the 1999-2000 academic year.

"We have an athletic program with our priorities in line with the fundamental academic mission of the University," says Athletic Director Dick Baddour. "Our young people are students first and athletes second and that will always be the case at the University. That is a credit to our coaches, administrators, support staff, but most of all, our student-athletes. Their accomplishments in the classroom are very impressive."

The staff consists of Assistant Athletic Director and Program Director Dr. Janice Hilliard, Associate Directors Burgess McSwain and Mercer, Assistant Directors Susan Berner, Dr. Carl Carey and Dr. Kathy Parker, Academic Counselor Marisa Marucci and Administrative Assistant Doug Roberts. They serve approximately 725 student-athletes, planning academic and life skill programming designed to help the student-athlete maximize his or her academic and extracurricular activities.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH PROGRAM

For years, the Carolina football team has played a special role in keeping alive a tradition at the University of North Carolina of student-athletes giving back to the community.

Carolina Outreach, a part of the ACC Outreach Program, is an organization of Tar Heel athletes dedicated to improving the lives of the residents of the town of Chapel Hill and the state of North Carolina. Assistant Athletic Director for Community Relations John Lotz has headed up the Outreach program since its inception 10 years ago.

"The athletes are very receptive to the program," Lotz says. "We get a very high caliber of student-athletes around here. They enjoy giving back."

Last fall, a number of UNC athletes participated in the Juvenile Diabetes Walk-A-Thon at Research Triangle Park. The football team raised more than $1,300 for the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation through the Walk-A-Thon, more than any other athletic team on campus, and UNC athletes raised nearly $5,000 overall at the event.

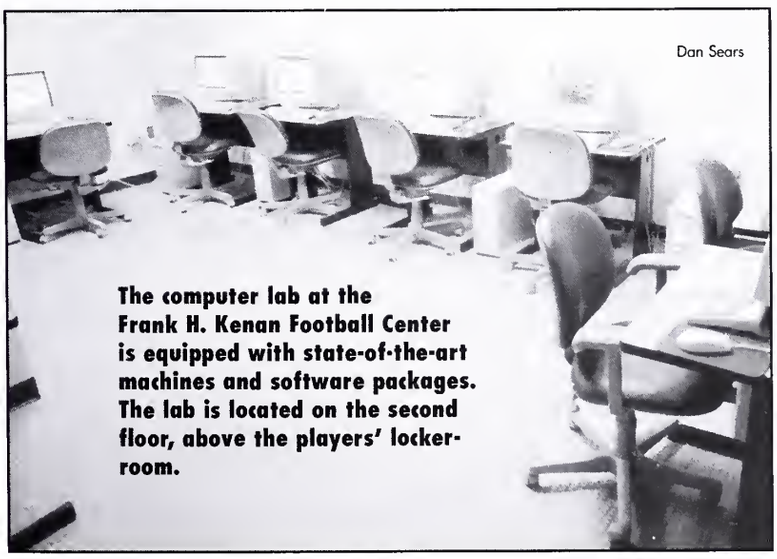
"As athletes we receive a lot of support and fanfare from our fans and the community," says quarterback Luke Huard. "I think it's our responsibility to give back and not forget all those people who are less fortunate and have real needs."

The Walk-A-Thon is just one of the many community activities participated in by Carolina Outreach and the football program. Other Outreach sponsored programs include a Read-A-Thon at Frank Porter Graham Elementary School, visits to the Ronald McDonald House in Chapel Hill, the UNC Dance Marathon and a Sunday afternoon playday at the orphanage in Oxford. Outreach is also involved in the Reading Is Fundamental program at local elementary and high schools.

The football team is also one of the many University athletic teams to make weekly visits to the Pediatric Playroom at UNC Hospitals during the season.

"Making a difference off the field has always been very important to me," says tight end Dauntae' Finger, who was a participant in the NCAA Leadership Conference last May. "I'm very thankful for the gifts I have, so I feel priviledged to have the opportunity to make a difference in other people's lives.

"As athletes at the University of North Carolina, we have a real opportunity to make a big impact on the community that provides so much to us every day."



Dan Sears

The computer lab at the Frank H. Kenan Football Center is equipped with state-of-the-art machines and software packages. The lab is located on the second floor, above the players' locker-room.

The Academic Support center is open from 8 a.m. to midnight five days a week and from 7:30 p.m. to midnight on Sundays. Visitors are welcome to tour the facility during afternoon hours.

In addition to the facilities at the Pope Academic Center, the Kenan Football Center offers a full computer lab and study areas for the more than 100 student-athletes on the football team. The computer labs are equipped with new computers and laser printers complete with a variety of software packages, including word processing, spreadsheets, CD-ROM reference materials, tutorials, internet access and e-mail capability.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

The First State University

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has earned a worldwide reputation for vital teaching, cutting-edge research and distinguished public service.

Carolina was the first state university to open its doors and the nation's only public university to award degrees in the 18th century. Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, UNC was chartered in 1789. The cornerstone for Old East, the nation's first state university building, was laid Oct.12, 1793. On Jan.15, 1795, UNC admitted its first student.

Now in its third century, UNC belongs to the select group of 61 campuses forming the Association of American Universities. UNC's academic offerings span more than 100 fields, including 53 bachelor's, 79 master's and 61 doctoral degrees as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and law. Five health schools -- which, with UNC Hospitals, comprise one of the nation's most complete academic medical centers -- are integrated with liberal arts, basic sciences and high-tech academic programs.

Alumni include writers Thomas Wolfe and Jill McCorkle; athletes Michael Jordan, Vince Carter, Mia Hamm and Marion Jones; and journalists Roger Mudd and Charles Kuralt. Others include former White House Chief of Staff Erskine Bowles; President James Polk; geneticist Francis Collins; actors Jack Palance, George Grizzard and Andy Griffith, as well as actresses Louise Fletcher and Sharon Lawrence; editorial cartoonist Jeff MacNelly; banker Hugh McColl; and fashion designer Alexander Julian. Carolina's 227,233 alumni reside in all 50 states and around the world.

Recent National Rankings

- U.S. News and World Report's 1999 "Annual Guide to America's Best Colleges" ranked UNC fifth among the nation's top public universities and among the top 25 public and private campuses in selectivity, based on the proportion of students admitted to the number who applied.
- U.S. News also ranked 43 graduate degree programs and specialty areas at UNC among the top 25 nationwide, in April 2000. The magazine rated programs in the schools of business, education, law, medicine and nursing, and master's and doctoral programs in the College of Arts and Sciences and other units. Several schools, degree programs and specialty areas were in the top 10.
- The Fiske Guide to Colleges in 1999 called UNC one of the 21 public universities that were the "best college buys" for 2000. Such schools offer "remarkable educational opportunities at a relatively modest cost."
- Newsweek magazine listed UNC among "first-rate schools" because of academics, a beautiful campus and highly ranked sports teams.
- Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine rated UNC first among state universities, calling it "a place where high achievers are in good company."

Location

The 729-acre central campus includes the two oldest state university buildings, Old East Residence Hall and Person Hall. Old East and Playmakers Theatre, an 1852 Greek-revival building, are National Historic Landmarks. In 1999, the American Society of Landscape Architects named the UNC campus one of the 22 most beautifully landscaped college sites. UNC helps anchor the Research Triangle Park, which has spurred the state's economic growth.

Students

Some 24,635 students from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and more than 100 countries studied at UNC in fall 1999. Sixty-two percent enrolled as undergraduates, 29 percent in graduate programs and 9 percent in professional programs.

UNC students have a long tradition of outstanding achievement. Thirty-five have been awarded the Rhodes Scholarship since it was created in 1902, including the first U.S. black woman recipient. Twelve UNC students have won the Rhodes since 1980.

UNC students regularly win other prestigious merit awards in the United States and abroad. In 2000, UNC posted nine such winners: two Luce Scholars funded by the Henry Luce Foundation; one of 79 scholars the Harry Truman Scholarship Foundation chose nationwide; two of 11 Churchill Scholarships to England's University of Cambridge; two Morris K. Udall

Scholars; and two of 309 Goldwater Scholars.

Academics

With a requirement that all freshmen in fall 2000 own laptop computers, UNC aims to produce graduates with both the brainpower and the technical savvy required for success in the 21st century.

The requirement is part of the Carolina Computing Initiative, a campuswide technology plan to enhance teaching, learning and research. UNC-CH is believed to be the first university among those classified as "Research I" by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching to require undergraduates to own laptops as part of a comprehensive technology plan.

UNC spent 1999-2000 enhancing scholarly opportunities available to undergraduates, especially freshmen. Carolina offered 65 freshman seminars averaging about 15 students each and taught by outstanding senior faculty. Designed to develop critical thinking, writing and speaking skills, the seminars are being phased in over four years until all freshmen participate.

More academic advisers, a new undergraduate research office and the opening of the James M. Johnston Center for Undergraduate Excellence were among other academic highlights. Housed in the newly renovated Graham Memorial Building, the Johnston Center united under one roof the honors program, Carolina Leadership Development, scholarly fellowship programs and other entities that enrich undergraduate education.

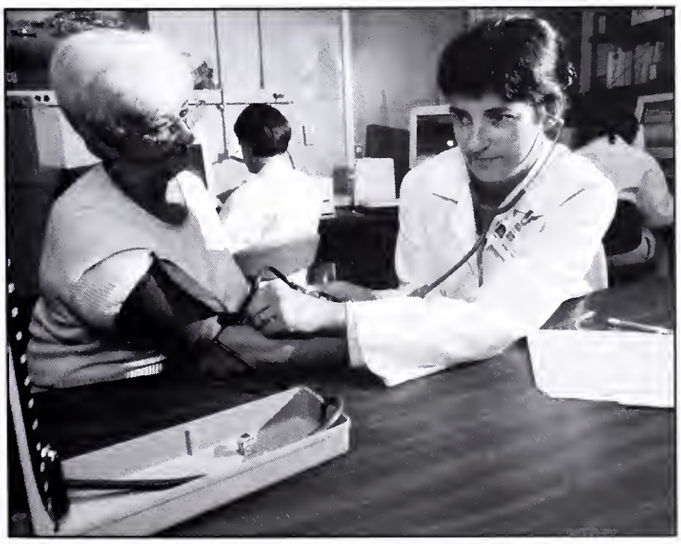
Fund raising helped enhance academics. In 1999, UNC marked its ninth straight record year for private giving by raising $148 million. The Council for the Advancement and Support of Education presented its 2000 Circle of Excellence Award for Overall Educational Fund- Raising Performance to Carolina, the only public campus to win six times. Gifts created scholarships and professorships, purchased library collections and benefited academic units.

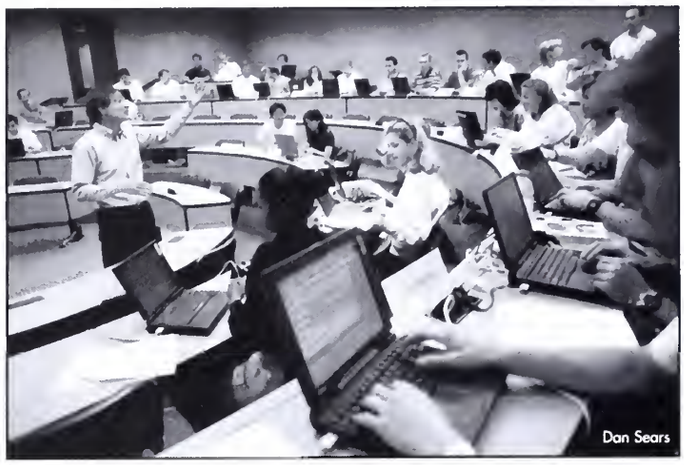
Faculty

Carolina's 2,600-member faculty includes professors who hold major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional association. Among current professors, nine are members of the National Academy of Sciences, 20 of the academy's Institute of Medicine, five of the National Academy of Engineering and 23 of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Fred Brooks, founder of the computer science department, received the Association for Computing Machinery's A.M. Turning Award, which is considered the Nobel Prize of computing and honors landmark contributions to computer architecture, operating systems and software engineering.

Dan Sears





Dan Sears

Jacquelyn Hall, founder of the Southern Oral History Project, won a 1999 National Humanities Medal for helping preserve access to resources in the humanities.

Joe DeSimone, Kenan professor of chemistry, received the 1999 Phi Lambda Upsilon Fresenius Award, becoming the first N.C. scientist to receive the national honor. Basic science and engineering applications he developed use carbon dioxide as a replacement for water and organic solvents in synthetic and manufacturing processes.

Pediatrics Professor Mel Levine has pioneered efforts to understand why children learn differently. In 1999, All Kinds of Minds, a non-profit institute affiliated with UNC and founded by Levine, received a $10 million challenge grant from Charles R. Schwab and his wife, Helen, to promote greater awareness of learning differences nationally.

Economics Professor Steven Rosefielde was among a dozen researchers in the first class of Carnegie Scholars, selected for innovative scholarship and policy research. He will receive up to $100,000 from the Carnegie Corp. for a project on arms control in Russia.

Research

In 1998-99, UNC topped the $344 million mark -- a new university record -- for contracts and grants awarded for research, teaching and public service. Faculty received $171 million in National Institutes of Health research funding, ranking 14th all universities and fifth among publics. NIH is the federal government's biomedical research arm.

In 1999, UNC disclosed 116 new inventions by faculty. Forty-one patents were awarded, and 70 inventions licensed for commercial development. Applying their inventions and their know-how for economic growth, current and former UNC faculty, staff and students have helped create 21 new companies employing more than 12,500 people. Those start-up companies include Alphavàx, Inspire Pharmaceuticals Inc., MiCell Technologies Inc. and Xanthon Inc.

MiCell founder Joe DeSimone and his UNC chemistry students developed technology that spurred DuPont to expand its Bladen County site with construction of a $40 million Teflon development and manufacturing facility. Upon demonstration of the new technology, the company plans to build a world-scale facility representing a total $275 million investment.

Entreprenurial initiative is among the reasons UNC was one of 16 universities listed as the best nationwide in contributing to state and local economic development in a recent report by the Southern Growth Policies Board's Southern Technology Council.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

PUBLIC SERVICE: UNC'S public service activities extend to every region of North Carolina. Members of the Tar Heel Bus Tour, a five-day tour of the state by UNC faculty and administrators, are pictured above on their visit to Grifton, N.C., after Hurricane Floyd.

In the battle against cancer, about 210 faculty work at the Lineberger Cancer Center, one of 26 National Cancer Institute-designated comprehensive cancer centers nationwide. Faculty from all five health schools and the College of Arts and Sciences collaborate on center projects in laboratory, clinical and public health science.

Using genetic engineering techniques, UNC medical researchers have bred mice that help them better understand and treat deadly diseases and health conditions. UNC is building upon this and other strengths by starting a new genetics department and genomics initiative with a four-year, $2.6 million grant from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

UNC scientists are national leaders among those using sophisticated atomic-scale research techniques called nanotechnology, which may help guide efforts to manipulate viruses and DNA. Team members work with a device they invented called the nanoManipulator, which combines an atomic force microscope with a force-feedback virtual reality system.

Educational and Cultural Resources

From the Ackland Art Museum to the North Carolina Botanical Garden, Carolina offers an array of educational and cultural opportunities.

The Ackland exhibits from a permanent collection of more than 14,000 works of art, particularly rich in Old Master paintings and sculptures by artists including Degas, Rubens and Pissarro; Indian miniatures; Japanese paintings; and North Carolina folk art.

Besides its displays of native and unusual plants and its nature trails, open year-round, the Botanical Garden offers art exhibits, nature walks and courses on topics ranging from home gardening to botanical illustration.

Professional theater also has a permanent place at Carolina through the PlayMakers Repertory Company. And the Carolina Union Performing Arts Series has sponsored shows by artists including Bobby McFerrin, Stomp and Dance Theater of Harlem.

Astronomy enthusiasts enjoy programs at the Morehead Planetarium while student, faculty and professional ensembles perform classical and choral music and jazz. Wilson Library's North Carolina Collection, Rare Book Room and Southern Historical Collection draw researchers from near and far. And the William and Ida Friday Center for Continuing Education offers a site for conferences, workshops and institutes plus courses in classrooms and via the Internet for part-time students.

Public Service

UNC's public service programs reach every region of North Carolina, helping communities protect public health, improve schools and medical services, stimulate business, plan for growth, understand their heritage and enrich the quality of life.

Launched in 1999, the new Carolina Center for Public Service coordinates and catalyzes campus outreach activities around the state. Immediately after opening last fall, the center mobilized UNC's efforts to help Eastern North Carolina recover from Hurricane Floyd, sending volunteers by bus to help in damaged areas.

Students and faculty in all schools volunteered time and expertise to help flood victims and officials in damaged areas. Efforts ranged from staffing makeshift clinics to helping obtain medicines to advising state and local health departments on challenges including the threat of disease and contaminated drinking water. Floyd has spawned new research in Chapel Hill to help damaged areas and better prepare for similar future disasters.

Other mainstays of Carolina's public service efforts include the Institute of Government, the nation's largest and most diversified university-based government training and research organization, and the N.C Area Health Education Centers (AHEC) Program, which is based at the School of Medicine and helps meet health-care needs statewide.

North Carolina's school teachers benefit from the Learners' and Educators' Assistance and Resource Network of North Carolina (LEARN NC), a Web site offered free through the UNC School of Education. Teachers and others in all 117 school systems have been trained on the site, which includes exemplary lesson plans indexed by grade, subject and the N.C. Standard Course of Study.

With the N.C. Arts Council, the education school also helps public schools through the N.C. Curriculum, Music and Community Project, which uses traditional Tar Heel music to teach the state standard course of study in fourth-grade.

That project resulted from another designed to foster public service, the Tar Heel Bus Tour. Each May, the tour takes faculty new to North Carolina on an educational tour of the state. The goal is to help newcomers understand the state that produces 82 percent of Carolina's undergraduates -- thereby helping new faculty communicate with students and design research and service projects that benefit the state. When the 1998 tour visited the Ole Time Fiddler's & Bluegrass Festival in Union Grove, Dean Madeleine Grumet hatched the idea of incorporating traditional music into the classroom.

1999 REVIEW NOTES

Carolina has won 21 of its past 22 games against in-state ACC competition. The Tar Heels finished the 1999 season with wins over archrivals NC State and Duke. (Dan Sears photo)

CAROLINA DENIED EIGHTH-STRAIGHT BOWL APPEARANCE

Carolina was 3-8, posting a losing record for the first time since consecutive sub .500 seasons from 1987-89. The Tar Heels did not qualify for a postseason bowl game for the first time since 1992. That snapped a seven-year bowl game streak, the longest in school history and the eighth-longest active stretch in the nation.

TAR HEELS FINISH STRONG

The Tar Heels finished the season with consecutive victories over arch-rivals NC State and Duke. Carolina edged the Wolfpack, 10-6, in Charlotte's Ericsson Stadium before an ESPN national television audience, then routed the Blue Devils, 38-0, in Kenan Stadium. UNC has defeated NC State seven straight times and beat Duke 10 consecutive games.

IN-STATE SUCCESS

The Tar Heels have won 21 of the last 22 games against their in-state ACC rivals, Duke, NC State and Wake Forest. The Deacons defeated UNC, 19-3, to end a 19-game win streak against those three schools.

SCHMITZ KICKS INTO RECORD BOOK

Senior punter Brian Schmitz was named first-team All-America by The Sporting News. Schmitz averaged 47.8 yards, an Atlantic Coast Conference and UNC record. He was second in the nation and led the ACC in punting average. Schmitz also set the ACC career record for punting average at 44.4 yards per kick. The Park Ridge, Ill., native averaged 40 yards or more per punt in 23 consecutive games over the last two seasons. In 1999, Schmitz punted 72 times – he had 63 punts of 40 yards or more, including 32 of 50 yards or more. He dropped 18 inside the 20-yard line (24 percent) and had only 10 touchbacks (14 percent). He had at least one 50-yard punt in all 11 games, at least one 60-yarder in four games and a career-long 72-yard kick at home against Houston.

• Schmitz and Derrick DePriest combined to establish an NCAA single-season team record for punting average at 47.7 yards. The previous NCAA mark was 47.6 yards by Vanderbilt in 1984.

CRUMPLER, SCHMITZ NAMED TO ALL-ACC TEAM

Tight end Alge Crumpler joined Brian Schmitz on the All-ACC Team. Crumpler had 20 receptions for 191 yards and had a team-high 45 "domination" blocks. He returned to the lineup in 1999 after missing the entire 1998 season due to a knee injury. He was a second-team All-ACC selection in 1997.

INJURIES SLOW HEELS THROUGHOUT 1999

For the second consecutive season, injuries decimated the Tar Heels. QB Ronald Curry ruptured his right Achilles' tendon in the second quarter of Carolina's fifth game (at Georgia Tech on October 9th) and missed the rest of the season. At the time of the injury, Curry was accounting for nearly 70 percent of UNC's total offense yards.

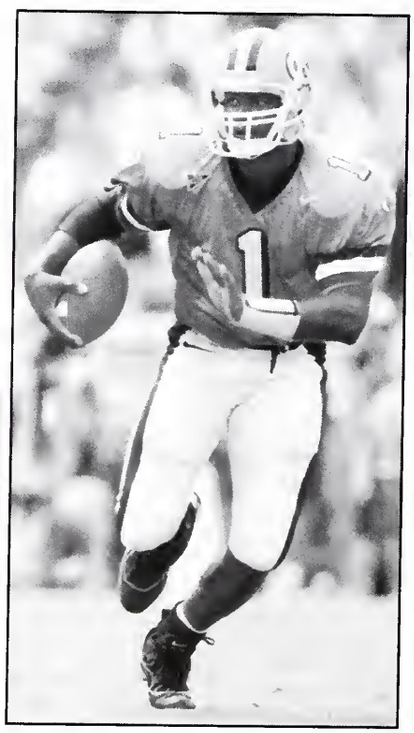
• Backup QB Luke Huard bruised his right rotator cuff and missed the final two games.

• S Antwon Black shifted to quarterback where he competed in two games. Black was slated to start against Furman in week seven, but was diagnosed with mononucleosis the week of the game and was unable to play in the final four contests.

• LB Merceda Perry averaged 11.5 tackles in the first four games. Then dislocated his shoulder on the first defensive series at Georgia Tech. He played sparingly in the next four losses. He had 30 tackles in the final three contests, including the wins over NC State and Duke.



Ronald Curry was one of several Tar Heel all-stars to miss a substantial portion of the 1999 season. Curry ruptured his right Achilles tendon early in the Georgia Tech game and was lost for the remainder of the season. (Jim Bounds photo)

DANIEL DAVIS LEADS TAR HEEL GROUND GAME

Freshman tailback Daniel Davis led the Tar Heels in rushing for the season with 303 yards on 69 carries. That is the second straight season in which a freshman has led Carolina in rushing yards. (Rufus Brown led in 1998 with 534 yards.) Davis gained all but one yard in five games. He missed ssveral games and saw very limited action without any attempts in several others due to a sprained ankle. The 303 yards were the fewest by Carolina's leading ground-gainer since 1952 when Larry Parker had a team-high 215 yards.

McGEE SETS RECORDS

Senior place-kicker Josh McGee led the Tar Heels in scoring with 66 points. That was 38 points more than any other UNC player. McGee finished his career second on Carolina's alltime scoring list with 271 points, but scored more than any kicker in school history. McGee finished his career 13th alltime in ACC history in scoring.

- He set the school's alltime record for most field goals (52) and tied the ACC's single-game field record when he made all six field goal attempts in Carolina's win over Duke.
- McGee made 17 of 21 field goals in 1999. His percentage of .810 was the best in the ACC.

GREENWOOD LEADING TACKLER IN BREAKOUT SEASON

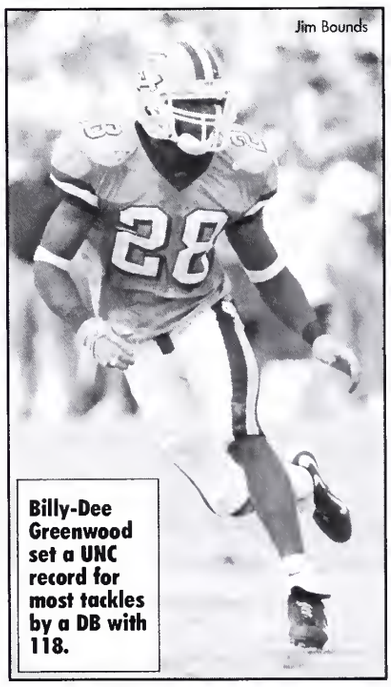
Sophomore safety Billy-Dee Greenwood led the Tar Heels and ranked sixth in the ACC with 118 tackles. Greenwood set a UNC record for tackles by a defensive back in a season. The previous record was 109 by safety Barry James in 1984.

PEPPERS IS CAROLINA'S SACK LEADER

Julius Peppers led the Tar Heels with six quarterback sacks. Peppers became the first freshman to lead UNC in sacks since 1984. The Bailey, N.C., native had four sacks against Wake Forest.

CURRY'S SOPHOMORE CAMPAIGN CUT SHORT

Ronald Curry led Carolina in total offense yards with 908, an average of 181.6 yards per contest. Curry rushed for 226 yards and passed for 682. He was 19 for 24 for 241 yards and two touchdowns in Carolina's 42-30 win at Indiana. The Hampton, Va., native scored on a 30-yard run in the first quarter at seventh-ranked Georgia Tech, but was injured a quarter later. He ruptured his right Achilles' tendon while trying to step out of a sack, and was lost for the rest of the season.



Billy-Dee Greenwood set a UNC record for most tackles by a DB with 118.

INJURY BUG STRIKES QUARTERBACK POSITION

Three different players started at quarterback and a fourth was slated to start. Ronald Curry started five games, Luke Huard started four and Domonique Williams started the last two contests at quarterback. Antwon Black was to have started against Furman, but was diagnosed with mononucleosis and missed the final four games.

HOOD EMERGES IN DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD

Cornerback Errol Hood and safety Antwon Black each scored touchdowns on interception returns. Hood led Carolina with 11 pass breakups and five interceptions. He picked off two passes against Duke, including one he returned 20 yards for a score. Black had two interceptions, including one he returned 89 yards for a touchdown in the season opener against Virginia.

- Hood combined with David Bomar to tackle NC State wide receiver Chris Coleman at the one-foot line with 1:28 to play to preserve Carolina's 10-6 win over NC State.

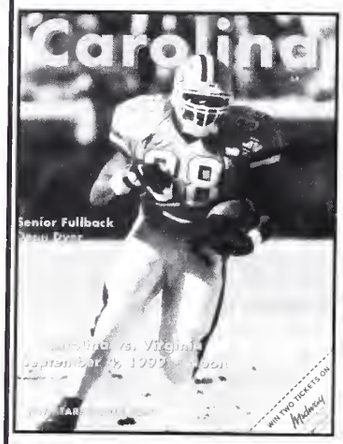
GAME 1: VIRGINIA 20, CAROLINA 17



September 4, 1999
@ Kenan Stadium
Chapel Hill, N.C.

With wind and a light rain at his back, Todd Braverman kicked a 50-yard field goal with 27 seconds remaining to lift Virginia to a 20-17 victory over Carolina. It marked the first Cavalier win at Kenan Stadium since 1990.

Ronald Curry, who finished the game with 147 yards passing and 55 yards on the ground, helped get the Tar Heels on the scoreboard first on the game's opening possession. Curry's scrambles of 10, seven and six yards helped set the stage for Josh McGee's 39-yard field goal, which put UNC ahead 3-0.

Virginia countered with a 74-yard, 7:11 drive. It stalled at the Carolina 5-yard line and gave way to a 23-yard field goal by Braverman to tie the game, 3-3.

As the first half drew to close, neither team was able to establish momentum until Antwon Black intercepted Virginia QB Dan Ellis and ran 89 yards for the game's first touchdown. McGee missed the point after kick, however, after a celebration penalty pushed the try back to the 18-yard line. Carolina took a 9-3 lead into the lockerroom.

The Tar Heel defense began the second half on a tear, holding Virginia to three-and-out on three straight possessions. But facing 3rd-and-13 late in the third quarter, Ellis connected with Kevin Coffey for a 33-yard pass and a crucial first down. Ellis then handed off to Thomas Jones on five straight plays, including a 1-yard run up the middle for a touchdown and a 10-9 lead with 44 seconds remaining in the third.

On the first play of the ensuing series, Shernard Newby cut in front of Alge Crumpler to intercept a Curry pass and give the Cavaliers possession at the UNC 33-yard line. Two plays later Virginia jumped in front of the Tar Heels, 17-9, as Ellis hit Coffey with a 33-yard touchdown strike.

Curry and the Tar Heels battled back. The sophomore quarterback rushed for eight yards on a 3rd-and-six situation. He connected with Jason Peace for 15 yards and hit Anthony Saunders after a wild scramble for an 18-yard touchdown.

Once again scrambling, Curry found Dauntae' Finger in the end zone for a two-point conversion to tie the game 17-17 with 7:44 to play.

Virginia got the ball with 3:29 to play at its own 42-yard line. Jones ran the Cavaliers to the Carolina 33-yard line to set up the game-winning field goal.

Jones finished the game with 149 yards rushing on 35 carries.

Rufus Brown led UNC with 74 yards rushing on 18 carries. Jason Peace had four receptions for 71 yards.

Linebacker Merceda Perry had a game-high 16 tackles. Safeties Quinton Savage and Billy-Dee Greenwood added 15 and 10 hits, respectively. Greenwood added three pass breakups and a key interception.

Antwon Black's 89-yard interception return for a touchdown was the third longest in school history.

GAME 2: CAROLINA 42, INDIANA 30

Bloomington, Ind.

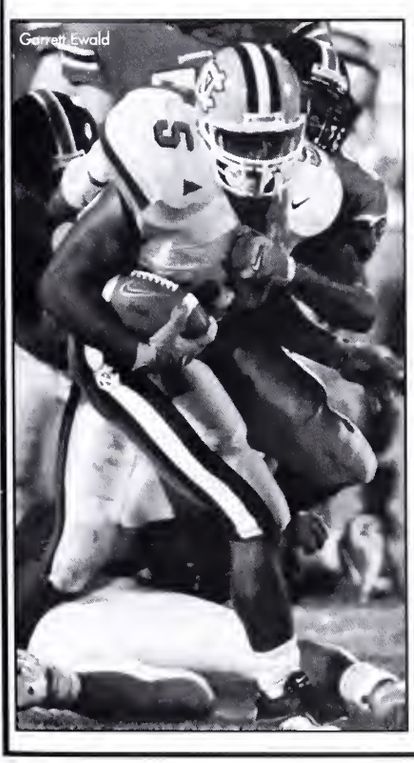
Carolina traveled to Indiana and picked up its first win of the season with a 42-30 victory over the Hoosiers. Ronald Curry threw for 241 yards and two touchdowns to fuel a UNC offense that amassed 467 total yards, including 215 on the ground.

Despite the win, the Tar Heels were dealt a blow in the first quarter when linebacker Brandon Spoon suffered a ruptured biceps tendon in his left arm, an injury that ended his the 1999 season.

After an early interception, Curry and the Heels settled into a balanced offensive attack and scored on three of its next four possessions to lead 21-16 at the half. Seeing his first extensive playing time as a Tar Heel, freshman Daniel Davis rushed for 76 yards before intermission, 77 for the game, and managed runs of 10, 12, 14 and 38 yards to spark the Carolina ground attack.

But in a game that saw both teams running on all cylinders offensively, it wasn't until Curry hit Dauntae' Finger for an 11-yard TD pass with 5:56 remaining that the outcome was decided. On that 6 minute, 37 second, game-clinching drive, Curry was 5-for-5 for 57 yards. Overall, Curry missed on just five passes in going 19-for-24 on the night.

Despite surrendering 413 yards to versatile QB Antwaan Randle El and the rest of the IU option-based offense, the Tar Heels never trailed after taking a 14-10 second quarter lead on a one-yard Curry rush to the right side. Carolina was efficient with the ball throughout the evening, converting on nine of 13 third downs and compiling touchdown drives of 80, 71 and 76 yards on three straight possessions in the second half. On the other side of the ball, the Hoosiers managed just three first downs on 12 third-down attempts.



Garrett Ewald

Kory Bailey caught six passes for a career-high 63 yards and after missing the 1998 season due to injury Alge Crumpler caught his first passes since 1997 with three receptions for 56 yards. Jason Peace also made five grabs for 79 yards and a touchdown, as eight different Tar Heels caught passes.

Daniel Davis accounted for 77 of UNC's 215 rushing yards.

Anthony Saunders, who started at tailback in place of the injured Rufus Brown, capped his career-high 67-yard night with an 8-yard 4th quarter TD run, and Ronnie Robinson ran for two first-half scores. Curry, who rushed for 45 yards, notched his first rushing touchdown of the season and finished the game with 296 yards of total offense.

Levron Williams led the Hoosiers with 168 yards rushing and one touchdown on 15 carries, while Randle El threw for 159 yards and two TDs and ran for 62 yards and a score.

GAME 3: FLORIDA STATE 42, CAROLINA 10

Chapel Hill, N.C.

Top-ranked Florida State jumped out to a 28-0 lead 6:57 into the game and never looked back in defeating the Tar Heels 42-10 in front of 60,000 fans at Kenan Stadium.

"It was really like being in the middle of a nightmare and you couldn't get out of it," head coach Carl Torbush said of a first quarter that saw the Seminoles score touchdowns off a punt return, an interception return and following a fumble deep in UNC territory. FSU also added a score off an 80-yard drive to start the game. The four touchdowns were the most Carolina has surrendered in one quarter in 30 years.

After FSU's 1:54 scoring drive to open the game, Ronald Curry fumbled on Carolina's third play from scrimmage and the Seminoles gained possession of the ball at UNC's 25-yard line. Three plays later, FSU jumped ahead 14-0 on Travis Minor's second TD run of the afternoon.

On the next play from scrimmage, FSU safety Sean Key picked off a Curry pass and raced 25 yards into the end zone to give the Seminoles the 21-0 lead at 10:48 of the first quarter. All-America Peter Warrick returned a Brian Schmitz punt 75 yards for a score and the four-touchdown advantage just three minutes later.

Over the final 53:03 of the game Florida State managed just two touchdowns, one on a Chris Weinke pass to Atrews Bell with 22 seconds remaining in the first half and the other just three FSU plays into the second half following an interception.

Deon Dyer's one-yard touchdown run midway through the third quarter capped the scoring on the day and accounted for Carolina's lone touchdown.

Warrick finished the game with 234 yards of total offense and Weinke completed 17 of 27 passes for 272 yards and one touchdown to lead the FSU attack. DE Jamal Reynolds accounted for two of Florida State's six sacks.

For the Tar Heels, Daniel Davis led the team in rushing for the second straight game (49 yards), and added two catches for 17 yards. Kory Bailey caught four passes for a career-high 81 yards. Antwon Black and Jason Horton added interceptions for Carolina.

GAME 4: CLEMSON 31, CAROLINA 20

Clemson, S.C.

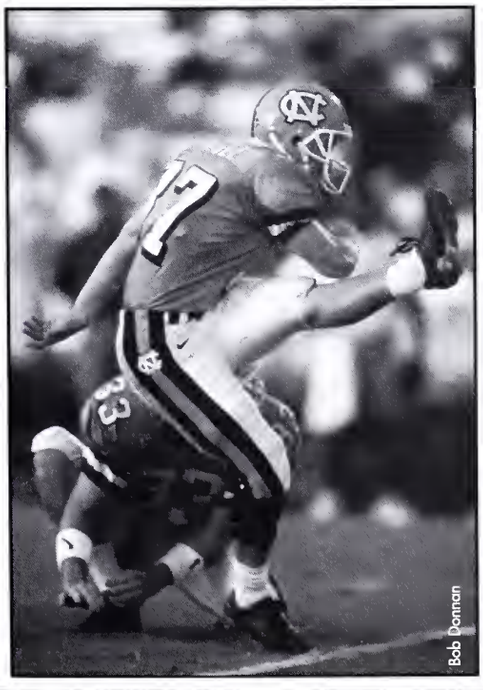
Clemson scored two quick third-quarter touchdowns to overcome a 17-10 Carolina lead and earn a 31-20 victory at Death Valley. Quarterback Woodrow Dantzler, playing in relief of the injured Brandon Streeter, rushed for 82 yards and a touchdown and threw for 131 yards and a TD to lead the Tigers to the win in front of 81,000 fans.

After playing to a 10-10 tie through the game's first 30 minutes, the Tar Heels jumped out to an early 17-10 second-half lead on a 7-yard touchdown run by Daniel Davis, the first of his career. That UNC scoring drive, which lasted just two plays and 24 seconds, began when Ronald Curry connected with Greg Harris on a 37-yard pass play. Harris finished the game with three catches for a career-best 53 yards.

But Clemson tied the game at 17-17 just 1:10 later when Dantzler found Rod Gardner in the end zone for a 49-yard touchdown pass. Gardner caught seven passes for 127 yards to lead all receivers in the game.

Just three plays later, Curry was intercepted. The Tigers jumped ahead 24-17 at 7:50 of the third quarter when fullback Terry Witherspoon found the end zone on the ensuing series.

The Tar Heels stayed within striking distance though throughout the second half behind the precise punting of Brian Schmitz. The Tar Heel punter finished the game with a 46.9-yard average on seven kicks and pinned the Tigers inside their own 20-yard line three times, including midway through the third when he landed a 52-yard punt at the Clemson 8-yard line. But behind Dantzler, the Tigers drove to the Carolina 2-yard line before Joey Evans registered one of his two sacks on the afternoon and pushed Clemson back to the UNC 11. Two plays later, kicker Chris Campbell attempted a 27-yard field goal but was wide right, and the Tar Heels had new life.



Bob Donnan

Josh McGee converted field goals of 39 and 21 yards for the Tar Heels.

Carolina responded with an 11-play, 76-yard drive that stalled at the Clemson 4-yard line, but did result in Josh McGee's second field goal, which pulled Carolina within 24-20.

But the Tar Heels could not add any more points and Dantzler's 56-yard touchdown run with 8:35 remaining put Clemson ahead, 31-20.

In defeat, Curry rushed for a season-high 65 yards and Jason Peace caught four passes for 72 yards, while on defense Julius Peppers recorded his first career interception. Merceda Perry led the team with 14 tackles, including three for losses.

GAME 5: GEORGIA TECH 31, CAROLINA 24

@ Bobby Dodd Stadium
Atlanta, Ga.

Luke Manget kicked a 36-yard field goal with five seconds remaining in regulation to tie the game and Joe Hamilton ran for a 6-yard touchdown in overtime as the seventh-ranked Yellow Jackets held off the upset-minded Tar Heels for a wild, 31-24 win.

The Tar Heels also suffered a major blow when quarterback Ronald Curry ruptured his right Achilles tendon in the second quarter and was lost for the season.

Curry sparked the Tar Heel attack early when he rolled left and darted down the sideline for a 30-yard touchdown run for a 7-0 UNC lead at 7:28 of the first quarter.

Carolina added two second-quarter field goals and led 13-0 before Hamilton found Kelly Campbell open for a 47-yard touchdown pass with 49 seconds remaining in the first half to pull the Yellow Jackets to within 13-7.

Hamilton then completed a 59-yard TD pass to Campbell on Tech's first play of the second half and the home team pulled ahead 14-13. The Yellow Jackets jumped out to a 21-13 lead on their next possession as the nation's top offense appeared to be gaining momentum.

But Carolina fought back as the third quarter came to a close. Errol Hood, who finished a magnificent afternoon with one interception, two fumble recoveries, one sack, three PBU's and seven tackles, recovered Hamilton's second fumble of the game to give UNC possession at the Tar Heel 36.

Anthony Saunders ran for six, then 21 yards and backup QB Luke Huard finished the quick scoring drive with a 4-yard sneak to pull the Heels to within two. Huard then calmly found Alge Crumpler in the end zone for the two-point conversion and the game was tied 21-21.

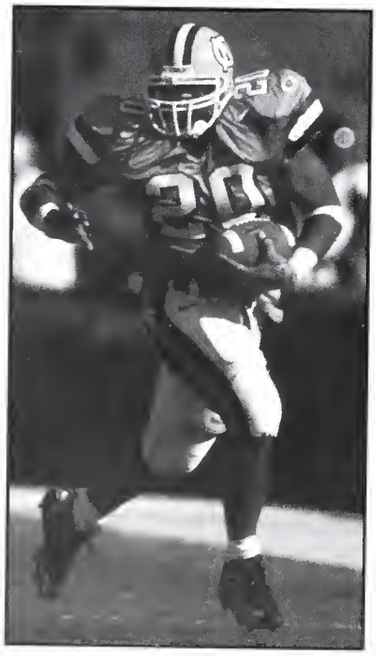
Carolina jumped ahead 24-21 after Josh McGee's third field goal of the game and behind the strong running of Domonique Williams, who accounted for 51 of UNC's 54 yards on the go-ahead, 10-play drive.

Carolina held on to its three-point advantage throughout the fourth quarter and looked ready for an upset when Hood picked off a long Hamilton pass with 4:03 to play. But UNC, held without a first down, was forced to punt. Given another opportunity, Hamilton again threw an interception, this time to Tim Burgess, and the Heels gained possession at the Tech 10-yard line.

Two Deon Dyer runs got Carolina down to the GT 2-yard line, but Dyer was stopped shy of the end zone on a fourth-down attempt that would have sealed the improbable Carolina victory. Instead, Hamilton had yet another shot at the comeback, and this time he delivered. With just 70 seconds to play and no timeouts, Hamilton connected with Campbell for 32- and 35-yard completions to propel Tech into range for Manget's game-tying field goal.

Carolina was unable to answer Tech's touchdown in OT and the Yellow Jackets prevailed, 31-24.

The loss overshadowed career days by Saunders and Williams, who each recorded personal bests with 110 and 76 yards rushing, respectively.



Bob Donnan

Anthony Saunders rushed for a career-high 110 yards and the Tar Heels racked up 276 yards on the ground, its highest total in five years.

GAME 6: HOUSTON 20, CAROLINA 12

Chapel Hill, N.C.

Playing for the first time since losing quarterback Ronald Curry to a season-ending injury, Carolina's offense sputtered against one of the nation's toughest defenses as the Tar Heels dropped a 20-12 decision to the Houston Cougars.

The Cougar defense allowed just 39 yards rushing and 126 total yards all afternoon to the Tar Heels, both two-year lows for Carolina. The last time Carolina rushed for fewer yards was against Florida State in 1997, when UNC gained an alltime school-low –28 yards. FSU held Carolina to just 73 yards of total offense that game.

Houston jumped out to a 7-0 lead on a 15-play, 80-yard drive to start the game. Mike Green rushed six times for 38 yards, including a 1-yard touchdown run to cap the 7:20 series. Green finished the afternoon with 130 yards on the ground.

The Cougars jumped ahead 14-0 on their next possession after Ketric Sanford broke down the left sideline for a 61-yard TD run. Sanford rushed for 157 yards on the game, and as a team Houston gained 257 rushing yards.

Carolina fought back with two points on a safety early in the second quarter and then a touchdown on a 39-yard pass from Luke Huard to Kory Bailey, the first touchdown of the season for Bailey and Huard's first career TD strike. Huard, who started for the first time as a Tar Heel, completed five of 15 passes for 76 yards.

UNC closed the gap to 14-12 late in the first half on a 38-yard Josh McGee field goal. With the kick, McGee moved into a first-place tie with Clint Gwaltney as the school's all-time leader in field goals made with 43. Gwaltney connected on 43 of 64 attempts from 1988-91.

After a scoreless third quarter, Houston managed two fourth-quarter field goals to take the final 20-12 advantage. The Cougar defense held Carolina to just 35 yards of offense on 25 plays after intermission.

Antwon Black, who moved from safety to the backup quarterback slot after Curry's Achilles injury at Georgia Tech, led UNC in rushing with 25 yards on four attempts. It was his first appearance at QB since high school.

Quinton Savage and Billy-Dee Greenwood led the defense with 16 tackles apiece, while cornerback Errol Hood recorded his team-leading third interception of the season.

Bob Donnan

Brian Schmitz smashed a career-long 72-yard punt versus the Cougars and finished the game with a school-record 51.4 average on 10 kicks.

GAME 7: MARYLAND 45, CAROLINA 7

@ Byrd Stadium
College Park, Md.

Maryland jumped ahead of Carolina 24-0 after the first quarter and rolled to a 45-7 win over the Tar Heels at Byrd Stadium. Maryland running back LaMont Jordan rushed for 147 yards and two touchdowns and the Terrapins forced seven turnovers in Carolina's most lopsided defeat in 10 years.

The Terps scored on three of their first four drives and Marlon Moore returned an interception 51 yards for the early advantage. Rufus Brown scored Carolina's only points of the afternoon on a 2-yard TD run at 8:25 of the fourth quarter.

Brian Kopka got Maryland on the scoreboard on its first series of the game, a drive extended by a roughing-the-kicker penalty after the Tar Heels had held the Terps to just 12 yards on the first five plays of the game. After Maryland regained possession, they rolled to the Carolina 22-yard line before Kopka nailed the 39-yard field goal for the 3-0 lead.

Moore's interception of Luke Huard came on Carolina's opening series and the Terps were out to a quick 10-0 lead. Sam Aiken fumbled the ensuing kickoff and the Terps had regained possession at the UNC 11. Maryland punched in another touchdown two plays later and was out to a 17-0 lead with 5:16 to play in the first quarter.

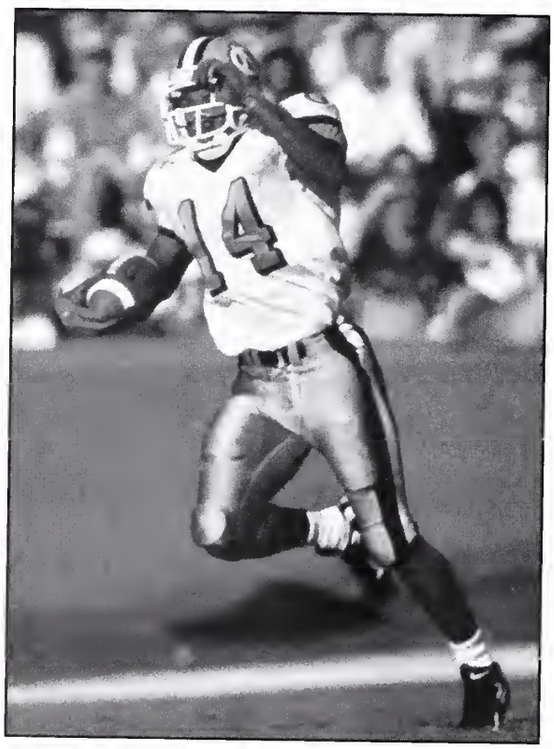
After both teams traded punts, Maryland found the end zone again when Matt Kalapinksi rushed up the middle for a 2-yard TD run.

Antwon Black entered the game at quarterback for the Tar Heels and began to move the offense, but an interception by Lewis Sanders at the Carolina 38-yard line set up Maryland's fourth touchdown of the first half. Jordan carried five times for 43 yards on the drive, including an 11-yard scoring run with 47 seconds to play before intermission.

Maryland continued to roll after halftime, scoring on its first two series to take a 45-0 lead. Brown's fourth-quarter touchdown run finished the game's scoring and was his first of the season.

In just his second game since switching from safety to quarterback — and his first seeing extensive playing time — Black led Carolina with 57 rushing yards. He also completed 10 of 21 passes for 128 yards.

Billy-Dee Greenwood registered 15 tackles.



Jim Moriarty

Antwon Black threw for 128 yards and ran for 57 in his first extensive action at quarterback for Carolina.

GAME 8: FURMAN 28, CAROLINA 3

Chapel Hill, N.C.

Furman rolled up 461 yards of total offense, including 177 on the ground by Louis Ivory, en route to a 28-3 win over the Tar Heels at Kenan Stadium. The loss was Carolina's sixth straight and first ever to the Paladins.

Furman gained 301 yards in the first half and went ahead 21-0 in the second quarter on Des Kitchings's second deep touchdown catch of the game. Kitchings caught first-half TD strikes of 60- and 49-yards respectively from quarterback Justin Hill and finished the game with seven receptions for 169 yards.

Carolina's lone three points came late in the first half when Josh McGee connected on a 36-yard field goal attempt. It was McGee's 44th career field goal, making him the alltime leader in school history.

Playing most of the game without Luke Huard, still suffering with a sore right shoulder, and backup Antwon Black, out with flu-like symptoms, tailback Domonique Williams was forced into quarterback duties for the Tar Heels. While the offense struggled all day to get on track, Williams and the Heels did threaten on each of its last three possessions to narrow the deficit.

Early in the fourth quarter, Carolina drove to the Furman 30-yard line before surrendering the ball on downs. Furman countered with a 70-yard drive that culminated with a 4-yard TD run by Hill and pushed the Paladin lead to 28-3.

Carolina responded with its longest drive of the game, a 10-play, 73-yard series highlighted by a 45-yard pass play from Williams to Kory Bailey. But the Tar Heel offense sputtered at the Furman 7-yard line, and again UNC lost the ball on downs.

With time winding down, Carolina again worked the ball into Furman territory, but a Williams pass attempt to Alge Crumpler missed target and the Paladins went on to victory.

Rufus Brown led the Tar Heels with season-high 94 yards rushing, while safety Billy-Dee Greenwood had another fine outing for UNC with 19 tackles. Making his first career start, David Bomar registered 12 tackles at safety.

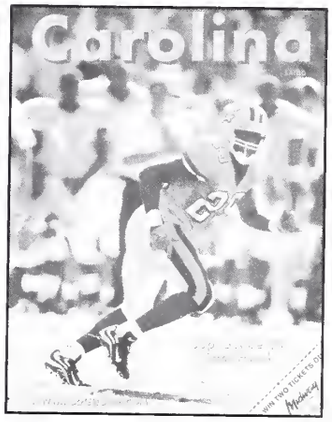
GAME 9: WAKE FOREST 19, CAROLINA 3



November 6, 1999
Chapel Hill, N.C.

Wake Forest withstood Carolina's best defensive performance of the season to score a 19-3 win over the Tar Heels at Kenan Stadium. Ahead 10-3 at halftime, Matthew Burdick kicked three second-half field goals to seal the Demon Deacon victory. While the Tar Heels held Wake to 257 yards of total offense, Carolina could muster only 12 rushing yards and 131 overall in its first loss to Wake in a decade.

Burdick's first field goal, a 47-yarder late in the first quarter, began the scoring for Wake Forest. Josh McGee countered with a 48-yard field goal to even the game at 3-3, but that would be Carolina's only points of the game. UNC was held without a touchdown for the second consecutive game.

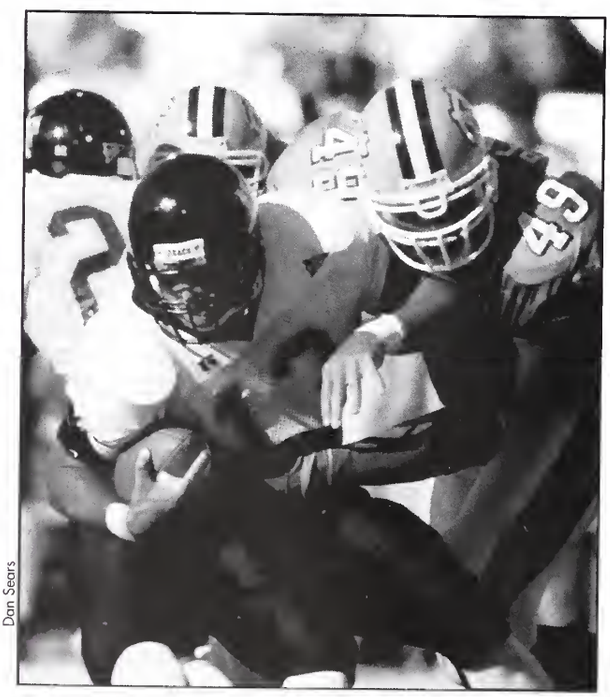
Ben Sankey connected with Rhamen Love-Lane for Wake's lone touchdown of the game on a 5-yard pass into the end zone at 7:46 of the second quarter. That score provided Wake the 10-3 advantage at intermission.

Luke Huard made his fourth start since replacing the injured Ronald Curry at quarterback in the first half at Georgia Tech. Huard completed 11 of his 30 pass attempts for 101 yards. His primary target on the afternoon, Alge Crumpler, caught five balls for a season-high 57 yards.

Unable to gain any momentum all afternoon on offense, Carolina had possession of the ball for just 23:15 of the game and managed just three drives of more than 20 yards and one longer than three minutes.

Julius Peppers led Carolina's strong defensive effort with a career-high four sacks. Joey Evans was also credited with a sack as the Tar Heels notched five sacks in a game for the first time in 1999. Peppers added 10 tackles, his most of the season, and David Bomar had a career-high 16 hits to lead the team. Billy-Dee Greenwood had 15 tackles against Wake and has a team-high 104 on the season.

Punter Brian Schmitz had another outstanding game for the Tar Heels, punting six times for a 51.3 average.



Dan Sears

Julius Peppers sacked Wake Forest quarterback Ben Sankey four times for a loss of 26 yards.

GAME 10: CAROLINA 10, NC STATE 6

@ Ericsson Stadium
Charlotte, N.C.

With time winding down and Carolina clinging to a 10-6 lead over rival NC State, defensive backs Errol Hood and David Bomar stopped Chris Coleman just shy of the end zone to preserve a Tar Heel victory, its first in two months and seventh straight over the Wolfpack.

For the second consecutive week, UNC got a strong performance from its defensive unit, holding State to just 309 yards total offense and without a first down until the second quarter. While the Wolfpack sputtered on offense in the first 15 minutes, Carolina jumped out to a 7-0 lead on a 78-yard drive on its first possession. Domonique Williams, who moved from tailback to quarterback and made his first start at the position since high school, completed a 45-yard pass to Kory Bailey on a third-and-18 situation to keep the drive alive and later found Deon Dyer for a 12-yard touchdown pass for the early score. Dyer also ran five times for 18 yards in what would be Carolina's longest drive of the night.

State began to gain momentum on offense in the second quarter and added a 28-yard field goal for its only points of the half. Carolina led 7-3 at intermission and took a 10-3 lead into the fourth quarter after Josh McGee connected on a 32-yard field goal attempt in the third. UNC last led entering the final period against Indiana in the second game of the season. With 11:30 to play, NCSU cut the Tar Heel lead to 10-6 with a 26-yard field goal by Kent Passingham.

Carolina was stopped on the ensuing drive at its own 40-yard line, but Brian Schmitz got off his best punt of the night, a 52-yarder to the Wolfpack 9-yard line. With 8:10 remaining in the game and 91 yards to the end zone, State began its march for a touchdown to avoid the Tar Heel upset. Wolfpack quarterback Jamie Barnette, who finished the evening 20-of-40 for 210 yards, completed six of his 10 passes on the drive and rushed for 27 yards to lead the Pack inside Carolina's 10-yard line. With first-and-goal at the UNC 8-yard line and 2:47 to play, Barnette threw incomplete on first down but connected with Koren Robinson to the Carolina 1-yard line on second. On third-and-goal from the 1, Carlos Doggett fumbled Barnette's pitch and lost eight yards on the play. With one final chance to score, Barnette connected with Coleman but Hood and Bomar were there to stop him inches from the goal line. NC State's 17-play, 90-yard drive fell just short and Carolina held on for the improbable victory.

"When he caught the ball, I held on for all I could," Hood said after the game.

Williams finished with 85 yards passing and Dyer led the Heels with 46 yards rushing in the hard-fought win. Bomar had 19 tackles and was named the National Defensive Player of the Week by the Charlotte Touchdown Club the following week.

GAME 11: CAROLINA 38, DUKE 0

@ Kenan Stadium
Chapel Hill, N.C.

Carolina put together its finest all-around performance of the season and beat Duke 38-0 at Kenan Stadium. The win was UNC's 10th straight over the Blue Devils.

In a game that the Tar Heels dominated throughout, Josh McGee kicked six field goals to set a school record and tie a 23-year-old ACC mark held by Vince Fusco of Duke. His field goals of 41, 50, 23, 22, 41 and 40 helped the Tar Heels to a second-consecutive win to close the season.

Carolina's defense showed continued improvement in the emotional victory. The Tar Heel defense finished the 1999 campaign without surrendering a touchdown in 10 straight quarters and the 38-0 shutout over Duke marked the first time UNC has held an opponent scoreless since September 1996. Carolina had not shut out the Blue Devils since 1972.

Tailback-turned-quarterback Dominique Williams made his second straight start at QB and completed 10 of 21 passes for 189 yards and a touchdown. It was Carolina's second-highest passing total of the season and UNC's 274 first-half yards were more than it had totaled in five of the first 10 games of 1999. In the first half alone, Williams completed passes of 29, 42, 25 and 40 yards to help lead a Tar Heel offense that had struggled since the loss of quarterback Ronald Curry.

Tailback Daniel Davis also turned in the best performance of his freshman season with a team-high 99 yards and a 7-yard touchdown run on 16 carries. Senior Greg Harris led the team with a career-high 69 yards receiving.

Punter Brian Schmitz also did his part in leading the Tar Heels to victory and helping preserve the shutout. He averaged 54.3 yards on three punts to finish his college career with an ACC career-best 44.4 yards per kick. His 47.8-yard average this season is also a league and school record. Schmitz left the game early in the second quarter after injuring his left shin on a touchdown-saving tackle of Duke's Scottie Montgomery on a return.

Duke finished the game with just 222 yards of total offense and the Tar Heels forced four interceptions and two fumbles. Errol Hood picked off two Spencer Romine passes, including one he returned for a 20-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter. David Bomar and Sedrick Hodge were also credited with interceptions.

CAROLINA FOOTBALL HISTORICAL ESSAY

The University of North Carolina embarks on its 110th season of football competition in 2000. The Tar Heels do that with a history of gridiron greatness, including some of the top coaches in the game, a lineage of talented running backs and one of the most beautiful and historic facilities in college football.

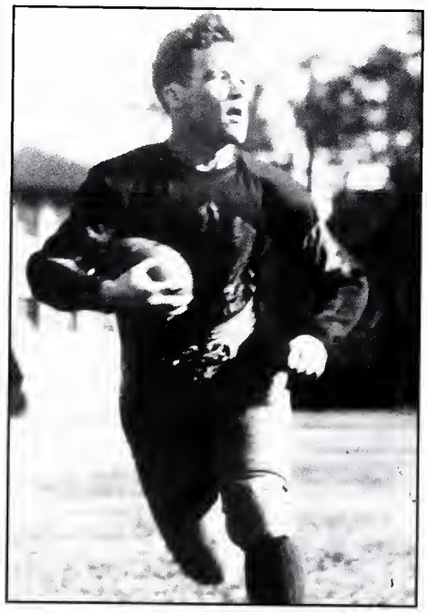
Surprisingly, football is actually not the oldest varsity sport at UNC. Baseball holds that honor, having fielded its first varsity squad back in 1867. But while football started 21 years later in 1888, its history is replete with memories that have thrilled legions of Carolina fans as the decades have elapsed.

The first UNC team played but two games, losing both and being outscored 22-4. That inauspicious beginning belies the success of the program since then, but those football pioneers are nevertheless credited with starting football at Carolina.

In the fall of 1888, the sophomore class at UNC had formed a team and after vanquishing all the other classes at UNC, began to look around for stiffer opposition. The UNC team challenged the Wake Forest squad to a game which was scheduled during the State Fair in Raleigh on October 18, 1888. Wake won the game 6-4 in what came to be acknowledged as the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the state of North Carolina.

Later that same fall, Carolina challenged Trinity (now Duke) to a Thanksgiving Day contest in Raleigh that drew a crowd of 600 for a 16-0 Trinity triumph. One member of that 1888 UNC team was John Motley Morehead, who went on to great fame as the founder of Union Carbide and who endowed the Morehead Scholarship program and several buildings on the Carolina campus.

That first Carolina team's results may not have been what was expected, but the leaders of the '88 team did get the ball rolling. In Carolina's first 109 seasons of football competition, the Tar Heels have compiled a record of 594-420-54, a winning percentage of .581. Carolina has played in 23 bowl games in its history and won five Southern Conference championships and five Atlantic Coast Conference titles.



Johnny Branch was one of Carolina's early stars. His 96-yard punt return in 1930 is still the longest in school history.

Twenty-eight Tar Heel players have been honored as first-team All-Americas on 35 occasions. Carolina had 32 All-Southern Conference selections when it played in that league until 1952 and since joining the ACC in 1953, has had 164 first-team All-ACC choices.

Just a few months after the loss to Trinity in 1888, UNC acquired the services of Hector Cowan, former great tackle and captain at Princeton, to help teach the UNC players the fundamentals of the game. Cowan arrived in February 1889 and drilled the Tar Heel troops on the existing athletic field, located on the current site of Bynum Hall.

The 1889 team played two games in the spring and two in the fall. On March 1, 1889, Carolina earned its first win in football as it routed Wake Forest 33-0 before a crowd of 500 in Raleigh. UNC went on to post a 2-2 record that year and earn a share of the state championship with Trinity and Wake Forest.

After a Carolina player suffered a broken collarbone that fall, the University faculty voted to discontinue the sport of football in January 1890 and Carolina did not compete at all the following fall. That is one of only three years since the start of football in 1888 in which the Tar Heels have not fielded a team; play was also suspended during World War I in 1917 and 1918.

The following year, students petitioned to have football restored at UNC and the ban was lifted with the help of Professors Horace Williams, F.P. Venable and Eban Alexander. At this time, athletic control passed from the hands of students to the faculty, a situation that still exists today.

Football returned to UNC that fall with W.P. Graves as coach and UNC compiling an 0-2 record.

The following year, 1892, is considered by most to be the first year of real football at UNC with a representative six-game schedule being played. That squad also earned the distinction of being UNC's first good team. Mike Hoke acted as team captain and the entire squad consisted of just 15 players, with UNC using only one substitute the entire season. The team opened the year with a 40-0 rout of Richmond and after a loss to Virginia in the next game, it went on to win its last four. Carolina's 5-1 mark was the best record in the South that year. That season also marked the first year in which University teams were referred to as "Carolina," with the appellations "University" and "Chapel Hill" being dropped from the popular vernacular.

A meeting in February 1893 signaled the start of the formation of what would become the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association in later years. Ten schools, including UNC, were involved in the meeting and Dr. Venable was voted temporary chairman of the group. Later that same year, on May 12, the UNC athletic association approved the awarding of varsity letters for the first time.

Although the 1893 team managed only a 3-4 record, it did have the distinction of being the first Southern team to play in New York City as Carolina lost a 34-0 decision to Lehigh on November 25, 1893. A year later, Carolina brought in Vernon K. Irvine from Princeton as coach and he led Carolina to a 6-3 mark, attesting to the fact that experienced coaching benefited the team's performance. That UNC team finished second in the South and won the state championship. It was also the first to be forced to stage closed practices because of problems with crowd control at open sessions.

In 1895, T.C. "Doggie" Trenchard came from Princeton to coach the Tar Heels and he led UNC to an outstanding 7-1-1 season marred only by a loss to Virginia. A crowd of 12,000 was on hand for the meeting between the Tar Heels and the Cavaliers in Richmond, which UVa won 6-0. Twice during the game spectators ran onto the field to block the path of Tar Heel runners who had broken into the clear on apparent touchdown runs.

Carolina began to gain some consistency in the sport of football with the arrival of Will A. Reynolds of Princeton as head coach in 1897. Reynolds produced four winning Carolina teams in his four-year tenure at Chapel Hill. His first squad finished at 7-3 and was followed in 1898 by what is still the only unbeaten, untied team in school history. That 1898 squad was a perfect 9-0 and outscored its opponents by an amazing 201-8. The team finished the season by beating Virginia for the first time in six years, 6-2, in Richmond.

Reynolds' final two teams also posted respectable records, going 7-3-1 in 1889 and 4-1-3 in 1900.

Reynolds yielded the coaching reins after the 1900 season to Charles Jenkins, who led UNC to seven straight wins prior to a pair of season-ending losses in 1901. Carolina beat all of its state opponents to win its seventh state championship since 1892. In 1901, letters began to be awarded by an advisory committee of the athletic association. Previously, anyone who played had lettered.

The next 11 seasons saw Carolina with nine different head coaches. The 1905 Carolina squad was coached by William Warner, the brother of the famed "Pop" Warner.

Trenchard returned as Carolina's coach in 1913 for a three-year run. His 1914 squad was outstanding. Sixty men reported for the team and UNC went on to win its first 10 before losing to Virginia 20-3 before a record crowd of 15,000 in Richmond. That UNC team outscored its opponents 359-52 and became the first team in the South to display players' numbers on their jerseys.

Trenchard's 1915 squad did not fare as well, finishing the campaign with a 4-3-1 mark. Seven regulars missed the VMI game and the reserves struggled, fumbling 16 times en route to a 3-3 tie. That same year, Trenchard started the first athletic training table at UNC in his home, feeding the 56 squad members on a daily basis.

The year 1916 found the Tar Heels in a new home as Carolina began to play its games at Emerson Stadium, the site of the current Davis Library. Freshmen were banned from varsity participation for the first time and the team went 5-4 and won its sixth successive state championship.

All of the members of the 1916 squad had entered the military service in World War I by the following fall and varsity football was dropped for the second time in UNC history, this time for a two-year hiatus.

Carolina made its full-fledged return to the gridiron in 1919, going 4-3-1 under Coach Thomas J. Coleman. Carolina twice broke its single game home attendance record that year as it won the state championship. The Tar Heels defeated N.C. State, 13-12, before a crowd of 7,500 and then topped that with 9,000 for a 6-0 win over Virginia. That game marked the first time the Cavaliers had ever played in Chapel Hill.

The 1920 campaign was a dismal one as UNC went 2-6 and scored only 16 points in eight games. But a more positive era in North Carolina football began a year later with the hiring of Bill and Bob Fetzer as co-head coaches. Their hiring also marked a change in athletic policy at UNC as the Fetzers were assured of long-term positions instead of the usual one-year contracts. Carolina went 5-2-2 under the Fetzers in 1921 and 10,000 filled Emerson Field for Carolina's 7-3 win over Virginia.

That year also marked the first for UNC's participation in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference, the official name for what has come to be known today simply as the Southern Conference. At a February 25, 1921 meeting in Atlanta, the SIC was formed with a 16-school membership. The conference agreed to bans on post-season play, freshman eligibility and athletic training tables, required eligibility forms for players and disallowed organized practice before September 10.

Carolina would go on to have great success in the Southern Conference, tying for the league crown in 1922 and winning it outright in 1934, 1937, 1946 and 1949.

The Fetzers' greatest team was probably the 1922 edition which posted an impressive 9-1 mark, won the South Atlantic championship and tied for the Southern Conference crown. That team lost only to Yale, 18-0, and had three touchdowns called back by penalties in the game. The squad was ranked 11th in the nation by I.B. Thomas in the January 1923 issue of Intercollegiate Athletics and played before a record 68,500 fans during the course of the campaign.

The 1923 team was ravaged by injuries but limped to a 5-3-1 record nevertheless and a state championship for a second straight year. A year later, the Tar Heels were only 4-5 but they did play before their largest crowd to that date, 25,000 at New Haven's Yale Bowl in a 27-0 loss to the Bulldogs.

The 1925 season would prove to be the Fetzers' last as co-coaches. The Tar Heels responded with an excellent season, going 7-1-1 and winning the state championship. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest. A crowd of 16,000 jammed Emerson Field (capacity 2,400) to see the Heels and Virginia play to a 3-3 tie in the season finale.

The following year began a

CAROLINA FOOTBALL HISTORICAL ESSAY

Coach Carl Snavely was carried off the field after Carolina trounced Texas in the 1948 season opener. The Tar Heels finished the season ranked No. 3 in the country in the Associated Press poll.

new era in Carolina football as Chuck Collins came on the scene as head coach. He had the longest tenure (eight years) of the early Carolina coaches. Collins, who was one of the seven mules in the offensive line for Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen, served as Carolina's coach from 1926 through 1933.

The 1926 season also brought onto the scene the infamous Kay Kyser, later to be a renowned Big Band leader and radio and motion pictures personality, as head cheerleader and his Cheerios as the first major organized cheer block at Carolina.

New stadium plans were also in the works in 1926. Carolina alumni in Durham and Chapel Hill met on May 24, 1926 to form the Durham Stadium Committee. On November 13 of that same year, William Rand Kenan, a New York City engineer and 1893 UNC football letterman, gave the University a gift of $275,000 to help build the stadium.

The first game was played in Kenan Stadium on November 12, 1927 with UNC beating Davidson 27-0 before a crowd of 9,000 fans. The following Saturday, UNC beat two-touchdown favorite Duke 18-0 in Durham. The stadium was officially dedicated on Thanksgiving Day 1927 with 28,000 attending as Carolina edged Virginia 14-13. John Sprunt Hill officially made the presentation of the stadium to Governor A.W. McLean who accepted on behalf of the University and state.

Carolina won its first state championship since 1925 during the 1928 season. Its 5-3-2 record that year included a 65-0 win over Wake Forest in the season opener. That still stands as the largest margin of victory in UNC history. President Calvin Coolidge attended the Carolina-Virginia game in Charlottesville that year and saw the Tar Heels pull out a 24-20 win. It was the first time a U.S. President had ever attended a game in the South.

Collins' first great team was the 1929 edition which went 9-1 and outscored its opponents 346-60. The only loss of the year came to Georgia and only Southern California scored more points during the course of the season. Ray Farris was the captain of that UNC team and was a unanimous All-Southern Conference choice at guard. Carolina was called the "Team of a Million Backs" and drew a record attendance of 139,500.

The 1931 team coached by Collins went 4-3-3 and won the state championship. The Carolina-Duke game went big time for the first time that year as a crowd of 20,000 in Durham watched the two teams play to their second straight scoreless tie. Johnny Branch, a great all-purpose runner, was the star of that squad.

The quiet Dutchman, Carl Snavely, came to Chapel Hill in 1934 from Bucknell to take over the coaching reins of the Tar Heels. It would be the first of two tours of duty for Snavely as head coach. The 1934 team went 7-1-1 and was led by George Barclay, UNC's first All-America in football, at guard. Carolina lost only to Tennessee and it tied N.C. State that season. The Carolina-Duke game drew state and Kenan record crowds as the Tar Heels eked out a 7-0 victory.

The 1935 team also proved to be a great one as Snavely led his squad to an 8-1 record. Carolina won its first seven of the season and there was talk that the Tar Heels were headed to the Rose Bowl. But arch-rival Duke made sure that didn't happen on Saturday, November 16 in Durham as the Blue Devils played an errorless game, winning 25-0. That game drew a new Southern attendance record of 47,000 and in total 149,500 saw UNC play during the course of the year, another record. After losing to Duke, UNC came back to pummel Virginia 61-0 and ended up eighth in the final Associated Press rankings. Ace passer Don Jackson was named a second-team All-America.

Ray Wolf came to Carolina in 1936 to coach after Snavely had gone on to Cornell. Wolf had six successful seasons at UNC, producing winning teams the first five. The 1936 team went 8-2 and lost only to Tulane and Duke. That squad was led by end Andy Bershak, who was a second-team All-America in 1936 and a first teamer a year later. Wolf's teams continued their success, going 7-1-1, 6-2-1, 8-1-1 and 6-4 in subsequent years. Some of Wolf's outstanding players were Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin and George Stirnweiss.

The World War II years were an unsettled time in Carolina athletic history. From 1942 through 1944, UNC had three different head coaches who put makeshift teams through the paces against adjusted schedules which included some military teams. Jim Tatum, an outstanding player at Carolina in the 1930s, coached the 1942 unit. He would return for another coaching tenure later.

Snavely returned to Chapel Hill in 1945 and during the next five years produced some of the best teams in Carolina football history. His 1948 team finished third in the AP poll, the highest final ranking ever for the Tar Heels.

An Omaha, Neb. native, Snavely was a 1915 alumnus of Lebanon Valley College. He had coached Carolina teams in 1934 and 1935 to a 15-2-1 record and returned in 1945 after nine years at Cornell. In fact, at Cornell in 1940, Snavely was involved in an infamous contest which would be recounted repeatedly some 50 years after the fact. Snavely was the coach who, upon learning it had taken a fifth down for his Big Red to defeat Dartmouth, wired the opposing coach Red Blaik and relinquished the victory.

His 1945 team did well, finishing 5-5 after winning only one game the previous season. Then the incomparable Charlie Justice arrived a year later, and with his compatriots, UNC went to three major bowl games and won two Southern Conference titles in the period from 1946-49.

Snavely's 1946 team was 8-2-1, won the Southern Conference championship and lost to Georgia, 20-10, in the Sugar Bowl. The 1947 team was probably the best of the four. It finished 8-2, winning its last seven, but went uninvited in the post-season. The 1948 unit had only a regular-season tie with William & Mary to mar its record. It went on to lose to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Finally, the 1949 team was unbeaten in the conference and finished 7-4 overall, losing to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Justice was not the only star of those Snavely teams. Art Weiner and Ken Powell were tremendous ends on those teams and Hosea Rodgers was a great rugged fullback of the era.

But Justice was the main attraction unquestionably. He ran and passed for over 4,000 yards in his four-year career and he averaged over 42 yards a punt. He had only two punts blocked in his career and both of those were in the first game of his freshman year. When he was done after the 1949 season, Justice had established NCAA records in total offense and punting and was considered the greatest punter of all time.

As a triple-threat All-America halfback, Justice captured the imagination and fancy of the football fan as no one else ever had. He was idolized and the attention he received from the fans and the media was almost unheard of in that time.

Charlie Justice led the Tar Heels to their first three bowl berths and national prominence in the late 1940s. Justice was twice runnerup for the Heisman Trophy and was the National Player of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club and Walter Camp Foundation in 1948.

A native of Asheville, he had served in the Navy in World War II and was already 26 years old by the time of his senior year in 1949. He capped his amazing career by being named the Most Valuable Player in the 1950 College All-Star Game in Chicago.

The departure of Justice from campus coincided with a 20-year drought in UNC's football fortunes. Snavely, despite all his earlier successes, could not produce a winning team after the Justice era. George Barclay, Carolina's first All-America player back in 1934, was brought in as head coach, but he encountered little success in his three years of running the program. That's when Carolina successfully lured Jim Tatum back to the fold. Tatum was a great UNC player in the 1930s and had coached the Tar Heels during World War II in 1942. He had since been at Maryland where he led the Terrapins to the national championship in 1953.

Tatum's first season back in Chapel Hill, in 1956, was rather undistinguished. The Tar Heels went 2-7-1 with victories over Virginia and Maryland. In 1957, in Tatum's first return trip to College Park where he had enjoyed so much success, the Carolina-Maryland game was marked by the appearance of Queen Elizabeth II. The queen and her entourage watched the Terrapins beat the Tar Heels 21-7. But that 1957 team finished 6-4 as did the 1958 team under Tatum's steady leadership.

It appeared Carolina had the corner turned when Tatum died suddenly in the summer of 1959 from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. He was replaced by assistant Jim Hickey whose teams did not meet with a great deal of success in his eight seasons as head coach. Hickey produced only one winning record, that in 1963 when the Tar Heels finished 9-2 and shared their first Atlantic Coast Conference title. That team went on to post the school's first win in a bowl game, a 35-0 decision over Air Force in the Gator Bowl. That 1963 squad was led by the running of Ken Willard, the passing of Junior Edge and Gary Black and the pass receiving of Bob Lacey. Linebacker Chris Hanburger was a stalwart on defense for the Tar Heels.

After Hickey resigned after a 2-8 season in 1966, UNC looked to Bill Dooley to revitalize its football fortunes. The choice proved to be a wise one. Dooley's teams won 69, lost 53 and tied two in his 11-year tenure. ACC championships were won under Dooley in 1971, 1972 and 1977. Bowl trips became a regular feature — six in all during the Dooley years.

After three rebuilding seasons, Dooley's first good team was in 1970. It finished 8-4 and went on to play Arizona State in the Peach Bowl. Tailback Don McCauley, who had gained 1,092 yards rushing in 1969, returned for a 1,720-yard season in 1970. He was the first of UNC's 23 1,000-yard rushers. The Garden City, N.Y. native's 1,720 yards in 1970 broke what was then O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA rushing standard.

Dooley's teams won back-to-back ACC titles in 1971 and 1972. The '71 team lost to Georgia 7-3 in the Gator Bowl in a matchup of coaching brothers, Vince Dooley being the head mentor of the Bulldogs. The 1972 team had an 11-1 record marred only by a loss at Ohio State. It won a thrilling 32-28 decision from Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

Mike Voight was the ACC Player of the Year in 1975 and 1976. He rushed for 1,000 or more yards on three occasions and is still the third-leading scorer (254 points) and second-leading rusher (3,971) in Carolina history. Voight is fifth among ACC career rushing leaders.

The mid-1970s brought more success as UNC made bowl appearances in 1974 (Sun), 1976 (Peach) and 1977 (Liberty). Sammy Johnson was a 1,000-yard rusher for Carolina in 1973, as was James Betterson in 1974. But the outstanding offensive player of this era was Mike Voight who gained over 1,000 yards in 1974, 1975 and 1976, including 1,407 yards in '76. Voight was named the ACC Player of the Year in both 1975 and '76 for his efforts.

The 1977 team would prove to be Dooley's last at UNC. It won the ACC title and earned a berth opposite Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. A rugged defense led by All-America tackle Dee Hardison helped Carolina lead the nation in scoring defense that season. UNC allowed only 81 points in 11 regular-season games. The new offensive star was a freshman tailback named Amos Lawrence, who rushed for 1,211 yards and was named ACC Rookie of the Year.

Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual role of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech. At that time, Carolina turned to the "Cradle of Coaches" at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to find its new head coach, Dick Crum.

Crum had just completed an outstanding four-year run at Miami. His 10 years as head coach at UNC were equally brilliant. The winningest coach in Tar Heel history, he compiled a 72-41-3 ledger at the UNC helm. He took six of his 10 UNC teams to bowl games, winning on four occasions, and the 1980 squad won the ACC championship.

After a 5-6 record in 1978, Crum's teams from 1979 through 1983 went to five successive bowls and won 45 games. UNC posted four consecutive bowl wins over national football powers, beating Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl, Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and Texas again in the 1982 Sun Bowl.

In 1980 and 1981, UNC became the first team in league history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire service polls in successive years. The 1980 team was 11-1 and ranked ninth by United Press International and 10th by Associated Press. The 1981 unit was 10-2 and rated eighth by UPI and ninth by AP. Two more Carolina teams coached by Crum would later go to Bowl games, the 1983 team to the Peach Bowl to face Florida State and the 1986 corps to the Aloha Bowl for a meeting with Arizona.

There was a plethora of outstanding players at Carolina during the Crum era and the Tar Heel football record book was being constantly updated. In 1980, linebacker Lawrence Taylor was named the ACC Player of the Year and he went on to All-Pro status with the New York Giants. That season, Taylor led what was one of the greatest defenses in ACC history. Other great defensive players at UNC included linebacker Buddy Curry, defensive tackle Donnell Thompson, linebacker Darrell Nicholson, defensive back Steve Streater, defensive tackle William Fuller and outside linebacker Mike Wilcher. All of those players were All-ACC selections and several went on to have distin-

Although Crum's teams were known for their rugged defense, Carolina also excelled offensively, leading the ACC in total offense four times in the 1980s and ranking sixth nationally in 1986.

There were several reasons behind the offensive fireworks. First, there was a succession of outstanding running backs. Five different players gained 1,000 or more yards rushing in a season a total of 10 times under Crum's tutelage. After his brilliant freshman year, Lawrence went on to gain 1,000 yards three more times. He is one of only three players in college football history to gain 1,000 yards rushing in each of their four seasons. Kelvin Bryant overcame an injury-marred career to gain 1,000 yards on three occasions. Ethan Horton turned the trick twice in his career and both Tyrone Anthony and Derrick Fenner had one 1,000-yard rushing season each.

A second reason behind UNC's offensive success was the presence of some outstanding offensive linemen in the '80s, four of whom gained first-team All-America status – guard Ron Wooten in 1980, guard David Drechsler in 1981 and '82, tackle Brian Blados in 1983 and tackle Harris Barton in 1986.

Carolina's offense also became more diversified in the Crum era and the passing section of the Carolina record book was basically rewritten at that time by a string of accomplished starters at quarterback– Matt Kupec, Rod Elkins, Scott Stankavage, Kevin Anthony and Mark Maye.

At the conclusion of the 1987 season, Crum resigned to return home to his native Ohio and was replaced by Tulane head coach Mack Brown, whose first two teams struggled to 1-10 records. Center Jeff Garnica was a third-team All-America and the Jacobs Blocking Trophy recipient in 1988 as the best offensive lineman in the ACC. Offensive guard Pat Crowley became only the second offensive lineman in ACC history to be named All-ACC in three successive years when he accomplished that feat in 1989.

The blocking of those two players was instrumental in tailback Kennard Martin leading the ACC in rushing in 1988 with 1,146 yards.

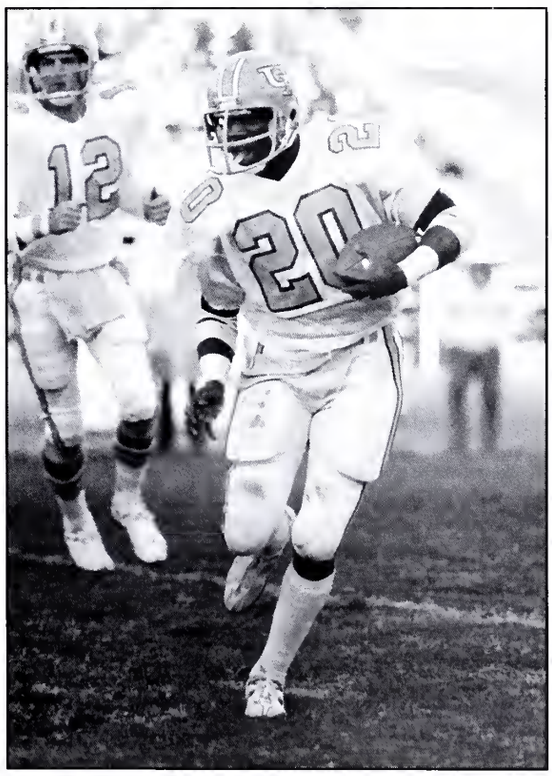
The Tar Heels turned things around in 1990, however, and put together a solid 6-4-1 record and even returned to the Top 25 at one point in the season. Inside linebacker Dwight Hollier led the ACC in tackles for the second consecutive season and rookie tailback Natrone Means capped a stellar second half of the season with a 256-yard, three-touchdown effort vs. Duke. Along the way, Carolina tied Georgia Tech 13-13; the stalemate proved to be the only blemish on the Yellow Jackets' otherwise-perfect national championship ledger.

In 1991, Means became the 11th Tar Heel to rush for more than 1,000 yards for an NCAA-record 20th time. Means ran for 1,030 yards and topped the 1,000-yard plateau on an electrifying, 68-yard scamper in the Tar Heels' 47-14 rout over Duke. Means, inside linebacker Tommy Thigpen and offensive guard Brian Bollinger each were first-team All-ACC selections.

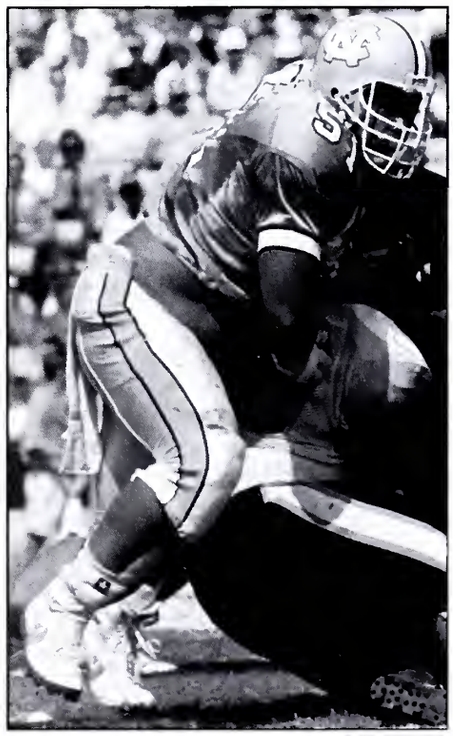
1992 was another filled with great players, spectacular plays and electrifying memories. The Tar Heels won nine games, including a 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, and finished the season ranked in the Top 20 in both major polls.

Means rushed for 1,195 yards, the 21st

Kelvin Bryant averaged nearly seven yards per rush in 1981. He was a Heisman Trophy favorite in 1982 when he rushed for 529 yards and 14 touchdowns in the first three games, but an injury caused him to miss the next four contests.



Amos Lawrence rushed for 1,000 yards in each of his four seasons in Chapel Hill.



Pat Crowley earned first-team All-America honors at guard in 1989 and was a three-time first-team All-ACC choice.

1,000-yard rushing season in Carolina history. He had a 249-yard day at Maryland and once again dramatically crashed the 1,000-yard club with a 76-yard touchdown scamper against the Terrapins.

The Tar Heels defeated Top 20 opposition on consecutive weekends in mid-season, the first time in the program's history the team accomplished that feat.

Carolina accepted a bid to play in the Peach Bowl and provided one of the year's most entertaining bowl games. Trailing by two touchdowns in the third quarter, UNC rallied for a 21-17 win. Means, a repeat first-team All-ACC selection, gained 128 yards and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Strong safety Bracey Walker tied the game when he blocked a punt, his second of the game, and returned it 41 yards for a score.

Walker, the game's Defensive MVP, set up the game-winning touchdown when he forced an interception with a jarring fourth-quarter hit. Cornerback Cliff Baskerville picked the loose ball out of the air and raced 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

The 1993 Tar Heels provided one of the most entertaining seasons in Carolina history. UNC won 10 games for the first time in a dozen years, finished second in the ACC, 19th in the Associated Press poll and played in a bowl game for a second consecutive season.

UNC set nearly 40 team and individual records, including most points, points per game and total offense. Walker was named first-team All-America by several organizations and was a first-team All-ACC selection along with tailback Curtis Johnson and offensive tackle Ethan Albright.

Johnson and red-shirt freshman tailback Leon Johnson each rushed for 1,000-plus yards. Curtis rushed for 1,034 yards and set a school record with a 90-yard score vs. Maryland; Leon was named the ACC Rookie of the Year as he rushed for 1,012 yards and led the conference with 16 touchdowns and 100 points.

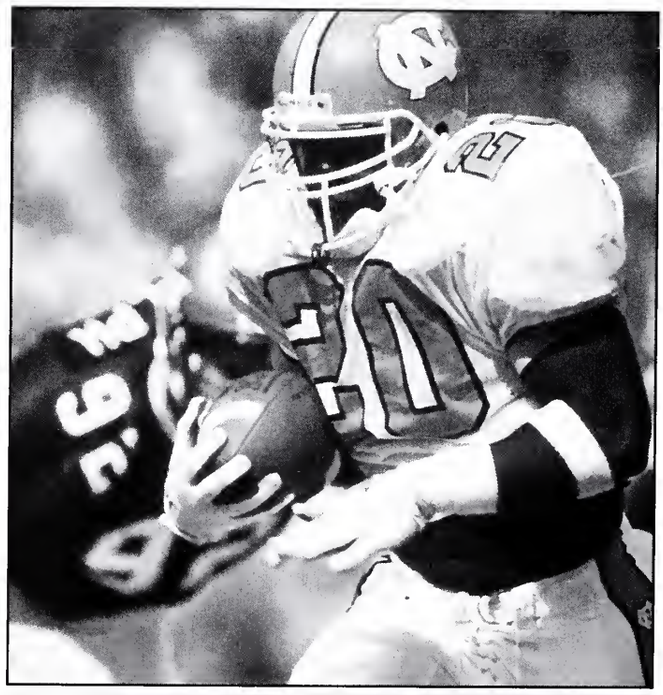
Quarterback Jason Stanicek set UNC records for one season in total offense (2,284 yards), total yards per game (190.3), completion percentage (64.1) and pass efficiency rating (145.79).

Corey Holliday concluded his brilliant career as Carolina's all-time leading pass receiver. Twice selected a captain by his teammates, Holliday finished his four years with 155 receptions for 2,447 yards and caught a pass in an ACC-record 45 consecutive games. He had nine receptions, a UNC postseason record, versus Alabama in Carolina's 24-10 loss in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

In 1994 Carolina went 8-4, losing to Texas, 35-31, in the Sun Bowl in an exhilirating contest. Stanicek concluded his career as the school's alltime total offense leader. Stanicek passed "Choo Choo" Justice's mark, which had stood since 1949, in the fifth game of the season and finished his standout career with 5,497 yards. Stanicek also set UNC career records for most pass completions (372), attempts (622), yards (4,683) and completion percentage (.598). He tied Matt Kupec's school mark for most wins by a starting quarterback with 24.

Marcus Wall set a Tar Heel record for most touchdown catches in a season with nine. He added a touchdown catch in the Sun Bowl, returned a kickoff for a score against Duke, returned a punt for a touchdown against Texas and had a rushing touchdown against N.C. State.

Jason Stanicek proved to be one of the most important players in Tar Heel history. Stanicek became UNC's alltime total offense leader, led UNC to three bowl games and equalled the school record for wins by a quarterback. Stanicek's efforts from 1991-94 were key in UNC's climb up the national rankings.



Natrone Means was a prominent figure in Carolina's return to the Top 25 in the early 1990s. Means ran for 1,030 yards in 1991 and 1,195 in 1992. He was the Offensive MVP of the 1993 Peach Bowl.

Carolina beat Duke 41-40 in one of the most exciting games in the storied history of that rivalry. The Blue Devils scored a pair of quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter to go ahead, 38-34, with less than 3:00 to play. Mike Thomas quickly connected with freshman Octavus Barnes on a short crossing route and Barnes raced past the entire secondary for a 71-yard game-winning score.

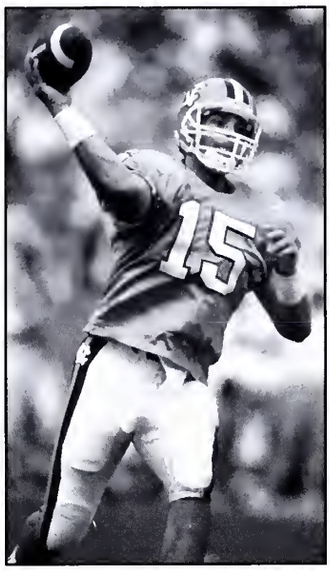
Barnes established an ACC record for receiving yards in a season by a freshman with 609. He had 165 yards on receptions, the third-highest single-game figure in Carolina history, in the regular-season finale at Duke and again in the Sun Bowl against Texas.

The 1995 Tar Heels rebounded from an 0-2 start to post a winning season for the sixth consecutive year and received an invitation to the Carquest Bowl in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Defensive tackle Marcus Jones was the ACC Defensive Player of the Year and became the first UNC player in nine years to be named consensus first-team All-America. Jones topped Lawrence Taylor's career UNC sack record as he concluded his four years with 24, three more than Taylor.

Mike Thomas set numerous single-season total offense and passing records, including most yards of total offense (2,489), most yards passing (2,436), most pass attempts (332) and most completions (185). He threw for more than 200 yards in each of the first six games and concluded his career with a school-record nine 200-yard outings.

Tailback Leon Johnson and split end Octavus Barnes each surpassed the previous school record for pass receptions in a season. Johnson led the team in rushing with 963 yards and added 54 receptions. Barnes had 53 catches for 970 yards.

Johnson rushed for 195 yards and a touchdown in the 20-10 win over Arkansas in the Carquest Bowl. That is the highest rushing total in Carolina postseason history. Barnes established a UNC record with four 100-yard receiving games. He caught three touchdown passes and totaled 211 yards receiving, the second-highest figure in school history, in a 62-0 rout of Ohio.



Chris Keldorf threw a UNC record 35 touchdown passes in just two seasons, was All-ACC in 1996 and the Gator Bowl MVP a year later.

Marcus Jones was named first-team All-America by the Associated Press, the American Football Coaches Association, the Walter Camp Foundation and United Press International.

1996 was one of the finest in Carolina history. The Tar Heels went 10-2, won the Gator Bowl and finished 10th in both national polls. Brown was named the ACC Coach of the Year as he directed a new-look offense to record-setting heights.

Seven Tar Heels earned first-team All-ACC honors led by quarterback Chris Keldorf, a junior college transfer, who set UNC single-season passing records for completions (201), yards (2,347) and touchdowns (23).

Leon Johnson set alltime UNC records for scoring (306) and touchdowns (50) and established the alltime ACC mark with 5,828 all-purpose yards. He earned All-ACC honors as a kick returner.

The Tar Heel defense, led by National Defensive Coordinator of the Year Carl Torbush, led the country in scoring and was second with 225.6 total yards per game. Red-shirt freshman cornerback Dre' Bly led the country in interceptions with an ACC-record 11 and was a consensus first-team All-America. Bly was just the fifth freshman in history and the first freshman defensive player to be named an AP All-America.

The year began with a 45-0 win over Clemson and included a 52-20 rout over N.C. State. Carolina went to Syracuse in the second week and beat the No. 9-ranked Orangemen, UNC's first road win over a Top 10 team since 1966.

The Tar Heels tied for second in the ACC. They played West Virginia in the Gator Bowl without Keldorf, who suffered a fracture dislocation of his left ankle in the last regular-season game. Oscar Davenport came off the bench to win MVP honors as he completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and he passed and ran for scores.

The 1997 season may go down as the most memorable in Carolina football history. The Tar Heels went 11-1, won the Gator Bowl for the second year in a row and finished fourth in the final coaches' poll and sixth in the final Associated Press poll. UNC lived up to lofty preseason predictions and spent the entire year in the Top 10.

The Tar Heels were once again led by a stifling defense. UNC allowed just 209.3 yards per game, the second-lowest figure in the NCAA and the lowest total by an ACC team since 1963. It was the fewest yards allowed by Carolina since 1948. The defense featured three first-round draft picks (defensive end Greg Ellis, defensive tackle Vonnie Holliday and linebacker Brian Simmons), a Butkus Award finalist (linebacker Kivuusama Mays) and three first-team All-Americas (Ellis, Simmons and Bly).

Bly became the first UNC football player in history to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in more than one season. He had five interceptions to lead a secondary that was third in the country in passing yards allowed.

Carolina was the only defense in the country to have finalists for the Lombardi (Ellis), Butkus (Mays) and Thorpe (Bly) Awards.

Davenport earned Team MVP honors by completing 62.8 percent of his passes and leading the Tar Heels to come-from-behind wins over Stanford, Virginia and Georgia Tech. His season ended in the ninth week when he suffered a broken ankle in the loss to Florida State. That game featured the second-ranked Seminoles and fifth-ranked Tar Heels and was played in front of 62,000 fans, the largest crowd ever at Kenan Stadium.

Keldorf returned as the reigning All-ACC quarterback, lost his starting job, and finally replaced an injured Davenport late in the season. He set a single-game UNC record at Texas Christian by throwing for 415 yards, set the school record for career passing touchdowns with 35 and finished his career with sensational performances in wins over Clemson, Duke and Virginia Tech. Keldorf engineered the Tar Heels' 17-10 win at Clemson, Carolina's first triumph in Death Valley since 1980. Keldorf wrapped his remarkable two-year career with an MVP performance in win over the Hokies in the Gator Bowl as threw for 290 yards and three touchdowns.

The 1997 season was the last for Mack Brown as head coach. He resigned on December 5th to become the head coach at Texas. Brown finished his 10-year career at Carolina with a 69-46-1 record. The 69 wins equal the second-most in UNC history.

Athletic director Dick Baddour promoted defensive coordinator Carl Torbush to head coach on December 8, 1997. Torbush, defensive coordinator since 1988, directed the Tar Heels to a 42-3 win over Virginia Tech in the Gator Bowl.

The 1998 season began with three straight defeats, but Torbush rallied the Tar Heels to six wins in the last eight regular-season games. That earned Carolina an invitation to the Las Vegas Bowl, where the Tar Heels beat San Diego State, 20-13.

Davenport was injured on the first series in the season opener. That injury forced the debut of freshman Ronald Curry, who would establish UNC single-season freshman records for passing yards (975), touchdown passes (six), completions (66) and total offense yards (1,394). Curry had a 48-yard touchdown run and was named Offensive MVP of the Las Vegas Bowl.

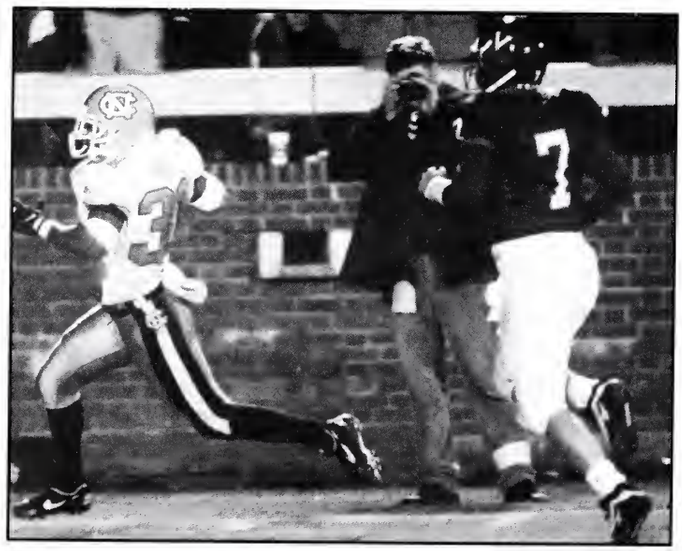
Na Brown tied his own school record with 55 receptions for 897 yards and became Carolina's alltime leading receiver with 165 catches. His most memorable grab was the game-winning touchdown pass from Davenport in overtime to beat NC State, 37-34. The game was played in Charlotte, N.C., before a record crowd of 68,797.

Ebenezer Ekuban set a UNC record with 23 tackles for losses, earned the ACC's Top Senior Student-Athlete Award and was named first-team All-ACC. Ekuban was joined on the All-ACC squad by Bly, who set the conference career record for interceptions with 20.

Bly was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation and became the only player in ACC history to be named first-team All-America in three different seasons.

Carolina was beset by injuries early in the 1999 season but improved throughout the course of the year. The Tar Heels did not allow a touchdown in the final 10 quarters of the season. UNC defeated rivals Duke and NC State, with the win over the Wolfpack coming via a classic goalline tackle by Errol Hood and David Bomar that preserved a 10-6 win.

Brian Schmitz set an ACC and UNC record by averaging 47.8 yards per punt and was named a first-team All-America by The Sporting News. Schmitz's career punting average of 44.4 yards per kick is best in ACC history.



Dre' Bly set the ACC alltime record with 20 interceptions and is the only player in ACC history to be named first-team All-America in three seasons.

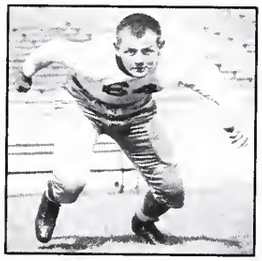
GEORGE BARCLAY
Guard, 1934

Barclay was Carolina's first football All-America. The 5-11, 185-pound guard and linebacker was a three-year standout for Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A fine blocker and an extraordinary tackler, Barclay lined up in the offensive interior next to tackle Jim Tatum. He was captain of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as head coach at Carolina for three seasons, from 1953 to 1955.

ANDY BERSHAK
End, 1937

A 185-pound end, Bershak was a two-way performer for the Tar Heels. He was a fine receiver, but was even better on defense. He played two years for Carl Snavely and one for Ray Wolf. Bershak, an honor student, was also a basketball starter. He was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.



STEVE MARONIC
Tackle, 1938

Maronic was a two-way tackle for the Tar Heels and team co-captain in 1938. He was an "iron man" playing almost 60 minutes in every game that season. He turned in two of his best performances in front of the New York media against NYU at Yankee Stadium and Fordham at the Polo Grounds. Those games solidified his All-America chances. Maronic also was a place-kicker and hit 13 straight PATs in his final season.

PAUL SEVERIN
End, 1939-40

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils in 1940.

CHARLIE JUSTICE

Twice a runnerup for the Heisman Trophy, Charlie Justice is rated by many as the best all-around player in the history of Southern football. He was a true triple-threat performer, leading Carolina in rushing, passing and punting from 1946 to 1949. He sparked Tar Heel teams which appeared in the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. He was the school's alltime total offense leader with 4,883 yards for more than 40 years and also ranks as the Tar Heels' third-leading career scorer, eighth-leading rusher and 16th-leading passer. He had a career punting average of 42.6 and averaged 14.2 yards on punt returns and 26.6 yards on kickoff returns.

Justice is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. In 1948 he received the national player of the year award from the Washington Touchdown Club and was recipient of the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy.

KEN POWELL
Defensive End, 1949

Teamed with Art Weiner to give the Tar Heels a formidable pass receiving threat in the post-Wold War II "Justice Era." Was outstanding the 1947 Sugar Bowl against Georgia. Earned first-team All-America honors at defensive end in 1949 by NEA. That organization named Powell to its All-America Team on defense, the first time it selected All-Americas on both offense and defense. He finished his career with 23 pass receptions for 324 yards and three touchdowns.

ART WEINER

A great all-around end, Weiner led the nation in receiving in 1949 with 52 catches. He had been seventh nationally in receiving the previous year with 31 catches. His 106 career catches are the sixth-most in school history and until 1997 he held the UNC career record with 18 touchdown receptions. However, many remember him best for a game-saving defensive play on the last snap of the 1949 Duke game. After his senior season Weiner was named the most outstanding lineman in the Senior Bowl. Weiner was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1992.

IRV HOLDASH
Center, 1950

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He probably made All-America in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7 loss at Notre Dame. Irish quarterback Bobby Williams called him "the best I've played against."

AL GOLDSTEIN

Outstanding two-way end. He earned All-America honors in 1958 by making 24 catches for 490 yards, averaging an amazing 20.4 yards per reception. Adept at making the seemingly impossible catch, he had a 68-yard TD reception at Virginia. He also starred defensively and had a 46-yard interception return for a touchdown against Maryland.

BOB LACEY

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating the Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He was the first Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches in two seasons. His career total of 102 receptions is the seventh-best in school history.

DON MCCAULEY
Halfback, 1970

Don McCauley shattered the Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference record books with a dazzling senior season in 1970. He rushed for 1,720 yards and scored 21 touchdowns, setting marks which still stand. His 1,720 yards was an alltime collegiate high at the time, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA record. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running that season. He was twice the ACC Player of the Year and still ranks fifth in career rushing at Carolina. He had a lengthy professional career with the Baltimore Colts.

RON RUSNAK
Offensive Guard, 1972

Rusnak was a unanimous All-America selection in 1972 as Carolina posted an 11-1 record. At 6-2 and 220 pounds, he did not have the size to play professional football, but Rusnak was a great college player. He was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice, starting on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. In 1972 he won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the ACC.

FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICA PROFILES

KEN HUFF
Offensive Guard, 1974

Huff was a key man on one of the most explosive units in Carolina history. He was the leader of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels accumulate 4,691 yards in 1974, at the time a school record. The 6-4, 255-pound Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sparked in great part by his play up front, the Tar Heels had two backs rush for over 1,000 yards in the same season. Huff was the third player selected in the NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

CHARLES WADDELL
Tight End, 1974

Waddell rates as one of the best all-around athletes in Carolina history. He won three football letters, two in basketball and one in track. Not only was he a fine receiver at tight end, but he was also a dynamic blocker. He set a school single-game record in 1974 with three touchdown catches against Clemson. He had 41 career catches for 518 yards and seven TDs. His professional career was cut short by a knee injury.

DEE HARDISON
Defensive Tackle, 1977

A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, Hardison played on one of the top defensive teams in Carolina history. UNC led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. The Tar Heels led the ACC in total, rushing, passing and scoring defense. A big reason was the play of Hardison, a 6-3, 252-pound tackle who dominated the line of scrimmage all season. After leaving Carolina he began a lengthy NFL career with the Buffalo Bills.

RICKY BARDEN
Defensive Back, 1979

One of the top defensive backs in Carolina history, Barden was a repeat All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in 1978 and 1979. Barden made nine career interceptions. He started at cornerback for two years and then was shifted to strong safety for his final year where he broke up nine passes and was the third-leading tackler on the team. His 156 yards on interception returns are the third-most in school history.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR
Outside Linebacker, 1980

From midway in his junior season until the end of his senior year in 1980, Taylor dominated the football field as few defensive players ever had. Now regarded as the finest outside linebacker in the history of the game, Taylor had a remarkable senior season which featured 16 quarterback sacks and six other tackles for losses. In Carolina's only close games in an 11-1 season, Taylor made the game-saving defensive plays against Texas Tech and Clemson. He was a runaway selection as ACC Player of the Year.

RON WOOTEN
Offensive Guard, 1980

Wooten won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was the leading vote-getter in the offensive line on the All-ACC team. He was one of the leaders of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels lead the ACC in total offense and which also helped produce two 1,000-yard backs. He went on to become a starting guard with New England in the NFL.

DAVID DRECHSLER
Offensive Guard, 1981-82

Drechsler became Carolina's first two-time All-America since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner when he earned first-team honors in 1981 and 1982. He played every position in the offensive interior during his Carolina career, but settled in at guard. The 6-4, 253-pound Drechsler played on Tar Heel teams which were 37-10-1 and were unbeaten in four bowl games. He also was the winner of a post-graduate scholarship from the NCAA. Drechsler went on to become a starter with the Green Bay Packers until a back injury forced him to give up the game.

WILLIAM FULLER
Defensive Tackle, 1982-83

Fuller is one of just six Carolina players to win first-team All-America honors twice. Although powerfully built at 6-3 and 250 pounds, Fuller's greatest asset was his quickness. He used that quickness to make 13 tackles for losses and six sacks in 1982 and 17 tackles for losses with five sacks the following year. He was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 All-ACC team and is one of just three defensive linemen ever to make All-ACC for three straight years.

Harris Barton

BRIAN BLADOS
Offensive Tackle, 1983

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

HARRIS BARTON

Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.

PAT CROWLEY
Offensive Guard, 1989

Crowley was a standout offensive guard and a leader of the first of Mack Brown's teams. He won first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and became only the second offensive lineman in conference history to win three all-league honors (Virginia's Jim Dombrowski was the other). He started every game in his college career and helped open the way for a pair of 1,000-yard backs (Derrick Fenner in 1986 and Kennard Martin in 1988). He is one of three Tar Heels to be named first-team All-ACC in three seasons.

BRACEY WALKER
Free Safety, 1993

The first Carolina defensive back to ever receive first-team All-America honors by a major organization, Walker burst onto the scene in 1992 when he was one of the stars of the Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State. Walker blocked two punts in that game, returned one of them for a tying touchdown and set up the game-winning interception with a jarring collision. He was the Defensive MVP of the Peach Bowl.

In 1993 he led the Tar Heels with 100 tackles and was the co-leading vote-getter on the All-ACC first team defense. He also blocked four more punts, two of which were recovered in the end zone by Carolina, and was named the National Special Teams Player of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

MARCUS JONES

Jones became the first Tar Heel to earn consensus first-team All-America honors since Harris Barton in 1986 and the first defensive lineman since William Fuller in 1982-83. Jones had 25 career sacks and finished with 222 tackles. That included 46 behind the line of scrimmage. He broke Lawrence Taylor's school record for sacks and held that mark until Greg Ellis broke the record in 1997.

He was named the Atlantic Coast Conference Defensive Player of the Year in 1995 and earned first-team All-ACC honors for the second straight season. He became the first Tar Heel defender to repeat all-conference selections since Tim Goad in 1986-87.

As a senior he had a career-high 94 tackles, despite facing constant double- and triple-team efforts. He registered an ACC-leading 19 tackles for losses for 74 yards, seven of which were quarterback sacks. He was hampered in the first half of the season by a knee sprain. Over the last five weeks, however, he averaged 10.8 tackles per game and had 16 tackles for losses for 65 yards, including six sacks for 41 yards, and pressured the quarterback 13 times.

Quite fittingly, Jones capped his career by sacking Arkansas quarterback Barry Lunney on the Razorbacks' final offensive play in Carolina's 20-10 win in the 1995 Carquest Bowl.

FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICA PROFILES

DRE' BLY
Cornerback, 1996-97

The first freshman to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in ACC history, Bly became just the fifth freshman in NCAA history to be named to the Associated Press All-America first team. He was also a first-team All-America selection by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, the Football Writers Association of America, The Sporting News and Athlon Sports and a finalist for the Jim Thorpe Award as the National Defensive Back of the Year. He earned Atlantic Coast Conference first-team honors and was the league's Rookie of the Year. He is the only UNC freshman to earn first-team All-America honors.

He made two second-half interceptions, broke up two passes and had seven tackles against West Virginia in the 1997 Gator Bowl.

Bly led the nation in interceptions and interceptions per game. He set an ACC single-season interceptions record with 11, one more than Bob Sullivan of Maryland had in 10 games in 1965. The Chesapeake, Va. native had three multi-interception games, including three against Georgia Tech, two at Florida State and two at Virginia.

In 1997, Bly became the first player in UNC history to repeat consensus first-team All-America honors. He had five interceptions, including one he returned for a touchdown in a comeback win over Virginia.

Last year, he set the ACC alltime record with his 20th interception (not counting the two he had in the Gator Bowl). He was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation. Bly is the only player in ACC history to earn first-team All-America honors on three occasions.

CHARLIE "CHOO CHOO" JUSTICE

Hugh Morton

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar...a hero...a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state as no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowls. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's number one college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. The war had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to help them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made the Bell Tower Chime, Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ringleader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb.

The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kind of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks. Plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy Squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snavely—"I hope he comes out for football"—became a classic understatement.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40, and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train,") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing on the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

The Snavely system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by players' ability and maturity to accept Snavely's often complicated maneuvers.

A book, "Choo Choo", documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All The Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record of 4,883 yards lasted for 45 years until quarterback Jason Stanicek broke the mark in 1994. Justice, graciously, was on hand to congratulate Stanicek.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runnerup for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron.

HONORED JERSEYS

Eighteen former University of North Carolina football players have been honored in special fashion as their names and jersey numbers have been placed on the facade of Kenan Stadium's upper deck. The most recent – cornerback Dre' Bly – was honored in the fall of 1999.

The men being honored include five who have already had their jersey numbers retired, Carolina's consensus first-team All-Americas and any athlete who was named Atlantic Coast Conference Football Player of the Year. Consensus All-Americas are those players who made the majority of the first-team selections in any given year.

The players whose names and numbers are honored in the stadium are:

GEORGE BARCLAY #99

A guard and linebacker from 1932 to 1934, whose number has been retired. He was the school's first football All-America and is a member of the state of North Carolina's Sports Hall of Fame. A guard and linebacker at 5-11, 185 pounds, Barclay was a standout for three seasons under coaches Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A tremendous blocker and ferocious tackler, he was captain of the 1934 team that went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as UNC's head coach from 1953 until 1955.

ANDY BERSHAK #59

A great two-way end from 1935 to 1937, who was a consensus All-America in 1937. His number has also been retired. Bershak was a brilliant defender and his team's top receiver. He also was a starter on the basketball team and an honor student. Bershak was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

BILL SUTHERLAND #46

A blocking back on the 1946 Sugar Bowl team, whose number has been retired. He died in an auto accident after his freshman year, stunning his teammates and Coach Carl Snavely. Sutherland was named one of the Tar Heels' three captains for what would have been his sophomore season and Snavely worked to ensure that his number would be retired.

CHARLIE JUSTICE #22

Arguably the most famous and popular athlete in the history of the state. Justice was a consensus All-America and twice runnerup for the Heisman Trophy. During his four seasons, 1946-49, Carolina went to the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. A single-wing tailback, he still holds many of the school's total offense records. In addition, he was a sensational punter and kick returner. He was the 1948 National Player of the Year.

ART WEINER #50

An outstanding two-way end from 1946 to 1949, whose number has been retired. Weiner won All-America honors in 1948 and 1949 and was the nation's leading receiver as a senior. He teamed with the legendary Charlie Justice to form perhaps the most potent offensive duo in school history. Voted the top lineman in the Senior Bowl, Weiner is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame. He is still fifth in UNC receptions with 106.

DANNY TALBOTT #10

A star quarterback from 1964 to 1966 and the 1965 ACC Player of the Year under Head Coach Jim Hickey.

Talbott led the league in total offense and scoring that season. He had 318 yards of total offense in one game against Georgia, at the time a school record.

DON MCCAULEY #23

The ACC Player of the Year as a junior and senior and a consensus All-America in 1970, his final season. McCauley was the first of Carolina's NCAA-record 23 backs to rush for 1,000 yards. He twice led the ACC in rushing with 1,092 yards in 1969 and 1,720 in 1970. That latter total at the time broke O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA record. He also led the nation in all-purpose running as a senior and his 126 points that year still is the league record.

RON RUSNAK #62

An offensive guard on three bowl teams from 1970 to 1972, who won unanimous All-America honors in his senior season. At 6-2, 220 pounds, Rusnak wasn't as big as some linemen, but had great technique. He was the cornerstone of the offensive front on the 1972 team which went 11-1. Rusnak was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. He won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1972 as the best blocker in the ACC.

KEN HUFF #68

A three-year starter at offensive guard from 1972 to 1974 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Huff was a dynamic blocker at 6-4 and 250 pounds. He was the key figure on the 1974 line which helped Carolina boast a pair of 1,000-yard backs and lead the ACC in total offense, rushing and scoring. Led by Huff, UNC accumulated 4,691 yards, at the time a school record. The Tar Heels were fifth nationally in total offense and ninth in scoring that season. Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference and was the third player selected overall in the 1974 NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

MIKE VOIGHT #44

A hard-running tailback from 1973 to 1976, who was the ACC Player of the Year as both a junior and senior. Voight is second in Carolina history in scoring and rushing with 254 points and 3,971 yards, respectively. He had three 1,000-yard seasons and twice was the top ground-gainer in the ACC. In 1976 he scored 110 points and ran for 1,407 yards, including 261 in his final game — a dramatic 39-38 shootout with Duke.

DEE HARDISON #71

A defensive tackle from 1974 to 1977 and a consensus All-America as a senior. Hardison was the star of one of Carolina's greatest defenses in his final year. He dominated the line of scrimmage all season long as the Tar Heels led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, giving up just 7.4 points a game. Carolina also topped the ACC in total, rushing and pass defense that year. No team would lead the league in all four again until Florida State in its 1993 national championship season.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR #98

Lawrence Taylor (98), an outside linebacker from 1977 to 1980, who is regarded as the greatest player of all time at that position. Taylor was a consensus All-America and the ACC Player of the Year in 1980. He had a Carolina-record 16 quarterback sacks that season for losses totaling 127 yards. Sparked by his play, the Tar Heels went 11-1 in 1980 and won the ACC championship.

WILLIAM FULLER #95

A defensive lineman from 1980 to 1983, who was a consensus All-America as a senior. Also honored as a first-team All-America as a junior, he is one of only six Tar Heel players to be named first-team All-America twice. Fuller, who utilized his tremendous quickness to slice through offensive lines, had 22 tackles for losses in both 1981 and 1983. He is one of only three defensive linemen ever to make the All-ACC team three times.

ETHAN HORTON #12

The Associated Press ACC Player of the Year as a senior, Horton rushed for 1,247 yards in 1984 after a 1,107-yard performance in 1983. He was named the game's co-MVP in UNC's 1981 Gator Bowl win over Arkansas and was the MVP of the 1982 Sun Bowl.

MARCUS JONES #71

A defensive end/tackle from 1992-95, who was a consensus All-America and the ACC Defensive Player of the Year as a senior. Jones had 24 career quarterback sacks to break Lawrence Taylor's school record. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, Jones led a Tar Heel defense which had the ACC's number-one rated total defense in 1995. He finished his career with 222 tackles, including 46 for losses. Jones helped Carolina to four straight bowl invitations and wins in the 1993 Peach and 1995 Carquest Bowls.

DRE' BLY #31

The Chesapeake, Va., native is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to earn first-team All-America honors in three different seasons. Bly became the first freshman defensive player in college football history to earn consensus first-team All-America honors in 1996. When he repeated consensus honors in 1997, he became the first two-time consensus All-America in UNC football history. In 1998, he set the alltime ACC record for interceptions with 20 and was named first-team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation.

Bly led the nation as a freshman with 11 interceptions in the regular season and added two more pass thefts in the Gator Bowl win over West Virginia. Bly was named first-team All-America in 1996 by the Associated Press, The Sporting News, the Football Writers and the Walter Camp Foundation. In 1997, Bly added five more interceptions and was named All-America by the Associated Press, the Walter Camp Foundation, the Football Writers and Football News.

GREG ELLIS #87

A defensive end from 1994-97, Ellis is UNC's alltime leader in quarterback sacks. The Wendell, N.C., native had 32.5 sacks for 253 yards in his career. He anchored a defense that was second in the country in total yards in each of his final two seasons. Carolina posted a 21-3 record in that span and had consecutive Top 10 finishes in the polls. Ellis is one of only three players in Carolina football history to be named first-team All-ACC three times. He was voted by his teammates as a team captain and the best overall senior. He was the eighth selection in the first round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the Dallas Cowboys.

BRIAN SIMMONS #41

An outside linebacker from 1994-97, Simmons was a major contributor in Carolina's rise to the Top 10 in his final two seasons. A first-round draft selection of the Cincinnati Bengals, Simmons had 317 tackles over his last three seasons. He was named first-team All-America as a senior by the Associated Press, Walter Camp Foundation and Football News and was a first-team All-ACC selection and second-team A.P. All-America as a junior. The New Bern, N.C., native finished his career with 36 tackles for losses and 11 sacks.

CAROLINA'S THOUSAND-YARD TRADITION

When Jonathan Linton rushed for 199 yards in Carolina's 50-14 win over Duke in the 1997 regular-season finale, he became the 14th Tar Heel running back to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. Linton, now with the Buffalo Bills, finished that 11-1 season with 1,004 yards. UNC players have accomplished the feat 24 times, an NCAA record. The University of Southern California is second with 21.

Those 24 1,000-yard seasons have been achieved in the last 32 years, beginning with Don McCauley, who had back-to-back 1,000-yard campaigns in 1969 and 1970. Linton was the fourth different Tar Heel back to gain 1,000 yards in the 1990s. Natrone Means had 1,030 yards as a sophomore in 1991 and 1,195 yards in leading UNC to nine wins in 1992. In '91, Means topped 1,000 yards on his final carry of the season, a 68-yard touchdown run versus Duke. He vaulted past 1,000 in similar fashion a year later as he reached the magical figure on a wild, 76-yard scoring scamper at Maryland.

Means entered the NFL Draft after his junior year, but Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson responded with tandem 1,000-yard seasons in 1993. That was the fourth time in UNC history that not one, but two, players topped the 1,000-yard mark.

Carolina's 24 1,000-yard seasons are more than the next two ACC schools have combined. Virginia is second in number of 1,000-yard seasons with 11 and NC State is third with nine. Clemson is next with eight, Florida State and Wake Forest have seven, Georgia Tech and Maryland each have five and Duke has four.

In a 12-year period from 1973 to 1984, Carolina had at least one player break the 1,000-yard mark each season. Three times in that era, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. It has been rare in college football for a school to produce two 1,000-yard backs in one year. When it has happened it has generally been with option attacks– the veer or the wishbone. But, on all four occasions when Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers, the players actually shared the same position– tailback in an I-formation.

Carolina and USC have each had two players rush for 1,000 yards three times– Mike Voight and Kelvin Bryant of the Tar Heels and the Trojans' Charles White and Anthony Davis.

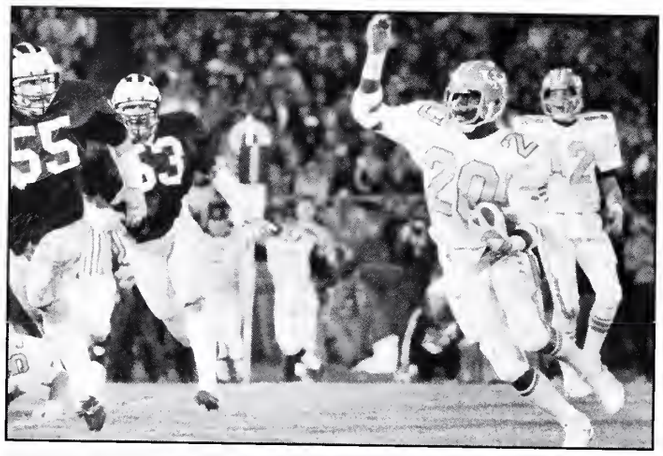
In addition, Carolina's Amos Lawrence had an amazing four 1,000-yard seasons. Lawrence, Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett and New Mexico State's Denvis Manns are the only major college players ever to hit the 1,000-yard mark four times. Lawrence rushed for a career-high 1,211 yards in 1977 as he earned ACC Rookie-of-the-Year honors. Lawrence didn't even play in the first game that year and still managed to run for over 1,200 yards in just 10 games. He was eighth in the nation in rushing and became the first freshman to ever lead the ACC in a major offensive category.

Lawrence, from Norfolk, Va., added 1,043 yards in 1978, 1,019 yards in 1979 and 1,118 yards and a career-high 11 touchdowns in 1980.

McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards in 1970. At that time it broke O.J. Simpson's alltime NCAA single-season yardage record. His 1970 season is one of the finest in ACC history. His 1,720 yards, 19 rushing touchdowns, 10 100-yard rushing games, 2,021 all-purpose yards and 126 points all were single-season ACC records. The first back to earn consensus All-America honors since Charlie Justice, McCauley capped his brilliant career with a memorable game against Duke as he rushed 47 times for 279 yards and five touchdowns in a 59-36 win over the Blue Devils. One local sportswriter wrote of McCauley's final Kenan Stadium effort, "McCauley's performance against Duke was the greatest one-man show since King Kong climbed the Empire State Building."

Another scribe from The Charlotte Observer wrote, "Don McCauley may be the finest football player the Atlantic Coast Conference has ever seen."

McCauley is one of only two Tar Heel 1,000-yard backs from outside the ACC's geographic area. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y. Linton, from



Amos Lawrence is one of only three players in NCAA Division I history to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his four seasons. Lawrence, Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett and New Mexico State's Denvis Manns are the only players to accomplish the feat.

Bryant, Tyrone Anthony, James Betterson, Ethan Horton, Sammy Johnson, Kennard Martin, Means, Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson are all North Carolinians. Lawrence and Voight grew up in Virginia, and Derrick Fenner is from Maryland.

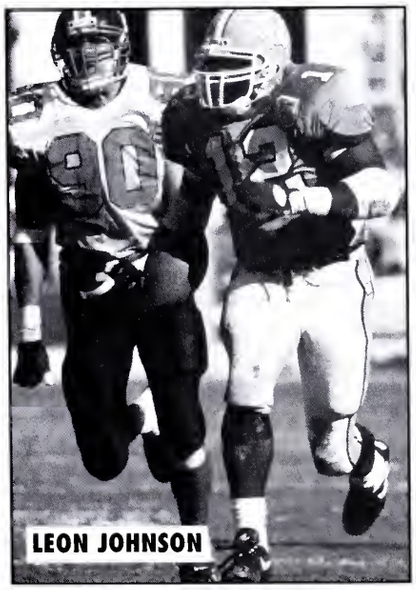
Many of Carolina's 1,000-yard rushers went on to successful careers in the professional ranks. McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records set by Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore. Bryant was the USFL's Player of the Year in that league's first season. He joined the Washington Redskins in 1986.

Means led the Chargers to the Super Bowl in 1994 and was named to the Pro Bowl. He set the single-season rushing record for the Chargers in just his second season when he compiled 1,350 yards in 1994. Means was second in the AFC and fourth in the NFL in rushing yards and he set a Charger record with five consecutive 100-yard games. Means was the offensive spark which led Jacksonville to the AFC Championship Game in 1996 in the franchise's second year of existence.

Horton, Sammy Johnson and Leon Johnson were recruited as quarterbacks. All of the others were high school running backs, although McCauley was more highly regarded as a defensive back.

Fenner set the ACC rushing record in 1986 by gaining 328 yards against Virginia, although that mark was surpassed by Wake Forest's John Leach in 1993 against Maryland. Martin had 291 in 1988 against Duke. Lawrence had 286 against Virginia in 1977 and McCauley gained 279 against Duke in 1970. Then comes Voight's 261 against the Blue Devils in 1976. In 1990, Means rushed for 256 yards in the season finale vs. Duke.

The top two single-season efforts ever in the ACC are McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976. McCauley and Voight are the only Carolina players to be named ACC Player of the Year in two seasons. McCauley was the top ACC player in 1969 and 1970 and Voight earned that award in 1975 and 1976.



LEON JOHNSON

Ethan Horton is the only other UNC player to be named ACC Player of the Year in the same season he rushed for 1,000 yards.

Leon Johnson is the only player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be in the top five in career all-purpose yards, top five in career touchdowns, top five in career scoring, top 10 in career rushing yards and top 10 in career receptions.

He is first in all-purpose yards in league history, second in touchdowns, fourth in scoring, eighth in rushing and tied for 10th in receptions. He scored 50 touchdowns in his career, just one shy of the alltime ACC record held by Ted Brown of N.C. State. He scored 306 points, one of just four players in league history to top the 300-point mark. He and Brown are the only two non-kickers to accomplish that feat.

Jonathan Linton is the most recent Tar Heel in the 1,000-yard club. Linton rushed for 1,004 yards in 1997.

Linton alternated for much of his career between tailback and fullback. He was a reserve behind Leon Johnson for several years, but then became a standout as a senior. Linton became the first player in Carolina history to rush for 100 yards and catch passes for 100 yards in the same game. He rushed for 138 yards and added 137 receiving yards in Carolina's 16-13 win at Georgia Tech. Despite suffering a knee injury days before the Gator Bowl, Linton rushed for 68 yards and caught six passes for 81 yards in UNC's 42-3 win over Virginia Tech.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

The University of North Carolina has played in 23 post-season bowl games, including seven in the last eight years heading into the 2000 season. The Tar Heels are 11-12 alltime in bowl games and were 5-2 in the 1990s.

UNC is second behind Clemson in bowl appearances among schools that were charter members of the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the Tar Heels have the most appearances of any charter school since the league was formed in 1953.

Carolina's bowl history started with three New Year's Day appearances during the late Forties when Charlie Justice was the big star of some of the school's greatest teams. Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched UNC against Georgia.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced to the UNC 14. Carolina argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score and a 20-10 victory.

Justice was sensational running and punting when the Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later, but Oklahoma won the game, 14-6. Justice also played well in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but Carolina lost to Rice, 27-13.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance did not come until 1963, but Ken Willard made the wait worthwhile in sparking a 35-0 win over the Air Force in the Gator Bowl. He ran for 94 yards and scored the opening touchdown to key the runaway victory.

Beginning in 1970 Carolina made 12 bowl trips in 17 years. After dropping a 26-14 decision to Arizona State in the 1970 Peach Bowl, the Tar Heels and Georgia made bowl history in the 1971 Gator Bowl. This is the only time in history brothers have opposed each other as head coaches in a bowl game with Bill Dooley's Tar Heels taking on his brother Vince's Bulldogs. The game was a great defensive struggle with Georgia coming from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in 1972 with a dramatic 32-28 win over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. It was his 62-yard touchdown pass to Ted Leverenz which gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard TD strike with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then sealed the win when tackle Ronnie Robinson dropped Red Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James Betterson each had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Carolina couldn't stop the veer attack of Mississippi State. The two teams combined for 901 yards of offense, but the Bulldogs won, 26-24, when the Tar Heels were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 43 during a last-minute drive.

Kentucky blanked Carolina, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl and the following season the Tar Heels dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, Carolina had a 17-7 lead in the fourth quarter. But, the Cornhuskers rallied behind the play of reserve quarterback Randy Garcia.

Kupec and Amos Lawrence were the biggest stars in Carolina's 17-15 win over Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Lawrence rushed for 118 yards and Kupec hit on 18 of 28 passes.

Lawrence again was the big star in a 16-7 win over Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl. He rushed for 104 yards and had a 59-yard touchdown run. Carolina's other scoring came on a two-yard plunge by Kelvin Bryant and a field goal by Jeff Hayes.

But, the key to this game was a Tar Heel defense which limited the Longhorns to just two first downs and only 36 total yards in the second half. Lawrence Taylor was all over the field making sensational plays, although safety Steve Streater was chosen the game's defensive MVP with an interception, fumble recovery and a 63-yard punt.

In an eerie setting the following year, Carolina defeated Arkansas, 31-27, in the Gator Bowl. The field was shrouded in fog much of the night, making it almost impossible to see the action from the press box. Bryant ran for 148 yards and his backup, Ethan Horton, added 144.

Horton again was the big star in the 1982 Sun Bowl as Carolina came from behind to defeat seventh-ranked Texas, 26-10. Coming off the bench for an injured Bryant, Horton rushed for 119 yards and one touchdown.

The Tar Heel defense was brilliant, making two great goal line stands and shutting down the Texas attack in the second half. Rob Rogers and Brooks Barwick added a pair of field goals despite weather conditions which featured a wind chill factor of 12 degrees and snow throughout the game.

That Sun Bowl game made Carolina the first Atlantic Coast Conference school ever to win four straight bowl games. But, that streak came to an end with a 28-3 loss to Florida State in the 1983 Peach Bowl.

The Tar Heels spotted Arizona a 30-0 lead in the 1986 Aloha Bowl, before putting on a big second-half rally. Torin Dorn finally got Carolina going against a rugged Wildcat defense with an Aloha-record 58-yard touchdown run.

Norris Davis made two big defensive plays, intercepting a pass and blocking a punt. Mark Maye threw to Randy Marriott for a score, but Arizona held on, 30-21.

Following the 1992 season the Tar Heels rallied from a 14-0 halftime deficit behind MVPs Natrone Means (128 yards rushing, one TD) and Bracey Walker (two blocked punts, one forced interception) to beat Mississippi

State, 21-17, in the Peach Bowl.

Walker picked up his second blocked punt and returned it 41 yards for a touchdown to tie the game at 14. Moments later, early in the fourth quarter, Walker broke up a Bulldog pass and Cliff Baskerville intercepted the ball and ran it back 44 yards for the winning score.

The 1993 Tar Heels battled defending national champion Alabama to a 10-10 tie for the first half, but the Tide scored on a pair of 12-play drives of 65 and 66 yards in the second half to record a 24-10 win over Carolina in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

UNC quarterback Jason Stanicek set school bowl game records for pass completions (19) and yardage (235) and Corey Holliday established a Tar Heel postseason record for receptions (nine) and receiving yardage (125).

Carolina lost a heartbreaking, 35-31 decision to Texas in the 1994 Sun Bowl despite record-setting performances from several players. The Tar Heels led the Longhorns, 31-21, early in the final quarter but Texas tailback Priest Holmes scored his third and fourth rushing touchdowns of the game in the final six minutes.

UNC quarterback Mike Thomas completed 23 of 39 passes for 298 yards and two scores, freshman wide receiver Octavus Barnes made nine receptions for 165 yards and wide receiver Marcus Wall added seven catches and returned a fourth quarter punt 82 yards for a touchdown.

Thomas established UNC bowl game records for most pass completions and yards and tied bowl game marks for pass attempts and touchdown throws. Barnes set Sun Bowl and Tar Heel records for catches and yards receiving.

Wall set an ACC bowl game record with 227 all-purpose yards. The 82-yard punt return was the third-longest ever in a bowl game.

Leon Johnson established a Tar Heel bowl game record as he rushed for 195 yards in Carolina's 20-10 win over Arkansas in the 1995 Carquest Bowl. The Razorbacks had won the SEC Western Division title. Johnson rushed for 172 yards in the second half, including a 28-yard touchdown run which gave the Tar Heels the lead for good in the third quarter.

Mike Thomas, starting his third career bowl game, iced the win with an 87-yard scoring pass to freshman L.C. Stevens. The reception was the longest in UNC bowl history and the second-longest in Carolina history. It also tied the mark for the fifth-longest passing play in college football bowl history.

Carolina secured a Top 10 national finish following the 1997 season with a 20-13 win over 25th-ranked West Virginia in the Toyota Gator Bowl. Sophomore quarterback Oscar Davenport made his first collegiate start a memorable one as he earned MVP honors by passing for 175 yards and rushing for a touchdown. Davenport was in the lineup because All-ACC quarterback Chris Keldorf had been injured in the regular-season finale.

Carolina compiled 289 yards of total offense against the Mountainneers, who had led the nation in fewest yards allowed per game. Davenport threw an 18-yard touchdown pass to Octavus Barnes in the first quarter and capped a five-play scoring drive late in the second quarter with a 5-yard scoring run.

Freshman cornerback Dre' Bly, the nation's interception leader, picked off a pair of passes in the second half and safety Greg Williams recovered a fumble to thwart another West Virginia drive, as UNC held on for the victory.

The Tar Heels returned to the Gator Bowl following a brilliant 1997 season and thrashed Virginia Tech, 42-3. Keldorf earned Most Valuable Player honors as he threw for 290 yards and three touchdowns. Barnes caught a pair of touchdown passes (62 and 14 yards), Jonathan Linton rushed for 68 yards and a score and caught six passes for 81 yards despite a knee injury he suffered two days before the game and Bly recovered a blocked punt for a touchdown.

The Tar Heels scored 19 points in a 7:14 span midway through the opening half and were never seriously challenged. Carolina's No. 2 nationally-ranked defense held the Hokies to 185 total yards.

The win secured an 11-win season and placed the Tar Heels No. 4 in the final coaches poll and No. 6 in the final Associated Press poll. Defensive coordinator Carl Torbush was in his first game as Carolina's head coach. The longtime assistant coach had taken over as head coach on December 8 after Mack Brown had resigned.

In 1998, the Tar Heels overcame an 0-3 start to the season and rallied for a berth in the Las Vegas Bowl against San Diego State. Despite blustery conditions and near freezing temperatures, the Tar Heels triumphed, 20-13. Freshman quarterback Ronald Curry was the game's Offensive MVP with a game-high 93 rushing yards. He ended the first quarter with a 48-yard touchdown run.

Early in the second quarter, Quinton Savage blocked a punt that David Bomar recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. Savage also blocked a punt in the 1998 Gator Bowl that Bly scooped up and returned for a score.

Punter Brian Schmitz was another standout in the Las Vegas Bowl. Schmitz averaged 44.0 yards on five punts, including a 66-yard howitzer into the wind late in the first half.

The Aztecs threatened to tie after a UNC turnover deep in its own territory in the final two minutes, but linebacker Keith Newman sealed the victory with an interception at the goalline.

It was the fourth consecutive year the Tar Heels held a bowl opponent to 13 or fewer points.

1947 Sugar Bowl
New Orleans, La.
Georgia 20, Carolina 10
Jan. 1, 1947

The 1947 Sugar Bowl, which matched Carolina against Georgia, is one of the most famous Tar Heel games of the Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice years and produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive right end Joe Terreshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass at the Georgia 24-yard line. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced 52 yards to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score the tying touchdown on a quarterback sneak by Johnny Rauch.

Carolina's lone touchdown came on a Walt Pupa two-yard run following an interception by Tar Heel guard Bob Mitten.

The Tar Heels' last lead at 10-7 came on a Bob Cox field goal.

The Georgia game-winner came on a 67-yard touchdown pass from Trippi to Dan Edwards less than three minutes after the UNC field goal.

1949 Sugar Bowl
New Orleans, La.
Oklahoma 14, Carolina 6
Jan. 1, 1949

The Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl in 1949 and were defeated 14-6 by the University of Oklahoma, representing the Big Seven Conference. A record crowd of 85,000 turned out to see the Charlie Justice-led Tar Heels battle Bud Wilkinson's Sooners.

Carolina threatened early, advancing via a Justice to Art Weiner 23-yard pass play to the OU 15. Justice's next pass, however, was intercepted by linebacker Myrle Greathouse who rumbled 59 yards to the Carolina 13. Sooners' quarterback Jack Mitchell scored the first points of the day on a two-yard run.

The Heels capitalized on an OU fumble later in the first quarter and Justice marched the team down to the two, from where Hosea Rodgers scored. The conversion was wide right.

Carolina advanced to the OU eight late in the first half, but could not score.

The Sooners regained the lead for good in the third quarter. Quarterback Darrell Royal connected for 37 yards with Frankie Anderson and two plays later, Lindell Pearson ran it in from eight yards out.

Justice was brilliant, rushing for 84 yards and passing for another 57.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1950 Cotton Bowl
Dallas, Texas
Rice 27, Carolina 13
Jan. 1, 1950

Charlie Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but it just wasn't enough as the Tar Heels fell to fifth-ranked Rice, 27-13. The Owls had a 9-1-0 record, while Carolina came in at 7-3 and was ranked 16th.

Rice and Carolina played to a scoreless draw in the opening quarter, but Rice opened the scoring in the second quarter when quarterback Tobin Rote hooked up with Billy Burkhalter for a 44-yard touchdown. Bobby Lantrip's three-yard run built a 14-0 halftime lead, and the Owls kept right on rolling i n the third quarter.

On its second possession of the second half, Rice traveled 77 yards in six plays, capped by Rote's 17-yard scoring pass to "Froggie" Williams. Burkhalter made it 27-0 with a 12-yard fourth quarter score.

The Tar Heels got two touchdowns in the final eight minutes. Justice hit Paul Rizzo for a two-yard touchdown pass and then Rizzo ran it in from two yards.

Justice managed 59 yards rushing and another 63 in the air, while Art Weiner led the Tar Heels with five receptions for 41 yards. Billy Hayes topped the UNC rushing attack with 107 yards on 19 carries.

The 1950 Cotton Bowl marked the end of the "Choo-Choo" Justice era that began in 1946. The Tar Heels went 32-9-2 in that time and played in three major bowl games.

1963 Gator Bowl
Jacksaonville, Fla.
Carolina 35, Air Force 0
Dec. 28, 1963

It had been 13 years since Charlie Justice had led Carolina to the 1950 Cotton Bowl, so when the Tar Heels got a chance to play in the 1963 Gator Bowl, they made the most of it. The Tar Heels walloped the Air Force, 35-0.

Ken Willard was the hero of the day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory. When Willard wasn't running in this rout, he did his share of the offensive blocking.

Joe Robinson scored on a five-yard pass and also caught a two-yard conversion to give the Tar Heels a 20-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Jim Hickey's Tar Heels had 23 first downs to the Academy's 14, and piled up 370 yards in total offense compared to 260 for the Falcons.

Gary Black completed all six of his passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and he rushed for another score. Junior Edge was good on five of his nine throws for 42 yards.

Carolina finished the season 9-2, its best record in Hickey's eight years at the helm.

1970 Peach Bowl
Atlanta, Ga.
Arizona State 48, Carolina 26
Dec. 30, 1970

The Tar Heels exploded for 26 second quarter points but couldn't hold off Arizona State in the final two quarters as the Sun Devils rallied for an exciting 48-26 victory before 52,126 fans at Grant Field.

Carolina spotted unbeaten ASU 14 points on a pair of touchdowns runs, from eight and 33 yards, by Bob Thomas.

Don McCauley got the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a one-yard plunge set up by a long pass from Paul Miller to Ricky Lanier. ASU scored on its next series, though, on a 67-yard TD catch by J.D. Hill.

Carolina then scored the final three touchdowns of the first half to go into the intermission with a 26-21 lead. First, Miller passed 37 yards for a score to Tony Blanchard. Then McCauley rushed in from 17 yards out. And finally, the All-America McCauley scored again from four yards.

Arizona State dominated a second half which was played in a heavy Atlanta snowstorm and without Miller, who left with an injury.

Monroe Ely scored twice and Thomas reached the end zone for the third time in the Sun Devils' 27-point second half.

1971 Gator Bowl
Jacksonville, Fla.
Georgia 7, Carolina 3
Dec. 31, 1971

For the first time since 1950, the Tar Heels were playing in a bowl game for the second consecutive season. This time, the Tar Heels would fall, 7-3, to the Georgia Bulldogs.

The game produced a bowl first — brothers coaching against each other. Bill Dooley led the Tar Heels and older brother Vince coached the 'Dawgs.

The game was a defensive struggle with all the points coming in the third quarter.

In the opening half, Carolina had the best chance as linebacker Jimmy Webster, voted the Tar Heels' MVP this day, blocked a punt out of bounds at the Georgia 24. A fumble, though, denied Carolina any points.

A pair of long runs by Lewis Jolley brought the Tar Heels down to the Georgia 16 on UNC's first possession of the second half. But a procedure penalty forced the Heels to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Ken Craven.

A 31-yard pass play from Andy Johnson to Roy Hunnicutt set up the Georgia touchdown. Jimmy Poulos, on the very next play following Hunnicutt's catch, took it in for a score from 25 yards. Poulos rushed for 161 yards on the afternoon and was named the Georgia MVP.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1972 Sun Bowl
El Paso, Texas
Carolina 32, Texas Tech 28
Dec. 30, 1972

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic brought the Tar Heels from behind with a late scoring drive which he capped by tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to wingback Ted Leverenz.

That play, with a minute to go in the game, gave UNC a 30-28 lead. Carolina added two points moments later as Ronnie Robinson sacked quarterback Joe Barnes in the end zone.

The Tar Heels led 9-0 in the second quarter on a field goal by Ellis Alexander and touchdown run by Dick Oliver. The Red Raiders rallied, however, for the next 21 points and a 21-9 lead. Vidnovic hit Leverenz for a 62-yard touchdown and Billy Hite carried it in from three yards to reestablish a 24-21 Carolina lead. Tech gained the advantage, 28-24, with 7:41 to play in the game.

Vidnovic completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Ike Oglesby rushed for 71 yards and Sammy Johnson added 52.

The Red Raiders had a touchdown called back in the second quarter. All-America guard Donald Rives ran a blocked punt back for an apparent score, but Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and the points were nullified.

1974 Sun Bowl
El Paso, Texas
Mississippi State 26, UNC 24
Dec. 28, 1974

Despite mounting 402 yards in total offense, the Tar Heels dropped a 26-24 decision to Mississippi State in a record-setting Sun Bowl.

Terry Vitrano's two-yard touchdown with 3:41 remaining was the game-winner. That capped a 16-play, 80-yard drive which lasted nearly seven minutes.

Carolina had taken a 24-20 lead with 10:26 to play on an Ellis Alexander field goal.

The Bulldogs totaled a Sun Bowl record 499 yards in total offense — 455 of those yards came on the ground via the veer offense. Walter Packer rushed for 189 yards, Vitrano added 164 and quarterback Rockey Felker gained another 69.

The Tar Heels also got big ground gains from Mike Voight and James Betterson. Voight picked up 90 yards on 19 carries and Betterson chipped in with 84 on 17 rushes. But Voight was stopped a yard shy of a first down on Carolina's last offensive play of the game. Chris Kupec, who led the nation in pass completion percentage, connected with Jimmy Jerome for 29 yards and a touchdown.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1976 Peach Bowl
Atlanta, Ga.
Kentucky 21, Carolina 0
Dec. 31, 1976

Playing without an injured Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, the Tar Heels managed just five first downs and 108 yards total offense in a 21-0 loss to Kentucky.

Voight, who had rushed for 1,407 yards, injured his ankle in practice two days before the game when he stepped in a hole going out on a pass play. Ironically, Voight had caught just four passes the entire season.

The teams battled to a tie at the half, but Carolina thought it had put up points in the first quarter. On the Tar Heels' opening drive, Matt Kupec hit split end Walker Lee with a 50-yard touchdown pass, but officials ruled the Tar Heels offside and the play came back.

Early in the third quarter, Kentucky defensive end Bud Diehl knocked the ball from Kupec's grasp and the 'Cats recovered at the UNC 21. That set up the first of three rushing touchdowns by fullback Rod Stewart.

Stewart, who finished with 104 yards and the game's MVP trophy, added fourth quarter scores from 13 and three yards.

Subbing for Voight, freshman Doug Paschal led the Tar Heels with 41 yards rushing.

1977 Liberty Bowl
Memphis, Tenn.
Nebraska 21, Carolina 17
Dec. 19, 1977

Thirteenth-ranked Nebraska scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and rallied for a 21-17 victory over 13th-rated North Carolina.

Reserve quarterback Randy Garcia came off the Cornhuskers' bench in the final period to toss a pair of touchdown passes, including a 33-yard game-winner to Tim Smith with 3:16 left in the game. That came six plays after Nebraska recovered a fumble at the UNC 43.

Tar Heel quarterback Matt Kupec, voted the game's Most Valuable Player despite the loss, had led the Tar Heels to a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Kupec, who connected on seven of his 11 passes, threw touchdown passes to Brooks Williams and Bob Loomis. Tom Biddle added Carolina's final points with 4:17 left in the third on a Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal.

Carolina led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, allowing just 7.4 points per game through the regular season. Nebraska was the only team to score more than 14 points against UNC all season.

Bill Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual position of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech.

1979 Gator Bowl
Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 17, Michigan 15
Dec. 28, 1979

Matt Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown and Amos Lawrence rushed for 118 yards to lead North Carolina to a 17-15 win over Michigan.

Trailing 9-0, the Tar Heels rallied for the next 17 points and then held off a Michigan threat late in the game to post the first of Dick Crum's four consecutive bowl wins.

Carolina had two chances early on to score first, but high winds knocked down a pair of Jeff Hayes field goal attempts. Michigan did score first following a turnover and added a 53-yard touchdown reception by Anthony Carter to move ahead 9-0.

Doug Paschal put the Heels on the board with a two-yard touchdown. Early in the third, Kupec engineered a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive which culminated in a 12-yard pass to Phil Farris. Hayes added a 32-yard field goal in the fourth for a 17-9 UNC lead.

Michigan, thwarted once already in the fourth when Lawrence Taylor scooped up a loose ball, did manage another Carter touchdown with 1:28 left, but the two-point conversion pass to Carter fell short.

Kupec and Lawrence were named co-Most Valuable Players.

1980 Bluebonnet Bowl
Houston, Texas
Carolina 16, Texas 7
Dec. 31, 1980

Amos Lawrence rushed for 104 yards and one touchdown and the Tar Heel defense allowed just two first downs and 36 total yards in the second half as Carolina played error-free football to defeat Texas, 16-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Lawrence, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, scampered 59 yards for a touchdown on the Tar Heels' fourth play from scrimmage for a 7-0 lead. Following a Texas touchdown in the second quarter by Mike Luck, Carolina regained the advantage for good on a one-yard run by Kelvin Bryant.

Jeff Hayes converted a fumbled punt snap by the Longhorns into a 31-yard field goal with 2:03 to play in the third quarter.

The defense, which allowed 224 yards and 11 Texas first downs in the opening half, dominated the second 30 minutes. UNC safety Steve Streater was named the defensive MVP as he had an interception, recovered a fumble and also boomed a 63-yard punt, longest in Bluebonnet Bowl history.

Carolina's 11-1 record matched the best season in UNC history. The Tar Heels finished ranked eighth by the Associated Press and ninth by UPI.

1981 Gator Bowl
Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 31, Arkansas 27
Dec. 28, 1981

Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Ethan Horton added 144 to lead the Tar Heels to a 31-27 victory over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Bryant and Horton shared Most Valuable Player honors, but it was a key defensive stop by seldom-used freshman Ronnie Snipes which saved the night for Carolina.

After building a 31-10 lead midway through the fourth quarter, Carolina watched as Arkansas rallied for two touchdowns and had the ball again inside Tar Heel territory with less than a minute to play. But on third down, Snipes, who had played just two previous downs in the contest, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss.

The game was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half, but Carolina came right out to open the third quarter and put together a 13-play, 85-yard drive which was capped by Horton's one-yard scoring run.

UNC quarterback Rod Elkins scored on a one-yard sneak on the Tar Heels' next drive. He was set up by a 21-yard run by Horton and a 13-yard scamper by Bryant.

Horton then churned out 42 yards on six plays and went in from four yards out to give the Heels a 31-10 lead with 7:29 to play in the game.

The Razorbacks scored with 5:05 to play, recovered an onside kick and scored again with 2:44 left. UNC punter Jeff Hayes took an intentional safety with 1:44 to play. That gave the ball back to Arkansas and set up Snipes' defensive gem.

1982 Sun Bowl
El Paso, Texas
Carolina 26, Texas 10
Dec. 25, 1982

North Carolina scored the final 23 points of the game in the final quarter and held seventh-ranked Texas to 48 total yards in the second half as the Tar Heels became the first ACC team to win four consecutive bowl games.

Ethan Horton was the offensive star of the game, rushing for 119 yards in the second half as Carolina won 26-10. He replaced injured starter Kelvin Bryant, who totaled 45 yards before leaving the game with an injured ankle.

Trailing 10-3 after three quarters, the Tar Heels vaulted into the lead via three consecutive field goals. Sophomore walk-on Rob Rogers, who had connected from 53 yards in the second quarter, hit a 47-yard field goal with 14:51 to play to narrow the Texas lead to 10-6. Brooks Barwick was then successful from 24 and 42 yards, the latter putting the Heels into the lead at 12-10 with 4:56 left.

Horton tacked on a three-yard touchdown with 2:17 remaining and Mike Wilcher fell on a loose ball in the end zone for another touchdown with 1:35 to play.

The defensive series of the game came five minutes into the third quarter with Texas leading 10-3 and with the ball, third-and-goal at the Carolina one. Two times, Texas fullback Ervin Davis tried to find the end zone, but twice he was hurled back. First, it was Wilcher who made the hit and then on 4th-and-goal, Greg Poole made the stop which changed the game.

The Christmas Day affair was played with intermittent snow flurries and a wind-chill reading that hovered around 12 degrees.

1983 Peach Bowl

Dec. 30, 1983

Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and penalties and turnovers cost the Tar Heels dearly, as the Seminoles whipped Carolina 28-3 in a miserably cold and half-empty Peach Bowl.

Played before only 25,648 fans in low-20 degree temperatures, the Peach Bowl loss snapped the Tar Heels' consecutive bowl-game winning streak at four.

The Seminoles held the Tar Heels' running game to just 32 yards and three first downs. One thousand-yard rushers Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony were held to 30 and 27 yards, respectively.

Florida State quarterback Eric Thomas, making his first start, connected with Weegie Thompson on touchdown passes on the 'Noles first two series.

Midway through the second quarter, the Tar Heels fumbled away a punt at their own 16 and FSU converted via a 1-yard touchdown run.

Carolina put up its only points of the day on Brooks Barwick's 36-yard field goal.

The loss was the fourth in the final five games of the season and ended a season in which Carolina had been ranked third in the nation.

1986 Aloha Bowl
Honolulu, Hawaii
Arizona 30, Carolina 21
Dec. 27, 1986

Arizona converted four North Carolina fumbles into 20 points and then held off a furious Tar Heel rally in the fourth quarter to win the 1986 Aloha Bowl, 30-21.

Carolina dug itself a 30-0 hole and did not put points on the board until freshman tailback Torin Dorn broke a 58-yard touchdown run with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

The Tar Heels fumbled five times in the first three periods and the Wildcats turned them into two touchdowns and two field goals.

Following Dorn's electrifying run, the Tar Heels quickly moved back within striking distance with two more touchdowns in the next seven minutes.

Mark Maye hit Randy Marriott with a six-yard touchdown pass after a Norris Davis interception and then followed a Davis punt block with a two-yard scoring run of his own to narrow the margin to 30-21 with 9:10 to play.

That, however, was as close as Carolina could challenge. A couple of dropped passes thwarted two more Carolina drives.

Dorn was the game's leading ground-gainer, rushing for 101 yards on only seven carries. Maye completed 17 of 34 passes for 171 yards; he hooked up with Eric Starr a game-high seven times for 53 yards.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1993 Peach Bowl
Atlanta, Ga.
UNC 21, Miss. State 17
Jan. 2, 1993

Defensive MVP Bracey Walker blocked consecutive third-quarter punts, returning one of them for the tying touchdown, and forced a fourth quarter interception which Cliff Baskerville returned 44 yards for a touchdown to lead Carolina to a 21-17 Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State.

Walker's heroics capped a fierce second-half comeback in which the Tar Heels came from 14 points behind to score three times, although just once on an offensive possession.

MSU took a two-touchdown lead in the first quarter and had two more scores in the second quarter called back due to holding penalties.

Carolina regrouped at halftime, however, and cut the lead to 14-7 just six plays into the third quarter. Mike Thomas connected with Bucky Brooks for a 53-yard completion on the fourth play of the half and Natrone Means scored from a yard out two snaps later.

Means led the Tar Heel offense with 128 yards rushing and was named the game's Offensive MVP.

Later in the third quarter, Walker blocked a punt but Carolina's field goal try was unsuccessful. On the next series UNC again forced the Bulldogs to punt and this time Walker blocked the kick, picked up the loose ball and raced 24 yards untouched for the tying score.

Early in the final quarter Walker forced a midair loose ball with a jarring hit and Baskerville plucked the ball out of the air and sprinted 44 yards down the left sideline for what proved to be the winning score.

Carolina held off two late MSU rallies to hang on to the lead. Linebacker Kerry Mock's interception stopped one threat at the UNC 17 with 2:32 to play and a fourth-down incompletion with just six seconds left halted the Bulldogs at the Carolina 21-yard line.

1993 Gator Bowl
Jacksonville, Fla.
Alabama 24, Carolina 10
Dec. 31, 1993

Quarterback Brian Burgdorf threw for two touchdowns and ran for another to lead 18th-ranked and defending national champion Alabama to a 24-10 victory over 11th-ranked Carolina in Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

Corey Holliday caught nine passes for 125 yards and was UNC's MVP.

After a scoreless first period, Alabama took the lead on a 22-yard field goal by Michael Proctor. Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek then led a seven-play, 80-yard touchdown drive in just 1:36 to take the lead, 7-3, on the ensuing possession. Stanicek hit Holliday with completions of 29 and 22 yards and executed one of his trademark option pitches to freshman tailback Leon Johnson for an 18-yard gain. William Henderson plunged in from a yard out for the lead.

The Crimson Tide went up 10-7 Burgdorf scored from 33 yards out on a quarterback draw.

With 1:44 left before intermission, Stanicek led what would be the final Tar Heel scoring drive. He hit Holliday with passes of 12 and nine yards and Curtis Johnson ran twice for 20 yards before the drive stalled and Tripp Pignetti hit a 23-yard field goal to tie the game at 10.

The Alabama defense was the key to the game, holding UNC to a season-low 42 net yards rushing on 25 carries. Carolina could only muster 40 total yards and four first downs in the second half.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1994 Sun Bowl
El Paso, Texas
Texas 35, Carolina 31
Dec. 30, 1994

Priest Holmes rushed for 161 yards and four touchdowns, including the game-winner with 1:17 to play, to lead Texas to a 35-31 win over the Tar Heels before a Sun Bowl record crowd of 50,612.

Holmes' four-touchdown performance wrestled away MVP honors from UNC quarterback Mike Thomas, who had the finest passing day of his career. Thomas completed 23 of 39 passes for 298 yards and two touchdowns. He set UNC bowl game records for completions and yards and tied the mark with two scoring tosses. He was 15 for 19 in the first half and completed 20 of 29 before a final desperation drive.

Wide receivers Marcus Wall and Octavus Barnes were two more standouts for the Tar Heels. Wall was selected the game's Most Valuable Special Teams Player. He gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 lead in the fourth quarter when he returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown.

Barnes set UNC bowl game records for most catches and yards with nine receptions for 165 yards and one score. The 165 yards were also the most in Sun Bowl history.

With Carolina up, 31-21, Texas quickly went on a 68-yard touchdown drive in only 2:38. On the next series, Texas took over at its own 32 and drove 68 yards in 10 plays for the winning score. Holmes carried the last three plays on the drive for nine, two and finally the five yard touchdown run.

1995 Carquest Bowl
Miami, Fla.
Carolina 20, Arkansas 10
Dec. 30, 1995

Leon Johnson rushed for a Carolina bowl record 195 yards and Mike Thomas threw for two scores as the Tar Hels knocked off Arkansas, 20-10, in the Carquest Bowl.

Johnson's 195-yard effort topped the previous high of 148 yards by Kelvin Bryant, also against Arkansas, in the 1981 Gator Bowl. Johnson had just 23 yards on eight carries in the first half, but exploded for 172 yards in the second half.

All-America tackle Marcus Jones capped his career with four tackles for losses, including a quarterback sack on Arkansas' last play from scrimmage - his final collegiate play.

Trailing by a touchdown the Tar Heels quickly moved into position to tie the game. On third-and-long quarterback Mike Thomas rolled right, threw back across the field to Ashford, who sprinted around the left flank into the end zone.

The Razorbacks managed to take a 10-7 lead in the third quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Latourette. Two series later Carolina went into the lead for good. On third-and-eight from the 28, Thomas ran the option around the right corner, turned upfield and then pitched the ball to Johnson, who was trailing the play perfectly. Johnson ran untouched for a 28-yard, go-ahead score.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1997 Gator Bowl
Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 20, West Virginia 13
Jan. 1, 1997

Oscar Davenport, starting in place of injured first-team all-conference quarterback Chris Keldorf, completed 14 of 26 passes for 175 yards and one touchdown as Carolina defeated West Virginia 20-13 in the 52nd annual Toyota Gator Bowl. Davenport, who also rushed for one touchdown, was named the game's MVP.

Carolina broke the scoring drought early in the second quarter when Davenport found Octavus Barnes in the back corner of the end zone on an 18-yard pass. As time was running down in the first half, Davenport and Leon Johnson led the Tar Heels on a five-play touchdown drive. Johnson caught a pass for 13 yards and rushed twice for 19 yards in the drive. Davenport scored on a 5-yard option keeper for a 17-3 lead.

West Virginia opened the second-half scoring with a 34-yard touchdown pass to close within seven points. A fumble recovery by Greg Williams ended one WVU threat, but West Virginia had one last chance to tie the game late in the fourth quarter. Carolina stopped the Mountaineers on 4th-and-6 at the UNC 24 with just under two minutes remaining.

Dre' Bly, Carolina's consensus first-team All-America, picked off two second-half passes. Carolina's defense forced four West Virginia turnovers; the Mountaineers had 10 in 11 regular-season games.

1998 Gator Bowl
Jacksonville, Fla.
Carolina 42, Virginia Tech 3
Jan. 1, 1998

Chris Keldorf threw for 290 yards and three scores and Carolina's defense and special teams added touchdowns as the Tar Heels pounded Virginia Tech, 42-3, in the Toyota Gator Bowl.

The victory, UNC's most lopsided in a bowl game, secured a No. 4 final ranking in the coaches' poll for the 11-1 Tar Heels. The game was Carl Torbush's first as Carolina's head coach. Torbush, UNC's defensive coordinator the past 10 years, was elevated to head coach on December 8th after Mack Brown accepted the same position at the University of Texas.

Keldorf completed 17 of 28 passes, including touchdown throws of 62 and 14 yards to wide receiver Octavus Barnes and four yards to fullback Jamie Carrick.

Carolina amassed 427 total yards and held the Hokies to just 185 yards. Leading 3-0, Keldorf hit Barnes with a 62-yard bomb down the left sideline for a 10-0 lead. Later in the first quarter, Carolina forced Virginia Tech to punt deep in Hokie territory. Quinton Savage blocked the punt and Dre' Bly scooped it up at the 6-yard line and scored for a 16-0 UNC advantage.

One minute and 10 seconds after Bly's touchdown, Ellis fell on a loose ball in the Tech end zone for another touchdown. Carolina scored 16 first-quarter points in the entire regular season, but scored 16 in the first quarter of the Gator Bowl and six more just seven seconds into the second quarter.

The 42 points were the most in UNC postseason history and the three touchdown passes by Keldorf set a UNC bowl game record. Barnes concluded his career with 16 receptions and four touchdowns in four postseason games.

CAROLINA'S BOWL GAME HISTORY

1998 Las Vegas Bowl
Las Vegas, Nev.
Carolina 20, San Diego St. 13
Dec. 19, 1998

Ronald Curry rushed for a season-high 93 yards and a touchdown, punter Brian Schmitz was outstanding despite windy conditions and the Tar Heel defense did not allow a TD in the last 59 minutes as Carolina defeated San Diego State, 20-13.

Curry, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, gave Carolina the lead for good with a 48-yard touchdown run on the final play of the opening quarter. He rushed for 93 yards on 10 carries and accounted for 96 of Carolina's 196 total offense yards, despite playing just four series.

The game was played winds gusting to 47 miles per hour. Passing was almost impossible. In fact, Carolina won the game despite completing just four passes for 33 yards.

Schmitz averaged 44.0 yards on five punts and pinned the Aztecs inside their own 11-yard line four times. Late in the second quarter, Schmitz unloaded a 66-yard punt into the wind.

San Diego State took an early 7-0 lead in the first minute of the game before the Tar Heels scored 20 unanswered points to close the first half. After two second-half field goals cut it to 20-13, the Aztecs had one final chance to tie the game. With just over a minute left, Dre' Bly broke up a pass in the end zone. On the following play, Brandon Spoon tipped Brian Russell's pass in the air and the ball was intercepted at the goal line by Keith Newman with 59 seconds remaining.

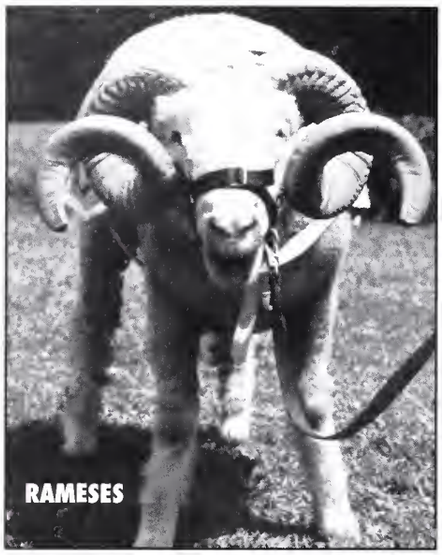
TAR HEEL TRADITIONS



RAMESES

WHY TAR HEELS?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the Civil War. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

RAM MASCOT

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's nickname.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

SCHOOL COLORS

The adoption of light blue and white as UNC's colors dates back to the 19th Century. When the University reopened following the Civil War, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white.

On public occasions the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body.

So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a University student body.

CAROLINA FIGHT SONGS

HERE COMES CAROLINA
Here comes Carolina-lina
Here comes Carolina-lina
We hail from NCU.
We've got the spirit in it
We've got the team to win it
We wear the colors White and Blue –
So it's Fight! Fight! for Carolina
As Davie did in days of old.
As we gather 'round the 'Well
Cheer that Tar Heel team like hell –
For the glory of NCU.

CAROLINA VICTORY MARCH
There'll be a Carolina victory,
When cross that field the foe has fled.
Cheer that team to victory,
For we are Tar Heels born and bred.
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Glory, glory, UNC.
Our hearts will live with thee
Fight! Fight! Fight!
For the Blue & White are rolling to victory.

ALMA MATER
Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true,
Singing Carolina's praises, Shouting "NCU."
(chorus)
Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine
Carolina, priceless gem,
Receive all praises thine.
(refrain)
For I'm a Tar Heel born
I'm a Tar Heel bred,
And when I die I'm a Tar Heel dead.
So it's – Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina
Rah, Rah, Carolina!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
